300,000 BUSHELS IN MORROW

COUNTY'S WHEAT CROP IS ESTIMATED.

Market Opened at 70 Cents for Club and 74 Cents for Bluestem—Buyers in the Field Early—10-fold Wheat Tried for First Time in Country—Season Has Been Dry.

"I would place Morrow county's wheat crop at 300,000 bushels this season," said a prominent wheat buyer to a Gazette representative this week when asked for an estimate.

The buyer above referred to is a heavy dealer in cereals and naturally has been keeping close tab on conditions in all of the wheat growing districts of this county.

The market starts off in good shape. Already buyers are in the field and offering 70 cents per bushel for club with a premium of 2 cents for 10-fold and 4 cents for bluestem are being freely made.

This is the first year that Morrow county farmers have given 40-fold wheat a thorough trial. This new variety has been sown heretofore only in small lots, owing to the fact that seed was hard to get; however, the results were very satisfactory.

While this season has been very dry and is an off year, the results with a good sized acreage of 40-fold are met with much favor and this variety will no doubt take the lead in the future.

The advantages claimed are that 40-fold is earlier to mature, commands a better price than club, being a good milling wheat, and yields heavier than any other variety.

The main objection to 40-fold is the fact that it shatters more than other varieties. Harvest is now well started all over the country. While the yield is light, there will be many fields with good yields. A new field in Eight Mile will go from 25 to 30 bushels to the acre.

Heppner warehousemen report that the demand for sacks is earlier this season than usual.—Heppner Gazette.

Bennett Was Here.

The editor of the Irrigator and Mr. Bennett, the proprietor; A. Bennett, the manager; Addison Bennett, the foreman; Bennett, the pressman, devil and proofreader, and Old Man Bennett, the Irrigator postmaster, went up to Pendleton Saturday last. He went to attend some personal business in connection with his poultry ranch, pigeon yard, pheasant farm and turkey runs, and also to see about marketing some of his fruit and selling his vegetables, and to arrange to deliver a lecture, and to secure accommodation during the fair, when he is to judge the baby show.—Irrigator.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling of stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not respond.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong protective influence over the system as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It does more than any number of ordinary non-professional preparations. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

OPENING OF PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

(By Glen B. Guernsey.)

New York, Aug. 1.—With the establishment of national headquarters in New York today, the republican campaign was formally opened. Whether it was opened with prayer or a corkscrew I know not. Let the mere chronicler of things that were attend to the details, while I herald abroad the glad tidings of that which is to be. In the first place, then, Mr. Taft is to be elected. I have this straight from Mr. Hitchcock. Secondly, there is to be no period of "hard times," such as usually accompanies a presidential campaign. For this, in the language affected in Battle Creek, Mich., "There's a reason."

A theory is abroad in the land which leads simple folk to believe that the "hard times" incident to a national campaign are due to the uncertainty of the result. Viewing the possibility of a democratic occupant of the White House, the alarmed wheat falls to sprout and the terrified swine and cattle refuse to take nourishment and die. Considering the probability of a G. O. P. president, the little sheep turn up their toes and the lowing kine become as dry as Atlanta, Ga.

Meanwhile, the festive grape and the jocund corymb never fail to yield up their choicest vintage, and the busy silk-worm and the impoverished duke are always on the job. In the past, it has always cost Wall street a great deal of money to conduct campaigns. In this connection, let not the pot call the kettle black. Wall street has never backed favorites, but has always played them across the boards. Nor were the campaign managers to blame. By common consent of the people, the financing of campaigns was long looked upon as the customary prerogative of Wall street.

COFFEE
 Three-quarters of coffee is such that we can't touch it; we make five grades of the top quarter.

Your grocery returns your money if you don't like the Schilling's Best, we pay 20c.

Yet Wall street has never really paid. It loved its wine and women, its silks and simperons, too well for that.

The hand that gave was Wall Street's, but the money belonged to others.

So, of course, it came to pass that during a national campaign there were "hard times" for the poor and middle classes. (How glibly we Americans write of classes, which do not exist). Somebody had to pay the millions that were used in manufacturing political thunder. I shrewdly suspect dear reader, that you were among the assessed.

Now, praises be, all is changed. The saffron canine has been sent to the public pond. The common citizen will be depended upon to cough up the campaign expenses by direct contribution, and not through Wall street.

So is Wall street deprived of an excuse for inflicting "hard times" upon a defenseless country. The money changers are scourged from the temple, peace, plenty and prosperity abound in the land and the government at Washington still lives.

It is a brave experiment, and all must wish it well. My only sorrow is for the campaign managers. Their strong boxes are not yet bulging with the thank offerings of the multitude. Honest confession, it is said, is good for the soul. Craving harp and crown the average citizen will probably admit that he is willing to shout for his candidate and to vote for him, but that to contribute when the plate is passed around is another matter. For the average citizen, unlike Wall street, has only his own money to offer.

Depending upon the multitude for food and sustenance, the G. O. P. elephant and the democratic donkey are like to go hungry. Shut out from the Wall street manger, which, in the sleek, fat days of yore, was stuffed with provender by the swart hand of dollar-marked capital, the patient beasts are now turned out to face a cold and uncharitable world. Let us, at least, give them our sympathy. They are not likely to get much else.

A Surprise Coming.

A horse was standing along Chestnut street the other day anchored by an iron weight. The horse, not knowing what else to do to pass away the time, was industriously chewing the strap. A newsboy happened along, and after watching the animal for awhile he grinned a cluster of grins and turned to a man who was standing near.

"Don't say a word," he gleefully remarked. "Old Uncle here is going to have the surprise of his life in a few minutes."

"What is the matter with him?" asked the man, glancing first at the kid and then at the horse.

"Nothin' is the matter with him," was the happy rejoinder of the newsboy. "He may eat the strap all right, but when he gets down to that weight he will think he has struck a boardin' house."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A "Washing" Mission.

The visiting housekeeper recently described in the New York Sun must be a stout armed angel or she would never have lived to write the entry in her daybook quoted below:

"Washed the sick woman in bed, washed and dressed four children, did the washing, scrubbed two floors, washed the dishes, washed the windows."

A discriminating glance at this entry will disclose the fact that she washed about everything in the house. How the head of the family escaped the wash rag is not stated. Perhaps there was no head.

Smugglers' Philanthropy.

At Broadmoor and Perth, England, the criminal lunatics have a free supply of the most exquisite pipe tobacco, cigars and cigarettes. In fact, they smoke far finer stuff than the average rich man. Yet all this good tobacco costs the government nothing. The smugglers of England pay for the smoking of the criminal insane. It is from her confiscated smuggled tobacco that England fills the tobacco boxes of Perth and Broadmoor.

Co-operative Store Planned.

The labor union enthusiasts of New Westminster, B. C., have formed a co-operative society and intend to open a co-operative store in August. Shares are sold at a par value of $5 each, two shares being necessary to membership.
