NEW IDAHO ROAD

NORTHERN PACIFIC TO CONNECT WITH P. & I. N.

Extension of Line Southward Will Give Idaho People a Shorter Route Through the State—Line Will Be Built to Meadows and Thus Close the Idaho Gap.

The Boise Capital News says of the extension of the Northern Pacific railroad from Grangeville to Meadows, Idaho, to connect with the P. & I. N.:

Direct communication with the northern part of the state, the opening of another inland empire with Boise as the metropolis and a saving of several hundred miles in travel in order to reach northern Idaho, are a few of the great advantages to be realized in the course of a year with the completion of the Northern Pacific extension from Grangeville to Meadows, and of the P. & I. N. extension from Evergreen to Meadows.

Work is in progress on the Northern Pacific extension, a force of 500 teams and scrapers and about 600 men being placed at work about two weeks ago near White Bird on the Salmon valley on the right-of-way from Grangeville to Meadows. It is not anticipated that the road will be completed this fall, but it is stated that the grading will be done and all preparation made for operating the line next year, the P. & I. N. extension will be made to connect with the Northern Pacific at Meadows.

With the construction of the road completed through the rich Salmon river valley, an extension of the P. & I. N. will probably be made down Long Valley along the Payette lakes to Emmett.

This latter extension is proposed, which the Northern Pacific extension it is reliably reported, will be completed by next year and direct communication by rail opened and established between these two widely separated parts of the state has been maintained only by going through the adjoining states to the west and thus traveling about three times as far by rail in an indirect and tiresome journey.

Large numbers of men and teams with graders have been flowing into the Salmon river country for the past two weeks to take up work on the grade for the Northern Pacific extension.

The contractor having charge of the grading force, has secured pasture for 1900 head of horses while construction camps have been cheated along the right-of-way of the proposed road, for board and sheltering a force of about 600 men that is employed grading for the right-of-way.

PASTOR GOES EAST.

Rain Cooled Atmosphere in This Section Considerably.

Weston, July 15.—Rev. P. S. Rogers of the Baptist church at this place left yesterday for Pachuts, Miss., to attend an association which convenes there. It is his old home, and he will doubtless enjoy the trip there very much.

Mrs. L. S. Wood is visiting with relatives in Pendleton for several days.

The rain which fell Monday cooled the air considerably. Before that the weather was almost beyond endurance, especially for those who were at work in the grain fields.

FIRE ON AMERICAN FLAG.

Rebels in Peru Kill North Yakima Boy's Chum.

North Yakima, Wash., July 15.—William McCully, son of J. A. McCully, writes from Cerro de Pasco, Peru, where he has been engaged in railroad work, that during the revolutionary fighting his roommate was killed and the American flag fired upon by the rebels.

It appears that the rebels were approaching the town and making good progress until they reached a point 100 miles from the city, where they required a new locomotive. The trainmen ran the engines into Cerro de Pasco and when the revolutionists cut the wires O. B. Chaleen, an American and superintendent of telegraphs, took an engine with a big American flag mounted on the pilot, and started out to make repairs.

The locomotive ran into an ambush of the rebels and Chaleen was killed. The foreigners in Cerro were caught between the lines of the government and revolutionary forces and took refuge in the state building of the telegraph company. This was riddled with bullets, but the foreigners escaped serious injury and the rebels were defeated in short order and driven from the city.

PANIC SEIZES HORSE HERD.

Loaded on Boat, Kick and Kill Many in Band.

Vancouver, B. C., July 15.—The steamer Henriette, owned by Mackenzie Brothers of Vancouver, was run on a sandbar lying between Protection and Newcastle islands, at the entrance to Nanaimo harbor, at 2 o'clock yesterday and panic seizing 50 horses, which were tethered on her forward deck, the animals were in a moment turned into a fighting, kicking and snorting mass, with the result that many were killed and others fatally injured. It was impossible for the crew to venture among the beasts for a long time, owing to the fury with which they were kicking.

All the animals were crowded over on the port side and inside of 15 minutes many of the most valuable were either dead or in such shape that they had to be shot at daylight. Out of the 50 head on board, not more than 20 are now in fit condition to be forwarded to Prince Rupert, their destination.

EXAMINATION FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIP IN THE FALL

University of Oregon, Eugene, July 15.—The examination for the Rhodes scholarship will hereafter be held in the autumn instead of in January, as heretofore. The change has been made for the reason that the new date will allow the successful candidate much more time to select and arrange for the college he wishes to enter at Oxford. Unless selections are made quite early, candidates are often compelled to accept second choice of colleges. The next Rhodes examination will be held in the fall of 1909, probably at the University of Oregon. Oregon will have two scholars at Oxford next year, Mr. Edward Winans of Willamette University, who was appointed in 1907, and Mr. Wister Johnson of the University of Oregon, appointed this year.

Senator Platt Is 75.

New York, July 15.—Thomas Collier Platt, United States senator from New York, is today 75 years of age. Little attention was paid to the aged solon by the present-day leaders of the party of which Platt was once one of the national leaders. Although stripped of much political power and harassed by domestic entanglements, the senator is far from being the broken old man that he is sometimes described to be. While the weight of years rests somewhat heavily on his physical frame, his mind is still clear and active.

"TIMBER WOLVES" GET MANY EASY VICTIMS

Dozen Buyers Complain of Smooth Bunco Game.

Portland, July 15.—More than a dozen disconsolate, disgusted and victimized would be timber-land buyers cluttered the lobby outside the office of United States John McCourt Saturday morning. Each one had been buncoed for not less than $200 and two were stung to the tune of $400.

Back of their appearance is the well-worn story of flimflammed people who desired to acquire some of Oregon's heavily timbered acres in the Willamette valley. It is not the first time the authorities have heard the tale, and may not be the last, but McCourt and Assistant United States District Attorney Walter E. Evans are now starting the machinery of the government in motion to see if the swindlers cannot be brought to justice. J. C. Burke and O. M. Stafford are to be hailed before the United States commissioner to find what they know about making false affidavits on timber claims.

According to Mr. McCourt the victims were taken to a fine quarter section of timber, told this was the quarter section they were being located on, and then were given a quarter section many miles away to file on. By questioning several victims, Mr. Evans discovered that several were shown the same fine-looking body of timber and then located on a burn. In one or two instances, the monument had been tampered with, so that when the timber buyer was shown the monument and witness trees, they agreed with those recorded. It is a serious matter to change the markings on the monuments, but it is difficult to obtain evidence, as a man who alters the markings is not likely to do so when there are eye-witnesses.

Within the past two months over 40 people have called on the United States district attorney to complain. They came from Portland, Salem, Albany, Roseburg, Eugene and elsewhere. Widows and girls have been snared as well as men, who are supposed to be sophisticated. So extensive has the swindling been that the government is now determined to stop it and punish the offenders, if possible.

MODEL VILLAGE.

Montreat, North Carolina, Presented to Presbyterian Church.

Asheville, N. C., July 15.—Montreat, the model village at Black Mountain, about 25 miles from this city, which was recently transferred to the Presbyterian synod, will be formally dedicated today. Several distinguished clergymen and educators will take part in the ceremonies.

Montreat was established by John Wanamaker, John S. Hayler and other wealthy men some years ago for a religious assembly and retreat. The Presbyterian synod as the new owner, will continue the work on a more extensive scale and make Montreat the home of the Presbyterian Sunday school convention, missionary conferences and other church meetings. A large auditorium, to be erected, will be a memorial to John Calvin.

Daring Young Robber.

With a handkerchief tied so as to cover the lower part of his face and armed with a gun, a lone highwayman, whose age is variously estimated at from 16 to 20, held up Frank Reynolds and two other ranchers of the Selah, named Moberly and Moser, at 10 o'clock Thursday night, and secured $5 from the pockets of his victims.

The holdup, which was of a daring character, occurred on the Selah road at Dimmick's hopyard. The three men were riding in a buggy on their way home from the city when suddenly the highwayman jumped from behind a tree beside the road and, covering the three men with his gun, demanded that they hold and deliver up their money or their lives.—Yakima Republic.

HOOD RIVER COUNTY

AREA OF NEW COUNTY 500 SQUARE MILES

Assessed Valuation of the County is $2,762,259, Making It the Richest County, Per Capita, in the State—Population Is About 7500—Over 40,000 Acres of Vacant Fruit Land.

The new Hood River county which has just been created by virtue of the untiring efforts of the people of Hood River, although the smallest county in the state, is one of the wealthiest.

Its assessed valuation for the year 1907 was $2,762,259, although its total area is but 500 square miles. Wasco county, from which county the new Hood River county has been cut, contains three times the territory and less than half the assessed valuation of property. The population of the new county is about 7500, while that of Wasco county will be nearer 12,000.

The largest town in the new county is, of course, Hood River. Cascade Locks ranks second, while Mount Hood and Dee, in the Upper Hood River valley, and Wyeth and Viento, on the O. R. & N. are the smaller towns situated therein.

A new $30,000 high school is now in course of construction at Hood River, while there are 20 other school-houses in the county.

The amount of business given the railroad line by Hood River ranks third, Portland and Spokane ranking first and second.

The eastern boundary of Hood river county commences at a point about four miles east of the city of Hood River and two and a half miles west of Mosier, at the mouth of Rock creek, about 18 miles west of The Dalles.

It extends in a southerly direction for 13 miles, then west for two miles and then continues south for 18 miles to a point six miles south and 12 miles east of Mount Hood, and is 31 miles long. The southern boundary is 12 miles long, extending to the summit, where it joins Clackamas county.

The western boundary is the summit of the Cascade mountains and extends in a northwesterly direction for 30 miles along the boundaries of Clackamas and Multnomah counties to a point on the Columbia river about four miles below Cascade Locks. The distance from its western to its eastern line along the Columbia River, which forms the northern boundary, is 25 miles.

In Hood River valley alone it is estimated that there are still 40,000 acres of fruit land uncultivated and enough standing timber to supply the big mills now in operation for 20 years.

CHARLES PIERCE RETURNS.

With Family Will Spend Summer in Blue Mountains.

Charles Pierce, brother of Walter Pierce, and a former resident of this city, passed through Pendleton yesterday with his family on his way to Weston mountain, where he will camp during the next two months.

The following is taken from the Los Angeles Times: That a man should be happy leaving Los Angeles seems a paradox, yet C. M. Pierce, originator of the Balloon route trips, is that man. He was busy yesterday closing up his affairs preparatory to leaving this morning for a four-months' vacation which will be shared by his wife and two little girls.

"I have found the true secret of happiness," said Mr. Pierce as he looked out under the peak of his balloon cap. "With southern California, the seat of a mighty empire that is to be, and Los Angeles to have a million people in 10 years"—he paused for breath—"and Balloon Routes in every city of any size in the country, and myself and the family going on a long outing, why shouldn't I be happy?"

Mr. Pierce, who started the Balloon Route here four years ago, now finds that he may extend the tourist trip scheme in many other places, particularly tourist points and this is what he will devote his entire attention to when his four months' vacation ends. When he began here four years ago he hesitated a long time before he hired one man to assist him at $2 a day.

"My present plans will require the services of nearly one thousand men where I expect to establish trips," said he.

He would have gone on the outing June 1, but did not want the Fourth trip of the orphans over the route to be held without him. The vacation will be spent at a mountain camp in northeastern Oregon, 20 miles from Walla Walla, Wash. After the camp breaks he will visit the principal cities of the country, returning by way of Florida and the south. During their absence, the family will visit his mother, sister and brothers of Mr. Pierce, who live in Oregon.
