TEST SUNDAY CLOSING LAW.

Proprietors of Tobacco and Candy Stores Arrested in Roseburg. Roseburg, Ore., July 27.—R. B. Mathews, Denning & Kent, E. Rhodes and E. Jennings were arrested this morning on complaints filed by District Attorney Brown, charging them with violation of the Sunday closing law. These men conduct, respectively, a soft drink and tobacco store, cigar store, tobacco and confectionery store, and a bakery and confectionery store. Their arrests will be made a test case, each defendant will plead not guilty. The outcome of these cases is awaited with great interest. Coincident with the filing of these cases, Rev. J. K. Hawking, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, announces that the subject of his sermon tomorrow evening will be "Blind Pigs Discovered."

GETS IN WAY OF BOY'S "22."

Used as Target and Is Killed. Oliver Carney, aged 13 years, accidentally killed William Vivian, at St. Johns, Wash. Vivian, a railway camp cook, and Contractor Carney's son were shooting at a knothole in the door with a 22 rifle. Later young Carney did not see Vivian go behind the door and the shot struck him at the left of the nose and came out at the top of the head. Death followed during the night. The address of a sister, 25 West avenue, West Duluth, Minn., was found. The coroner's investigation gave the cause of death as accident.

AMUSEMENTS

Story of Dreyfus. At the Show Shop yesterday a change of motion pictures was put on, and this program will continue over until tomorrow, when there will be another change. Among the most interesting shown was the story of the famous Dreyfus case and the "Story the Shoes Told." Tomorrow's change will have some excellent new attractions.

Cinderella at Pastime.

The Pastime put on a first-class change of motion pictures yesterday, among them being "The Story of Cinderella," that famous fairy story. This is in beautiful coloring, and one of the best yet shown here. The illustrated song is also new, and the entire program attracted big crowds yesterday. There will be the usual change tomorrow.

Chieftain's Revenge.

Both the Dimes were open yesterday, and excellent motion pictures were shown at each place. At the new Dime were some in excellent colorings, among them being "The Chieftain's Revenge, or a Tragedy in the Highlands of Scotland," "Jealous Finance," "Unlucky Flirts," a comedy, and "The Mourners," a comedy. The illustrated songs were new and attractive. There will be another excellent change at the new Dime tomorrow. The old Dime will be open every Saturday and Sunday in the future.

SUCCEEDS HIS FATHER.

Julian Harris Elected Editor of Uncle Remus' Magazine. Julian Harris, son of Joel Chandler Harris, has been elected by the directors of Uncle Remus' Magazine to succeed his father as editor. Mr. Harris has had a successful career as a newspaper man. At the age of 18 he joined the editorial staff of the Atlanta Constitution, and a year later was made news editor. From Atlanta Mr. Harris went to Chicago, and when only 20 years of age was assistant Sunday editor of the Times-Herald, one of the most pretentious dailies in the country. A year later he returned to Atlanta to become night editor of the Constitution, and two years later was promoted to the position of managing editor at the age of 23, a distinction probably unprecedented for a man of his years in the history of southern journalism. Mr. Harris has been connected with the magazine of which he now becomes editor since its establishment. The part he has had in the work is best told by the following extract from a statement made by the board of directors: It is the new editor, Julian Harris, who has been the organizing spirit of the magazine from its beginning. It was he who set to work to secure the financial backing necessary to put Uncle Remus' ideal with regard to a magazine upon a practical basis and bring the project into the realm of reality. He is the father's literary executor, and not only are Uncle Remus' last writings in his possession, but through his collaboration with his father on two unpublished works which will be given to the public during the year and his intimate acquaintance with the purposes and ideals of his father he is eminently fitted to carry out the cherished plans of the founder of the magazine.—The American Press.

MACHINERY IN CHINA.

Opening for American Mining and Railroad Mechanisms. In connection with a newspaper clipping concerning the projected Tai-Tsao railway, to run from the coal mines, eight miles north of Yihien, to Taihechwang, the leading port of South Shantung, on the Grand canal, Deputy Consul-General Alvin W. Gilbert, of Chefoo, writes: I have been informed that there is a chance to sell machinery to the mine owners. The few engines and boilers now in use are so old as to be almost unfit for use. Stone is abundant, and there is an opportunity to sell American stone crushers to the natives who will prepare the ballast for the railroad and for macadamizing some of the roads. Outside of the port cities not a foot of macadamized road—the kind that seems to be adopted wherever modern roads have been made—is to be found. Conveyances for the most part are litter and horseback, while in the western part carts are used. Wheelbarrows are extensively used in the transportation of goods. South of Tsinging-chow the Grand canal needs dredging and modern locks installed if the ancient waterway is to continue in use. During the past winter the distance between Taihechwang and Hangchwang (20 miles), having eight old-style locks, had in many places a depth of but six inches of water. This condition means heavy freight bills and a decrease in all lines of business. All the supplies for the Tai-Tsao railway route from Chinkiang, in Kiang Su province.

MOURNED BY CITIZENS.

Thursday of last week, T. J. Hodges, a local sawmill man, took leave without telling his friends where he was going. Rather than a good name he left a number of workmen and merchants holding the sack for about $3,000. He left the mill last Thursday morning and was last seen in La Grande on that evening, but since nothing has been learned of his whereabouts or destination. Last spring Hodges purchased a sawmill of J. L. Overton and located it on Pumpkin ridge, west of this city. He contracted to saw 1,500,000 feet for C. R. Shaw of Boise, and up to the time he left about 367,000 feet of the amount had been cut. While the mill was in operation he kept putting his men off for their pay, stating that he would pay up in full July 15th. During his residence in this city he had been honorable and upright in his dealings and but little uneasiness was felt by those trusting him, believing their money would be forthcoming when promised. Their trust was ill founded, however, and several hard working men of this city are robbed of their summer wages.

ROUMANIA ANGRY.

May Request Uncle Sam to Recall Minister Knowles. Bucharest, Roumania, July 27.—The Roumanian government today is considering the advisability of demanding that Washington recall Horace G. Knowles, envoy extraordinary to Roumania and Serbia, who is accused of misrepresenting his authority to Roumanian officials. The incident, of which the diplomatic crisis is the outcome, occurred in connection with negotiations between the United States and Roumania for the proposed extradition treaty. Peace Conference in Session. London, July 27.—With representatives from all parts of the globe present, the 17th international peace congress was opened today in Caxton hall by King Edward. It will remain in session a week. Mrs. Belta A. Lockwood, in charge of the Washington branch of the congress, has succeeded in having America well represented. The king made a strong plea for peace and said that he was glad his efforts to bring peace between the nations was bearing fruit.

Exclusive Organization.

Denver, July 27.—The Western Federation of Miners today tabled the application from numerous lumbermen in Montana and the northwest states for membership. A resolution was adopted declaring distinctly that the Federation will always remain distinctly an organization of laborers employed in mines and mining mills.

America Interested.

Washington, July 27.—The announcement that the Netherlands has decided to make hostile demonstration against Venezuela was received with great interest at the state department today. The department realized that something had to be done to prove to Castro that he is not above international law.

Killed at Fernie.

While employed at the tippie of the steel works at Fernie, B. C., John Derry fell from the top of the building and was so badly injured that he died shortly afterwards.

MAY SHIP WOOL EAST.

Lewiston Growers Say Montana Prices Are Too Low. Lewiston, Mont., July 27.—It was expected last week would witness a change in the local wool situation and that the clips coming in would soon be cleaned up, yet no transactions are taking place, and unless buying begins soon much wool from this section will be shipped east on consignment, a method that has never been popular with Montana sheep men. It is claimed by the growers that the prices offered here are lower than those made for the same grade of wool at other markets of the state. At Hartwotown 3,000,000 pounds of wool is being shipped out, and the average price paid is 16 1/2 cents. The price here has averaged better than 20 cents for several seasons. The county commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization, last week received applications from several large sheep men asking that the assessed valuation on stock sheep be reduced from $3.50 to $3 per head, basing their request on the fact that such sheep can be bought in any number at a price not exceeding $3. If such a reduction should be made it would make quite a cut in the county's revenue, as there were 500,000 such sheep returned for assessment in March. Alfred G. Vanderbilt was "skinned" out of about $15,000 by English market sharps in the sale of his fine coach teams before leaving London last week. The sharps circulated reports that the best horses would not be sold and thus kept away all the principal horse buyers and secured the fine teams at their own prices. All the news all the time in the East Oregonian.
