AMUSEMENTS

Dime Pleases.

The pictures that have been on at the New Dime since Tuesday have been especially attractive, a number of entirely new features being shown. The illustrated song was also new. There will be another change tomorrow, which will continue until Sunday. The old Dime will be opened again Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Rip Van Winkle.

The Show Shop has been showing a number of excellent pictures since Tuesday, the story of "Rip Van Winkle" being a special feature. The "Disturbed Romance" was another attractive picture. This program will continue until tomorrow when there will be another change.

New Machine at Pastime.

The Pastime was opened again yesterday with a new set of pictures. A new fire-proof machine has been installed, and all is in excellent working order again. There are several attractive pictures, among them being "Red Scepter," "Hotel Trouble," "Nobleman's Right in the 14th Century," and that beautiful illustrated song, "Southern Girl."

OLD MINE WORKS AGAIN.

Pendleton Man Bonds Gold Hill and Will Dive in Its Depths.

Another of the real old time mines with which romance is associated, the Gold Hill, in Granite section, is again being operated after years of idleness, says the Granite Gem.

The property is among the oldest of that section and was worked in the early days of the camp with success, the ores being rich enough to permit of the long haul overland to Umatilla Landing, reshipment to smelters and still yield a nice profit.

The three claims in the group are patented and were this week leased by Norman T. Berkeley, who placed a force at work.

Former development was mostly confined to surface "glory holes" and the only real underground development was Tunnel 1. After gouging rich shipments along the entire length of the ore body, the old operators dropped down the mountain some 200 feet and drove a crosscut to the vein. Where cut it showed eight to 10 inches of phenomenally rich silver ore and old timers state the event was celebrated with a week's solid hilarious celebration. Then came hard work and drifting to the east progressed with flattering success for quite a distance when the ore shoot was lost. This, with a steady decline in the price of silver, resulted in a cessation of operations. A few years later the group was bonded, these operators sank a winze from the tunnel level and began prospecting. In a short while they recovered the ore body and started a crosscut tunnel 150 feet lower down the hill. They ran exactly 83 feet when the funds became exhausted and the mine has remained inactive since.

During the past summer Mr. Berkeley and Leon C. Stevenson, the well known mining engineer, thoroughly examined all the surface workings still open and were surprised to find from six inches to two feet of shipping grade ore in them. Diligent search brought forth facts of former operations and information regarding the prospecting from winzes by the last operators and Mr. Berkeley immediately secured a bond on the properties.

Surveys by Mr. Stevenson showed a continuation of crosscut 2 will reach the vein in approximately 100 feet and a contract has been let. It is believed the vein will be reached in about six weeks and if values continue as above Mr. Berkeley will have secured another "bread winner" through his intuition and unbounded confidence in the section.

Eighty-six Pardons.

The State Board of Pardons last evening brought to a close its quarterly session, which has been in progress at the administration building at the State Prison since last Friday says the Walla Walla Bulletin. Compared with previous meetings of the board the session just closed was one of the busiest ever held. As the fruits of its labor 86 recommendations were made out to be forwarded to Governor Mead. In this list are recommendations for 25 paroles, 16 final discharges from the penitentiary. One hundred and thirty applications were acted on.

Baker Team Disbands.

Owing to the fact that Boise baseball team could not come to the city for a series of games beginning tomorrow the Nuggets were disbanded last night and baseball for the remainder of the present season is a thing of the past says the Baker City Herald. Much grief is expressed among the fans for just when Baker had a good ball team the other clubs with La Grande as the principal actor, quit the Inland Empire League. Boise might have been able to have come next week but the matter of salaries and no games was more than could be stood without the gate receipts. Already there is talk of baseball next season and probably a league will be formed with six towns including some Idaho towns. Several of the players express their desire of staying in Baker while others will probably play with some other club the remainder of the season.

President Campbell Going East.

President Campbell will go East immediately after the meeting of the regents, and will secure the services of a number of additional instructors who will be on hand when college opens in September. He will also visit a number of big institutions in the east and middle west.

The registrar's office is flooded with applications for catalogues from prospective students and it is certain that there will be an enrollment of not less than 550 during the year.
