BOISE MAN TELLS OF PANAMA CANAL

Captured by the ideal climate of southern Idaho and the bright prospects for the future, having been convinced after personal investigation that the Gem state is destined to be one of the greatest in the northwest, C. H. Manning, a well known government employe assigned to special work in Panama canal zone, has been made so enthusiastic a convert that he sent in his resignation to the department at Washington last week as an officer in the department of labor and subsistence, to be effective at once and has selected as his future home, Shoshone, says the Boise Capital News.

He has also purchased a farm on the north side Twin Falls tract where he will lay the foundations for a valuable orchard. Mr. Manning has come back to nature's own and his present course in life was incidentally changed by a chance visit to this part of the state while on a short vacation. He was so pleased with what he saw that his resignation was soon speeding to Washington before even his vacation was finished.

Mr. Manning is one of the most recent arrivals from the Isthmus of Panama and he talks very interestingly of the great work which is being done there in the separation of North and South America by the United States in its connection of the two oceans by the narrow canal across the Isthmus.

Being an employe of the government, and having supervision over hundreds of men in the canal zone, Mr. Manning understands the situation well. When interviewed by a representative of the Capital News about the great engineering feat being accomplished at Panama, Mr. Manning said:

"Comparatively few people understand or appreciate the great magnitude of the Panama canal. It is certainly a wonderful work in connection with the department of labor and subsistence I spent the past two years at the canal zone and was in a position to become very familiar with the great work which is being carried on at the Isthmus by the United States. "Our department takes charge of furnishing quarters on the canal as well as securing additional ones from all over the country; their reception at Panama and installation in quarters. There are numerous other duties which the present management and system of providing for the men employed in the zone as well as the general plans followed towards digging the canal. Uncle Sam has perfected one of the greatest working machines of human beings which this world has ever seen.

"The result is that the dirt is flying in the canal trench and the mammoth crew is doing everything towards perfecting this waterway where ocean meets ocean.

"No less than 30,000 men are at work on the canal. Of this number 5500 are Americans, 500 Europeans and the balance natives of the West Indies. This mammoth crew has to be provided for every day in the year. The government adopted regulation buildings, furnishing, etc., for them and today they are housed as comfortable as any one would care to be. The conditions have been made sanitary so that the death rate has become normal in the zone region.

"Every house is furnished with sewerage, baths, etc., and ice is delivered there just the same as it is at your doorstep here. Wide porches keep out the summer pests and while the atmosphere is very warm, full of humidity and sultry the men fare very well.

"The government lays down the provision that every employe shall work 10 months of the year and then have a vacation of six weeks with pay during which time they must leave the Isthmus and go to some other country. The change has its effect and helps the men to stand the work. All of the heavy work is done by the West Indians. The Americans hold down the carpenters, mechanics, foremanship, engineering and other important positions.

"When I tell you that during the month of April last 3,250,000 cubic yards of dirt were taken out of the canal you would hardly understand the great amount of this involves. The record during May of this year fell a little below this, but the engineers in charge of the canal are working to make the record of 4,000,000 cubic yards a month. That is moving a wonderful amount of earth.

"Double railroad tracks are operated along the entire distance of the canal so far constructed and the dirt is taken away from the scene of activity to the lower ground where it is used to fill in. Great steam shovels tear out six wagon loads at a spoonful and dump it into cars which are in waiting. When a trainload is filled powerful engines rush the cars to the end of the line for dumpage.

Complete in Eight Years.

"It is estimated that the Panama canal will be completed in either 1915 or 1917. At the present time the great Calubria cut is the knotty problem which must be solved by engineers. The canal after leading from the Atlantic coast strikes this mountain and it is now being cut in two. It is admitted by experts to be an unknown quantity. No one can say when the great cut will be made through it. The cut is 400 feet deep. They are now down 285 feet with still 115 to go. It is three miles through and is the only really difficult problem yet to be solved in the great ditch. Trouble has been experienced in this cut with the sides of the mountain caving in and filling the canal.

Machinery Thrown Away.

"One remarkable thing about the canal zone is the great amount of machinery which the French spent millions of dollars on and later abandoned along the route of the canal. Do you know that sections of the town of Cristobal, located on the Atlantic side of the canal, is built over reclaimed lands in which millions of dollars worth of machinery, purchased by the French to be used on the canal and which was never unpacked, was thrown into these lowlands and used with dirt to reclaim the land? That is an actual fact. No one has ever taken the trouble to take out this machinery and there it remains today with houses built over it, in the same boxes in which it was shipped from France. The French had the right idea of the canal route and it is safe to say that they worked over every foot of the ground which the Americans are now covering. Along this route machinery of all kinds and descriptions still remains standing as a memory of the past. The French could never have taken care of the dirt to be hauled out of the canal with the machinery they had. As many as 80 steam engines are to be seen along the route in a body abandoned and left to rot. Some of these small engines have been brought into use by our country, but they are not large enough to haul the loads which are now being hauled. The waste along this line which greets one in the canal zone is astonishing.

COAL MINING IN OREGON LAST YEAR.

The total production of coal in Oregon in 1907 was 70,981 short tons, having a spot value of $166,304, says the United States geological survey report.

The Coos bay field is the only productive field in Oregon. It is situated in the southwestern part of the state, in Coos county, and occupies a total area of about 250 square miles, its length north and south being about 30 miles and its maximum breadth at the middle about 11 miles.

Among the other coal fields that have been prospected in the state are the Upper Nehalem field, in Columbia county; the Lower Nehalem field, in Clatsop and Tillamook counties; the Yaquina field, in Lincoln county; the Eekley and Shasta Costa fields, in Curry county; the Eden field, in Coos county; and the Rogue river valley field, in Jackson county—all west of the Cascade range. None of these fields have been developed to the point of production.

Another field lies in the basin of John Day river, east of the Cascade range, but little is known concerning it. All the fields west of the range, except the Coos bay, are of rather small area, the largest being the Upper Nehalem, which has an area of less than 20 square miles.

The coal of all these fields is lignitic. Its transportation is confined exclusively to Coos bay and the Pacific ocean, and San Francisco is the principal market. The Coos bay field is divided by its structure into six portions—four basins and two arches. The basins are known as the Newport, the Beaver Slough, the Coquille and the South Slough, and are separated by Westport and Pulaski arches.

As practically all of the product from Coos bay has been shipped by water to San Francisco, the substitution of oil for coal in most of the manufacturing industries of that city has cut off a considerable portion of the market for this coal. The effect on Oregon's production is shown in a decrease from 109,611 tons in 1905 to 76,731 in 1906 and to 70,901 in 1907. The decrease in value of the 1907 product was even more pronounced, for while the production showed a decrease of 8,750 tons, or 10.97 per cent, the value declined $46,034, or 21.68 per cent. The average price per ton declined from $2.66 in 1906 to $2.34 in 1907.

GOVERNOR HUGHES WILL RUN AGAIN.

If Party Wants Him, New York's Executive Will Have the Office.

The announcement of Governor Hughes that he would accept the nomination for governor if his party wanted him to again be a candidate was not expected in political circles. The opinion was generally expressed that no opposition would be made to renomination if a well defined sentiment developed demanding it.

Secretary Loeb at Oyster Bay said that he would convey the announcement of Governor Hughes to President Roosevelt. Several of those active in the party's direction claim to have information that the president desired Governor Hughes to run again, in the belief that it would strengthen the ticket by attracting the independent vote.

State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff is at his summer home at Kemp Killeare in the Adirondacks, where he expects to confer with the state leaders on the gubernatorial situation in a few days.

Indians Hunt for Treasurer.

Last night Chief Red Thunder, of the Nez Perce Indians, accompanied by T. B. Early, returned to the city, and left this morning for the Wallowa country. It will be remembered by Observer readers that these two men passed through La Grande a couple of months ago, bound for the same district, but were unable to accomplish their errand, whatever it was, on account of the depth of the snow. Although denied by Mr. Early, it is rumored that they are in search of a fabulous lost mine, the locality of which is only known by Red Thunder, having descended to him through his father who was a brother of the famous Chief Joseph.—La Grande Observer.

"Could you bring yourself to live in a flat on $20 a week?"

"I could, Harold," answered the pampered yet unspolied darling. "But I do not know just how it would suit my French maid.—Washington Herald.

THE AMOUNT OF YOUR "BELIEF IN ADVERTISING" WHICH IS PUT INTO TYPE IS WHAT COUNTS.

There is probably a clothing ad in today's paper that will remind you that your new suit is overdue. Meet the ad "face to face," and it will help you to meet the clothes problem that way.

If you have lived too long in one place, look at the furnished rooms advertised today—and get a change of scene.

It won't pay you to try to deal with a buyer who wants your property only half as much as "the right man" would want it.

Any quest by which you can make a "new test" of want advertising today? Think it over.

Your store is NOT "big enough," or prosperous enough, unless your ambition and aspirations are under-sized.

There never was a day in any calendar when adequate advertising would do more for your store than it will today.
