FEW CHANGES IF TAFT IS ELECTED.

Root Will Stay as Long as He Desires—Meyer Will Be Advanced—Luke Wright Will Stay as Well as Garfield and Wilson—Bonaparte Would Go—Bryan Cabinet More Interesting.

Washington, July 29.—Washington political wisecracks are already busily engaged in arranging cabinets for Judge Taft and Colonel Bryan. Scores of prognostications are being made of the probable line-up and batting order of the distinguished men who will be called to act as official advisers of the next occupant of the White House.

In case of the election of Taft, it is generally agreed that there will be few vital changes. Ellihu Root is slated to retain the state portfolio as long as he wants it, provided, of course, that the republicans continue in control. George von L. Meyer, postmaster general in Roosevelt's cabinet, will likely be advanced to the treasury secretaryship. General Luke Wright is certain to remain as head of the war department under the Taft regime. Frank B. Kellogg, it is thought, will be selected to succeed Attorney General Bonaparte, while Frank H. Hitchcock will be awarded with the office of postmaster general. James Wilson, the perpetual secretary of agriculture, will not be disturbed, and James R. Garfield will continue as secretary of the interior. Whether Metcalf will be retained as secretary of the navy and Straus as the secretary of commerce and labor is a matter of disagreement, some of the wisecracks declaring that they will have to make way for some of Taft's more industrious workers.

A Bryan Cabinet. Doping out a Bryan cabinet is, of course, more interesting, since it allows a wider latitude of choice and presents more elements of uncertainty. At the head of the list as secretary of state most of the wise ones place Judson Harmon of Ohio. A few think that Judge George Gray of Delaware, would be chosen for this important portfolio, but this is not considered probable by those acquainted with just the degree of friendship existing between the Nebraskan and the Delaware jurist. The Bryan cabinet, it is thought, would be largely composed of westerners, with only two or three eastern and southern men included.

It is likely, in the event that Bryan is elected, that his cabinet will be substantially as follows:

- Secretary of state—Judson Harmon, of Ohio.
- Secretary of the treasury—John A. Johnson, of Minnesota.
- Secretary of war—George Turner, of Washington.
- Attorney General William J. Gaynor, of New York.
- Postmaster general—Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama.
- Secretary of the navy—Theodore A. Bell, of California.
- Secretary of the interior—Thomas M. Patterson, of Colorado.
- Secretary of agriculture—Clark Howell, of Georgia.
- Secretary of commerce and labor—John Mitchell, of Illinois.

STRIKE IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Pastor Calls Young Women Bullheads—Mutiny.

Twenty-one young women of the Second Christian church Sunday school have gone on strike against the preacher, the Rev. Ralph Edward Alexander, and they will not return unless he allows their demands, says a St. Louis dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

"We shall never go back to the Sunday school, never, until the pastor shows a more lenient spirit in his dealing with our class," said Miss Rosalie Clark, one of the leaders in the mutiny, and the other girls voice her sentiments.

"The pastor tells us he never will permit us to come back except upon his terms," continued Miss Clark. He is willing to lose 21 young women from his Sunday school rather than be conciliatory. He has said so.

"The pastor called us bullheads, and said the devil had broken loose in one of the Sunday school classes, meaning in our class, of course. That doesn't look nice, does it?"

The 21 young women are members of the best families in the church and the Sunday school has been seriously crippled by their "walkout."

Some of the girls use strong language in denouncing the Rev. Mr. Alexander for what they term his high-handed and arbitrary manner with them. The whole membership of the church is in a turmoil over the mutiny, and each has taken sides, one way or the other, some with the pastor and some with the young women.

The trouble began two years ago when the Rev. Mr. Alexander became pastor of the church, which is at 11th and Tyler streets. It is reported that he said then there were too many cliques in the church, and these caused jealousy and weakened the influence of the church, and he would break up the cliques if he had to throw some people out by the neck.

An English Turf Tragedy.

Half an hour before the race for the Two Thousand Guineas of 1883 Prince Bathynny, who bred St. Simon and who was one of the most popular racing men of any time, was talking with Lord Cadogan in the luncheon room of the Jockey club stand at Newmarket, when he suddenly reeled and fell.

He was carried to Weatherby's office, and doctors were summoned, but the prince was beyond all human aid, and just before the bell rang for the race for which his colt, Galliard, brother of St. Simon, was first favorite he breathed his last.

A few minutes later "the clear blue sky rang with cheers and shouts as the horses came thundering along, which rose into a roar as Galliard won by a head," while behind the drawn blinds of Weatherby's office Galliard's owner, who had been looking forward so eagerly to this moment, was lying dead. It was owing to the death of his owner that Galopin's great son could not run in the Derby of 1884, which he would almost certainly have won.—St. James' Gazette.

Curing Snake Bites.

Considerable difference of opinion exists with regard to a trustworthy remedy for snake bites. Dr. Lander Brunton advocates the use of permanganate of potash applied immediately. Mr. Greengrass of North Arcot district, Madras, however, as the result of various experiments states that acetic acid, even in the diluted form of vinegar, is an important and effectual remedy, and it can be applied effectually as long as an hour or an hour and a half after the bite. Cases of recovery from snake bites have followed the application of vinegar after such intervals. An incision must be made over the bite, as much of the poison as possible squeezed out, and then vinegar is to be injected. If the bite is on a limb, a ligature must be placed above it. Mr. Greengrass records twenty-nine cases of recovery from cobra bites by such a use of vinegar. The one failure which occurred was due to the fact that no incision had been made over the bite. A similar treatment is recommended for the stings of scorpions.—London Standard.

Downing Street, London.

The greatest street in the world is one of the smallest. This is Downing street, a dark little alley in the west of London. Here is the real center of the British empire, for it is at 10 Downing street that the premier has his official residence. Ever since Robert Walpole was the prime minister, 200 years ago, the heads of the government have made their homes in this "alley." American tourists usually go out of their way to gaze upon the dingy, almost repellent exterior of this lodge of diplomacy and national ambition, because Sir George Downing, who laid out the street and built the house therein, was of American ancestry, his mother belonging to the Winthrop of Massachusetts Bay Colony, and stands as the second graduate on the roster of Harvard college. After getting an American education he went to England and, seizing opportunity when it offered, became Oliver Cromwell's ambassador at The Hague.—Exchange.

Feeding the Stock.

The victim of the following story, told in Mrs. Henry W. Cole's "A Lady's Tour Around Monte Rosa," was possessed of a keen sense of humor. Otherwise his dignity might have been ruffled by the unconscious revelation which came to his ears. In the course of Mrs. Cole's travels she met the Rev. Robert Montgomery, the poet, who told her an incident of his early career in the pulpit. When he was first admitted to holy orders he was appointed curate in a rural Scotch district and lodged in the house of a small tenant farmer. Notwithstanding his office of clergyman the family did not appear to hold their boarder in high veneration, for one day he heard the woman servant call out to her mistress: "Missis, shall I feed the pigs first or gie the mon his dinner?"

An Erratic Echo.

The late Sir John Leng had traveled in most quarters of the globe. On one occasion when visiting Spain he was asked at a certain spot by a traveling companion to test the powers of what was declared to be a wonderful echo. Sir John, slowly and deliberately, in rounded tones uttered the words, "Dun-dee Ad-ver-tis-er," the name of the paper he owned. "Dundee Courier and Argus," the name of the opposition paper, came back as the echo! Sir John's friends had played him a trick.

Tea Drinking.

Tea drinking was regarded as one of the feminine vices of a hundred years ago. The Female Spectator of that period observes: "The tea table costs more to support than would maintain two children at nurse. It is the utter destruction of all economy, the bane of good housewifery and the source of idleness."—London Mail.

Nothing more than precious souvenirs preserved in faithful memories or related in works of tradition, which will charm our descendants.—Petit Parisien.

RELIGION AN ISSUE

TAFT ATTACKED BECAUSE HE IS A UNITARIAN.

Placed in Same Class as Tom Paine and Other Agnostics by His Defamers—Candidate and His Pastor Daily Besieged with Letters—Many of Them Abusive.

Washington, July 29.—"Unitarians teach today what the deists, such as Tom Paine, taught a century ago. Unitarians are no more Christians than are agnostics. Thousands of people throughout the country understand this, and they will no more vote for Judge Taft, who is an Unitarian, than they would have voted for Col. Ingersoll."

This statement privately made by the pastor of one of Washington's leading churches, reflects sentiments that are now being heard on every side. The religion of Judge Taft promises to become a campaign issue of considerable magnitude. The Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, pastor of the Unitarian church of which Judge Taft is a member, has received hundreds of letters inquiring about the candidate's views on spiritual matters. Judge Taft, too, daily receives many communications of this character, and some of them are of an abusive character.

Some of Mr. Taft's friends are inclined to be alarmed by these attacks, which are constantly becoming more frequent. Reports have been received here that evangelists in various parts of the country have denounced Taft for his religious views and urged their hearers not to vote for him. A majority of Washington politicians, however, refuse to consider these attacks seriously. They point out that Jefferson, Adams, Lincoln and Grant were all unorthodox in their religious views, but that attempts to defeat them on those grounds failed miserably.

An Historic Bell.

All Souls' Unitarian church, of which Mr. Taft is a member, is an attractive but not impressive looking structure. In its steeple hangs an historic bell. This was cast in 1822 by Paul Revere, the famous bell founder, whose midnight ride set all New England in a blaze against the British. It was hung in its belfry almost a century ago, and for many years was the largest bell in the city, and the only bell of any size. It was used not only by the Unitarians, but by other denominations, and pealed out equally to call the people to holy day celebrations or church festivals or to warn the city of fire.

Men famous in the history of the century have been members of this church and have attended divine service there. John C. Calhoun was a communicant; also Daniel Webster, John Quincy Adams, John Morrill, John D. Long and George Bancroft, the historian. Rear Admiral Evans is a member, as is the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, who frequently occupies the pulpit. Other co-members with Mr. Taft are Dr. Truman Abbe, Representative Mann of Illinois, Almsworth R. Spofford, former librarian of congress, and Representative John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

Taft's Pastor. Dr. Pierce, the pastor, is a young man, a native of Providence, who was raised a Baptist. He went to school as a boy in Boston and took a post-graduate course at Harvard. He was called to All Souls' eight years ago and in that time has become one of the foremost pastors of the city.

About the time he first entered the pulpit as a Baptist preacher he began reading Darwin and Huxley and readjusted his religious views to conform with the more advanced teachings of science. Then he turned to the Unitarian church.

So far as All Souls' is concerned, it is a practical church. Its members believe in doing practical things. Its charities are many. It maintains for one thing, annually, a visiting nurse, paying all expenses, and is the only church of any denomination in Washington which does this. Its membership embraces some of the most progressive citizens of Washington, people of culture and refinement. On its roll are those who have been previously Methodists, Baptists, Catholics, Presbyterians—in fact all creeds are represented. As Dr. Pierce says, the Unitarian church does not ask a man his religion any more than it asks his politics. It is a church of freedom.
