WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT PROHIBITION

The following excellent communication in the Spokesman-Review gives an insight into the prohibition issue in other states and towns and will be interesting to the readers of the East Oregonian.

The correspondence is as follows: To the Editor of the Spokesman-Review: In passing along the streets of Spokane person's eyes are continually meeting large posters in the saloon windows with such headings as "What Does Prohibition Do?" "Bankruptcy Follows Prohibition," etc. Only the saloonkeeper's side is given, so I would like to say a few words about the financial side of local option.

The following clipping from a paper where I lived for 22 years illustrates what I wish to say:

James Val Baker, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Morehouse, Mo., May 4, 1908.—Business Men's League, Bentonville, Ark.—Gentlemen: I am seeking a good location for the practice of law and am advised that your point would be a good location for a strong law firm.

Criminal practice is a specialty with me, and as our county is going dry as far as liquor is concerned, that will cut my criminal practice short.

Have you saloons in your county and city?

How is the criminal practice in your county?

How many lawyers have you in your city and county?

How are rents and property valuations in your city?

Can you buy lands reasonable near your city?

I wish to state that I am not one that follows saloons for the purpose of getting something to drink, for I never drink even beer. I am simply hunting business.

Will you please advise me by return mail as to the prospects for a law firm in your city, and answer the above questions, and by so doing you will greatly oblige. Truly, J. VAL BAKER.

The Reply.

Bentonville, Ark., May 7, '08.—James Val Baker, Esq., Morehouse, Mo.—Dear Sir: Your inquiry of May 4 handed to me. In reply to your letter I am delighted to inform you that the citizens of Bentonville and Benton county have advanced so rapidly in intelligence and civilization; have indeed gotten so far from the uncivilized that no saloon is permitted in our entire county; has not been one in our county for 20 years. Each time our people vote on that proposition the majority increases.

If you are looking for the great volume of crime that the demon whiskey brings, you will not be pleased with our people, city and county. Our people are sober, law-abiding and prosperous. We have the greatest people and country on earth. Our property is far more valuable and our people far more prosperous and happy from the fact that we have no saloons, no billiard halls, no bowling alleys, no hell holes, no destroyer of manhood and womanhood, and homes can exist in our midst.

We have 12 lawyers in our city. Very truly, A. W. MORRIS, Mayor of Bentonville.

P. S.—Our jail door stands wide open; not a single prisoner in it.

The above county is not in the backwoods by any means, as it has a population of about 50,000, with four railroads passing through the county and more apple trees than any other county in the United States. I lived there when we had saloons in every village, and our county tax never less than 5 mills, the constitutional limit, with county warrants worth 75 cents to 90 cents per $1.

I saw the saloons voted out. Then I saw the county tax go down till it reached a 2-mill levy, with county warrants worth 100 cents on the dollar, because there was always money in the treasury. Why the difference?

There, without the saloons, one judge presides over the courts in four counties, holding two courts a year, using one-third to one-half of his time on the bench, while here, with all the saloons, we have four judges in one county holding court almost the year through.

I admit that the code of practice has something to do with the difference in the cost of the courts, but the great difference is in prosecuting crime caused by the liquor traffic.

Does "bankruptcy follow prohibition?"

I shall not discuss the moral side of the question. E. L. TAYLOR.

HYPNOTISM CURES A BEDRIDDEN WOMAN.

Dr. Gayer Describes a Remarkable Case of Suggestion to His Fellow Scientists.

Dr. Gustave W. Gayer, who studies and practices hypnotism scientifically, as did Charcot of Paris, as does Prof. John D. Quackenbush of New York, has reported to his fellow scientists a remarkable cure by suggestion, by controlling the patient's subconsciousness. In brief, the facts are:

Mrs. S. E. Maddox, a friend of Dr. Gayer, went to his office, No. 161 West Sixty-third street, and begged him to visit her cousin, Mrs. Florence Connors, No. 229 West One Hundred and Seventh street. Accordingly, Dr. Gayer paid his first visit to Mrs. Connors on July 20 last. He found a woman of 25 years who had been bedridden for three months, suffering with complication of sciatic rheumatism and pleurisy. Her pain was intense.

Dr. Gayer treated her hypnotically, then and every day thereafter until Tuesday last. He was called to her on Tuesday night and found her in a paroxysm of agony. He put her in a hypnotic state at 9 p. m. She came up from it ten minutes later and seemed to be cured. So she has remained, absolutely well, to all appearances, able to walk and to perform her household duties, free from pain and in most cheerful spirits.

Dr. Gayer maintained last January that his hypnotic aid was invoked successfully to fix the sex of a baby which the stork had not yet transported. L. O. B. The mother wished for a girl. The father desired a boy. The father secured Dr. Gayer's hypnotic influence. It was a boy. Dr. Gayer has cured chronic alcoholism by making a drunkard believe that his altergo hates rum and is firmly seated on the water wagon. He also restored sight to Harry Kupana of No. 749 Tenth avenue, who had been blind for a year.

GAVE SKIN TO SAVE CHILD.

Mother, Brother and Sister Sacrifice Their Own Skin.

To save the life of 9-year-old Mildred Lynch, her mother, brother and sister gave portions of their own skin yesterday, says a New York dispatch. It was cut off and grafted over nearly a third of the suffering child's body.

Mildred fell into a bonfire while playing near her home at No. 338 Pine street, Brooklyn, a few weeks ago. She was taken to the Children's hospital, burned from her hips to her toes. Drs. Brown and Cahill decided on Sunday last that skin grafting must be resorted to.

Mildred's mother is a poor widow. She has four children, one younger than Mildred. The others are Arthur and Isabella, aged 13 and 15 respectively.

"I will give my own skin to save my Mildred," cried the mother when the doctor told her of their decision.

"We will give ours, too," sobbed Arthur and Isabella.

Mildred was moved to the Kings County hospital on Monday. There Drs. Barber and Woolsey assisted Mrs. Cahill and Brown in the operation. Mrs. Lynch, Arthur and Isabella were placed under an anesthetic. Rapidly the doctors cut the skin from the thighs of mother and children. Little Mildred's awful burns were covered before Arthur, who was first to come out of the anesthetic, opened his eyes.

"How did Mildred pull through?" he gasped.

"Her life is saved," said one of the doctors.

All the patients were resting quietly in the hospital last night. Arthur, Isabella and Mrs. Lynch, radiantly happy in spite of their wounds.

It was the most extensive skin grafting operations in the records of the hospital.

EXTEND IRRIGATION WORK.

Reclamation Service to Cover More Idaho Land.

W. G. Davis, engineer in charge of the canal work in this district for the reclamation service, reports that seven crews of surveyors are in the field and are scattered from the government dam above Boise to the Oregon line near Payette, surveying the various laterals and work to be done under the co-operative plan and also the preliminary work for bringing more land under water, says the Boise Capital News. Altogether, he says, 192 miles of canals have been laid out, and a portion of that amount has been built, considerable contracted for and the remainder ready to be contracted.

He also states that the old Phyllis pit in condition to carry water for mining ditch is to be cleaned out and put in condition to carry water for irrigation purposes. The ditch runs from below Caldwell to an old placer claim and was only used a few times. Considerable valuable land will be reclaimed under this ditch. In the vicinity of Greenleaf, a new settlement on the San Francisco line, and also at Fargo, near Homedale, there will be drops from 50 to 125 feet, giving several thousand horse power, which will be utilized.

MRS. GUNNESS DEAD

NO DOUBT OF FATE OF ARCH-MURDERESS.

Poison Found in Her Stomach and Also in Those of Each of Her Two Children—Discovery Upsets Many Former Theories—Murder or Suicide the Question.

La Porte, Ind., Aug. 5.—Coroner Mack has announced that Dr. Walter Haines of Rush Medical college, who analyzed the stomach of Andrew Hegelen of Aberdeen, S. D., last victim of Mrs. Belle Guinness, finding strychnine and arsenic in fatal doses, has also found in the stomachs of Mrs. Guinness and two of the children arsenic and strychnine in quantities sufficient to have caused death.

The discovery of poison in the woman's stomach and that of her children has upset many of the former theories in the case and has opened up the possibility of Mrs. Guinness having killed the children in the same manner in which she took the lives of her victims and then having ended her own life with a fatal dose.

Attorney Worden, who represents Ray Lamphere, charged with the Guinness murders and with being an accomplice of Mrs. Guinness in the Helgelein death, declares that the discovery shows that his client could have had nothing to do with the death of the woman and her children.

A conference between Prosecutor Smith and Sheriff Smutzer resulted this afternoon in the issuance of this joint statement:

"The report of Dr. Haines that he found arsenic and strychnine in the bodies of Mrs. Guinness and her two children makes it absolutely a sure thing that Mrs. Guinness is dead, which position, the public will remember, has been maintained all the time by the sheriff's office and the prosecutor's office. Whether Mrs. Guinness killed herself or not is a mooted question. We hope now that this report will set at rest the wagging tongues of a few who have seen fit to declare that Mrs. Guinness is still alive for the seeming purpose of creating a sentiment to that effect among the citizens of Laporte county and elsewhere. At present it does not seem that the report of Dr. Haines will have much bearing upon the questions involved in the Lamphere case, but the main issue, it strikes us, is the establishment beyond any possibility of contradiction that the much-found Mrs. Belle Guinness is dead."

LUTHER BURBANK OUTDONE.

Pennsylvania Farmers Produce Wonderful Crops.

Crop reports from over the state indicate that Pennsylvania farmers will accomplish some remarkable feats during the present year, if the rural correspondents of the Philadelphia papers are to be believed. Stories are coming in by the dozens regarding the products of Pennsylvania disciples of Luther Burbank, and in many instances the "plant wizard" of California is hopelessly distanced.

From Wilkes-Barre comes the remarkable story of a wise agriculturist who has perfected a succotash plant by crossing sugar corn with beans. The resulting plant is said to afford a remarkably fine quality of succotash.

Another Burbank, residing in Rising Sun, has taken the lemon tree, the soda bush and the rye plant, crossed them in a scientific manner, and produced a cross between a tree and a bush on which grows the finest quality of rye highballs.

Abraham Sell—the name it is hoped, has no special significance—is an Acorn farmer and has so improved his own private brand of corn that the stalks have been growing so rapidly that the noise they make resembles a battle. Several persons residing in the vicinity of Sell's field have been driven almost to distraction and threats were made to have Sell arrested for disturbing the peace, until he succeeded in perfecting a mechanical device which prevents the corn from growing at night, thus allowing the neighbors to sleep.

Less startling but equally wonderful is the story that comes from a truthful correspondent at Murphy's Cross Roads, where John Slavin has crossed the common Irish potato of commerce with the butter bean and thus produced a better potato. At Coatesville, it is reported that an investigating agriculturist has effected a cross between ordinary oats and the burning bush, thus growing oats already cooked. Next year he will attempt to graft the milk weed, to the end that the morning dish of cereal may be ready for eating.

Many other stories of remarkable agricultural and horticultural experiments have been sent to Philadelphia papers by rural reporters, but some of them appear to be slightly exaggerated and the careful news editors of the Quaker City will refrain from giving them publicity until the facts have been carefully ascertained.

For the first time in nearly 50 years there is no regular boat service on the Snake river between Lewiston and Raparia. The O. R. & N. boats have abandoned their schedule owing to the installation of the railroad service. Freight steamers will be in operation as soon as the wheat begins to move in any considerable quantities, but the day of the regular passenger service is passed.

City of Mexico, Aug. 5.—The sheath gown has been officially declared immoral and indecent by the censor of the Mexican postoffice department. The decision was made in regard to post cards bearing pictures of this style of gown, which was barred from the mails.

Factors of Safety

The human body is a wonderful machine, provided with muscular, nervous and mental energy far in excess of normal needs. In health, the organs and tissues can do double their usual amount of work without strain or friction, because they have stored energy to meet the extra demand.

When you feel "all tuckered out," these factors of safety are nearly exhausted and you need to resort to to renew the supply of energy, wherever it may be called for.

Indigestion, bilious attacks, constipation, loss of sleep, nervousness, dizzy spells, are warnings that the factor of safety in the stomach, liver, bowels or brain, is low, or nearing the danger point and needs to be replenished.

Beecham's Pills increase the supply of blood, strengthen the stomach, operate the bowels, feed the nerve cells, build tissue, and create a reserve supply of energy, which is the only natural and effective way to
