WHEAT HARVESTING GOES ON ABOUT HERE.

Building Purchased and Will Be Remodeled for Store—Nine Head of Cattle Killed by Train Near Foster—Committee Pleased With Results of Celebration at Echo.

Echo, July 11.—Harvesting the wheat crop is now under way in this vicinity, and thousands of acres will yield better in the Echo country than was at first anticipated. There are many 25 and 30-bushel yields. C. E. Cameron is threshing on his big Prospect ranch, and he expects good results. Considerable barley has already been harvested. In some localities both wheat and barley are short about here, though not as much as was expected.

Percy Ripper, who has been laid up since thrown from a horse at Hermiston several weeks ago, is improved, and will be able to be out in a short time.

Stanfield Brothers and several others in this vicinity, purchased liberally of the thornless cactus and they will try raising it in this section next season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Koontz, the well known pioneers have been spending a few days with relatives at the county seat.

A number of the people from here are going to Portland or to the coast for a few weeks outing.

The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration are well satisfied with the results, and it was evident that every one was satisfied with the celebration. It was a very creditable affair.

Secretary of the Interior Garfield was welcomed to Echo yesterday by a number of the citizens who greeted him after his trip over the project. He took No. 8 here for Pendleton.

Hoskins & Conner have just purchased the Spike & Oliver building on Main street and they will remodel the same for a store. The consideration was $1300.

Cattle Killed.
R. N. Stanfield had nine head of fine cattle killed a few evenings ago at Fosters by a freight train. Some were instantly killed, while a few others were so badly injured it was necessary to have them killed. It is understood the railroad company will settle with Mr. Stanfield for the loss.

DIRECTOIRE GOWN HITS SALT LAKE

Bush Livermore, editor of the Pocatello Tribune, describes the appearance of the directrice gown in Salt Lake City, as follows:

Salt Lake had its measure of prominence in sending its high school cadets to San Francisco to act as the special bodyguard of Admiral "Fighting Bob" Evans, but at that it has apparently been left to the wife of a former well known resident of Pocatello to give the inhabitants of Zion the real thrill of the year.

In a nutshell—Mrs. "Dick" Jones, on a wave of prosperity has indulged in the latest of the Parisian fashion decrees—a Directoire gown. She liked it and took a chance. The chance meant wearing it in public, and so clad in that mazy, hazy, dreamy creation which is composed of a clinging, sheath gown, slit from the hem to above the knee, revealing the slyph-like—well something in green tights—she entered a restaurant. Even the waiters, they say, stood aghast.

Inasmuch as "Dick" is well known in Pocatello, the real account of the incident, as recounted in the Salt Lake Herald, is worth repeating. The story follows:

The Directoire gown has struck Salt Lake. Its first appearance was something of a disaster, but it will appear again this afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock at the corner of Second South and Main streets, and its wearer has requested all that wish to see the latest Parisian creation be on the corner at that time.

A little game of roulette between Dick Jones, the well-known Rhyolite saloon man and gambler, and John City, a mining man, in Rhyolite, a few weeks ago, led to the appearance of the Directoire gown in Salt Lake. In the little game, Dick Jones won $50,000. With the proceeds Dick and his bride, formerly Miss Jewel Vonn, especially well known in Nevada, made a tour of the east, doing Chicago and New York principally.

At Chicago Mrs. Jones bought the Directoire gown, which she saved to startle Salt Lake. It is a Parisian importation, "standing you," as Mrs. Jones puts it, over $700.

The gown consists of a gray hat with green willow plumes, steel bead embroidery, and steel bead butterfly pins, a gray jacket with tails trimmed in green and steel buttons, a gray skirt with four steel buttons on the left side and slashed on that side from a few inches above the knee to the ground, exposing a pair of green silk tights with buttons of steel, giving a legging effect, and gray low shoes. The hat cost $78, the plumes $40, the hatpins $200, the jacket and skirt $200, the tights $60 and the shoes $7.

Thus apparelled, Mrs. Jones, accompanied by Miss Birdie Richards of Chicago and a Salt Lake woman, left her hotel, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jones, and proceeded to create a sensation. Mrs. Jones said that when she went to the Louvre restaurant she feared that she might be put out of the cafe. She was.

Eugene, Wille, manager of the Louvre, looked once at the dashing figure in the doorway. He turned to his wife. There was no way out of it. His duty was clear. The figure in the doorway advanced. A hundred (more or less) male heads craned. As the woman in the ravishing costume went to a seat at the table, the proprietor of the restaurant asked her to leave the place.

Mrs. Jones bowed to the inevitable, but not before she had informed Mr. Wille that he knew little or nothing concerning fashions and Parisian styles and other things.

The Remedy That Does.
"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise, but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Pierson, of Auburn Center, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieve only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at Tallman & Co.'s drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

FRUIT INSPECTORS ROASTED.
Pacific Coast Nurserymen Criticize County Officials.

County horticultural inspectors were dragged forth this morning before the Pacific Coast Association of Nurserymen, now in sixth annual session here, and were held up to ridicule for their lack of qualification for the work they are supposed to do and for the manner in which they do it, says the Yakima Republic.

One California specimen was pictured who had compelled a nurseryman to spray a beetle, mounted as a stick pin and worn in his necktie. The beetle was a Brazilian specimen, was never found in California alive, and was not known to injure fruit, but its wearer, his whiskers, shirt front and all were treated because the wooden headed" inspector, a sample of the general run, didn't know any better way of performing his duty. The inspector was thus held up to view by Charles A. Chambers of Fresno, Calif., in a paper entitled, "Humorous and Serious Sides of Quarantine Regulations," and which paper was read by Secretary C. A. Tomneron of Tacoma, in the absence of the author.

A Revelation.
It is a revelation to people, the severe cases of lung trouble that have been cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. It not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs. L. H. Ruggles, Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet." Pendleton Drug Co.

TEACHER LOSES HOMESTEAD.
Young Teacher of Scuttle Falls to Get Horse Heaven Claim.

The sad duty fell to Register Coleman and Receiver Steinman of the United States land office yesterday of taking away from one Joanna Wyatt, a young and attractive school teacher of Seattle, a homestead in the Horse Heaven country, says the Yakima Republic. But there was no choice; the law of the case was clear and the young woman loses her land and her improvements.

Strange as it may seem to those who are more or less familiar with the land laws of the country, there are quite a number of people who make entry on public lands without apparently any understanding of the laws under which these lands may be held.

Miss Wyatt evidently is a member of this class. She filed upon the homestead in section 18-7-26 some time ago and instead of making any proper residence thereon, continued to pursue her avocation of school teaching in Seattle and now loses her right.

For Protection Against Reporters.
President G. Stanley Hall of Clarke University, Worcester, Mass., has a plan whereby college professors will be able to protect themselves from newspaper reporters. "I am heartily in favor of and, with other college professors, I am now working on a plan for an association the sole object of which will be to protect us by a boycott if necessary against offending newspapers and newspaper men," he said in his address to the college last week.
