WENAHA IDEAL
SUMMER RESORT

LEON COHEN PRAISES
FAMOUS SPRINGS.
Everything in First Class Condition From Minute Station Is Left—Meals and Service Delight to Most Fastidious—Plunge in Pool Refreshing.

Coming home from the cool resort at Wenaha springs today, Leon Cohen is filled with praise of that place as it is now conducted by J. A. Borie, and in telling of the joys to be had there said:

"I want everyone to know what a pleasant place Wenaha springs are since the changes have been completed. I feel it would be wronging the Pendleton people who have not been there this season, not to let them learn what a delightful pleasure resort it has become.

To begin with the road from the station to the hotel is better than it ever has been, a fact which you may judge when you know that an automobile with a full load ran down from the hotel in 35 minutes.

The wagons are all in good condition with careful drivers and a full complement of safe horses. Every room in the two buildings and cottages has been gone over and thoroughly renovated, a fine large bridge leading over to the pool has been finished, a shower bath installed and additional benches provided for the gallery who come to see the bathers disport themselves, while ample provision has been made for those who prefer a bath in a tub to the pool.

"We can live without poetry, music and art.
We can live without conscience and live without heart.
We may live without friends, we may live without books, But civilized minds cannot live without cooks."

So for the man who thinks much

STORM BREAKS IN COUNCIL MEETING

MERCHANTS' ORDINANCE HAS ROUGH PASSAGE.

Councilman Knight Introduces Measure to Protect Merchants—Montgomery Declares It Would Leave Citizens at Mercy of Business Men —Mayor Murphy Prevents Serious Clash by Postponement—Street Sprinkler Jolted.

Last night's council meeting was charged with a certain amount of excitement and while no storm broke, yet there were occasional flashes that show the aldermanic skies are not entirely blue.

At the instance of Councilman Knight an ordinance regarding new mercantile establishments was introduced. It provides a prohibitive license for those who would come here to close out bankrupt stocks or otherwise engage in business temporarily.
Furthermore, the ordinance provides that anyone wishing to go into business permanently in this city in the future must first give a $1500 bond to guarantee that he will continue in business for at least three months.

Montgomery Takes Exceptions.
No sooner had the proposed ordinance been read than Councilman Montgomery landed on it with both feet. He declared he opposed the measure because it was not for the good of the people of the city but instead for a few business men. It was alright for those now in business here, but it was intended to cut out future competition and for that reason should not be passed. He held that only by allowing the freest competition could the people of the city get the right prices on merchandise.

After a little further sparring between Messrs. Montgomery and Knight Mayor Murphy relieved the situation by declaring that the ordinance would be held for a more complete council. At the time there were but five men present and though Councilman Strain arrived shortly afterwards the Knight ordinance was not resurrected.

Jolt for A. Hardin.
Shortly after the mercantile ordinance had been laid to temporary rest Councilman Montgomery took the floor again for a few hot shots at A. Hardin, street sprinkler contractor.

"As chairman of the sprinkling committee," said he, "I wish to report that the work being done by the sprinkling contractor is very unsatisfactory." He then detailed how poor service was being given and much time wasted by the water wagons.
Boys were used as drivers and there was seemingly a general tendency on the part of the sprinkling department to loaf as much as possible. He had repeatedly called Hardin's attention to these faults and in each instance he had promised to correct matters, but had failed to do so.

According to the members of the committee they had done their utmost to secure good service and failing to get results wished to bring the matter to the council's attention with the aim of having drastic action taken.
Mayor Murphy also joined in the criticism of the sprinkling work and suggested that the city might take legal action against Hardin's bond-men. To this end he left the subject with the committee and the city attorney.

Dairy Ordinance Ready.
Last night City Attorney Raley reported that the proposed dairy ordinance, providing for the exclusion of tubercular cows, had been prepared.
However Dr. Cole had left last night city and had not seen the complete ordinance so it was not read last night.
A warrant for a payment of $7000 upon the city hall was ordered drawn.
A report was received last night from the engineer employed to make estimates for crossing the gulch on High street. He reported the estimated cost of a bridge for the gulch to be $1500 while a fill would cost $2000. No action was taken upon the report.

CITY HALL PROGRESSING.

Lack of Material Delays Contractors —Brick Work on First Story Completed.

Work on the city hall has now progressed until practically all of the brick work on the first story is completed. The large stone pillars marking the entrance on Alta street, have also been placed and they give the new city building a very substantial look.

Owing to delay in securing material Contractor Gibson and Contractor May, who has the brick work, have been retarded considerably. However, they have until the first of the year to complete the building and seemingly they will have ample time unless the finishing work takes longer than is expected.
The work on the building is being supervised by T. F. Howard, the architect.

looking over the country, in search of a location. They have visited many portions of the northwest but are better pleased with the country around Pendleton than with any other in Indiana are preparing to come west of the autoists of this city and Walla
