"30" FOR WHITNEY.

Well Known Newspaper Man Turns in Final "Copy."

A special to the Telegram from Salt Lake says:

Race Whitney, aged 28 years, died this morning at the Latter Day Saints' hospital, of neuritis. He was a son of Apostle Orson F. Whitney, poet of the Mormon church, and was a nephew of Senator Reed Smoot. Identified with Salt Lake papers for four years, he went to Portland about four years ago. Later he went to San Francisco, where he collaborated with Waldemar Young on an opera, "The King Maker," now being presented at the Princess theater in San Francisco. He was taken sick in Los Angeles, and his father brought him home six weeks ago, since which time he gradually sank. He was one of the most widely known and popular members of the journalistic set here. He was twice married to Rosemary Glose, who is now taking the title role in "The Merry Widow" in New York.

Race Whitney came to Portland from Salt Lake city in 1905 and for about a year was employed on the Journal as dramatic and general writer, at the expiration of that period leaving for San Francisco. As his subject moved him his "copy" was marked by wit, humor, pathos, irony or satire, and was always breezy and interesting. He "covered" the Lewis and Clark fair for the Journal in a most creditable manner. His wife sang in a number of concerts in Portland and appeared several times in orchestral productions during the fair. Before coming to Portland Whitney divided his time between newspaper and theatrical work. He handled all the press work for Pain's fireworks at Manhattan Beach, New York, and acted as advance agent for several theatrical companies, among them being the "Foxy Quiller" company. He re-entered theatrical work on going from Portland to San Francisco.

SOLDIERS ON LONG MARCH.

Two Battalions of Third Infantry Take Road from Yakima to American Lake.

The first and third battalions of the Third Infantry, U. S. A., commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Lea Febiger, with Majors Edward H. Plummer and Maury Edwards in command of the battalions, arrived here on special train from Fort Wright at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and started on the long hike to Camp Stanley at American lake shortly after 9 o'clock, says the Yakima Republic. The battalions consisted of seven companies of infantry with hospital detachment, baggage wagons and a fife and drum band.

The soldiers remained in their cars just south of the depot until 5:30 o'clock when they detrained, had breakfast and made preparations for the march, unloading the wagons and impedimenta from flat cars upon which they were loaded. The boys appeared to be in fine condition, but there is no doubt that the hike will prove hard work this hot weather.

They set out, headed by the band, shortly after 9 o'clock, in light marching order, followed by the hospital corps and the wagons, taking the route along Front street to Fourth and over the Selah bridge. They will follow the old road via the Umatanum hills and the line generally of the Milwaukee road. They will cross the mountains by the Snoqualmie pass and are expected to reach Camp Stanley, a few miles from Tacoma, before the end of the month. Only the field officers were mounted.

The national guard, including company E, of this city, will go to the instruction camp August 2.

Pavement for Kennewick.

To pave, park and otherwise improve Second street from Pacific to the Northern Pacific Irrigation canal is the purpose of a petition being circulated by the property owners along the proposed route of improvement. The petition will be presented to the city council at the next meeting and it is the intention to have work begin on the street early this fall or as soon as harvest is over.

The proposition for some paved streets in Kennewick has been under consideration for some time and it is the intention to attempt the improvement on Second street as soon as possible. It has not been determined what kind of pavement to use, some advocating asphalt, while others are in hopes the Columbia River Clay company of this city will be turning out suitable paving brick by the time it is wanted.

LA GRANDE TEAM DISBANDS.

Players Sign Up With Various Big League Teams.

An item from La Grande says of the disbanding of the ball team of that city:

The Inland Empire league is no more. Not even the Baker City and La Grande players are kept. Of the La Grande boys nearly all are signed by other managers. Captain Loddell goes to Vancouver club of the Tri-City league, and Kotteman joins the Frakes. Fuchel and Childers have signed up with Wallace, Idaho. Fuchel is a good southpaw and Childers is a crack third baseman. Zimmerman, who plays center and can pitch on occasion, has gone to Wardner, Idaho.

Fournier, who is probably the best catcher ever playing in La Grande, has been ill and will probably be unable to play any more this season. His home is in Aberdeen. Van Horst, second, returns to his home in St. Louis.

PENDLETON IS BEST OF ALL.

Nothing can be accomplished by dividing up and pulling apart. The city has excellent resources and has some of the best opportunities right now that she has ever enjoyed and it remains to be seen if the same splendid Pendleton spirit which has done so much in the past, will not now keep the city going at the head of the list of northwest cities.

Tax Question Is Important.

Pendleton Commercial association should go on record, in some way, on the state tax question. The tax question is now before the people of the state and Umatilla county is one of the counties most vitally interested, and Pendleton Commercial association should get the county court, property holders, business men and every citizen interested, together, for a thorough discussion of the tax question and go on record emphatically, in some way.

Pendleton is interested and Umatilla county is interested and there seems a need right now of some expression from this city while the tax matter is being tried out in the courts.

Good Rains in Eastern Oregon.

Good rains have fallen all over Union, Baker and Wallowa counties during the past 24 hours and crops in those counties are now in excellent condition and a good yield of every kind of crop is assured. Harvesting had not been started anywhere in those counties and both crops and ranges were greatly benefited.

Attachment Suits.

Two small attachment suits were filed in the circuit court today. R. Alexander, through attorneys Raley, Richards & Raley, sues for judgment for $82.97 against J. S. Mason, and J. P. Medernach sues William Springer for $24.70. J. H. Lawrey is attorney for Medernach.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued here today to William Mickelson and Miss Zena Z. Purdy.

Suicide Leaves Family.

Paul Tiernan, a well known citizen of South Bellingham, Wash., committed suicide Saturday at his home, corner of Fourth and Julia streets, by drinking carbolic acid. Tiernan was a laborer, but for the past few days had been despondent and melancholy and had refused to follow any of his former vocations. His widow and five children, the oldest a son of 19 years, survive him.

Forest Fires at Hood River.

For several days the atmosphere here has been very hazy, and the odor of burning pine has been noticed, says The Dalles Chronicle. This was caused by a forest fire below Hood River which was started Friday evening a short distance from that city. The fire threatened for a time to destroy the home and orchard of Murray Kay, and also the power house of the Hood River Electric Light company. It is said that a large force of men worked faithfully for several hours before the fire was gotten under control. It is hoped no further damage will occur from the fire, and it is probable the rain yesterday put out all smouldering embers. At this time of year it does not require much to cause a devastating forest fire, when everything is so dry.
