high. The night temperatures, as a rule, were normal, except in a few of the southwestern counties, where they were slightly below normal. The 29th, 30th and 31st were very warm days, and maximum temperatures of 100 degrees or higher were common everywhere in the valleys east of the Cascade mountains.

In the western counties, except near the coast, the maximum temperatures on those days ranged between 86 degrees and 93 degrees. The opening and closing days of the week were cooler and more favorable. At northern winds, varying in direction from northwest to north and northeast, according to the trend of the valleys in which they were experienced.

No rain has fallen during the week, and the period without rain has now lasted eighteen days in most counties, and in some localities much longer. In consequence of the dry weather brush and forest fires have started in a number of places and the atmosphere became slightly smoky on the 28th, and the smokiness has increased and spread until the close of the week when it was noticeable in nearly all districts.

Columbia River Valley.

Cascade Locks, Hood River county, Val. W. Tomkins—The weather during the week was clear and warm. Very strong westerly winds prevailed on Thursday and Friday. The highest temperature for the season was reached on the 30th, when the maximum reading was 93 degrees.

Hood River, Hood River county, H. L. Hasbrouck—Normal weather winds in the afternoons and generally clear skies, except the 28th, when there was light smoke in the lower atmosphere.

Wasco, Sherman county, J. R. Howell—West winds and moderate temperature prevailed during the week, except on Thursday and Friday, when it was much warmer, with east winds. No rain fell.

Condon, Gilliam county, S. C. Dodson—The weather has gradually grown warmer during the week. Drying northeast winds blew on Wednesday and Thursday, changing to northwest on Friday. It is becoming smoky.

Mikkalo, Gilliam county, J. F. Chandler—The week has been warm and dry, with clear skies and light to brisk winds alternating between northeast and west.

Heppner, Morrow county, George Whiteis—The week has been mostly clear and warm. The thermometer registered 100 degrees on Friday.

Hermiston, Umatilla county, C. W. Kellogg—Clear weather, prevailed all the week with rising temperature until the maximum of 107 degrees was reached on Friday. A sand storm prevailed all day Sunday. No rain fell.

Weston, Umatilla county, Maud M. Baker—The week was very hot and dusty. We are much in need of rain.

No nation was ever overthrown by its farmers. Chaldea and Egypt—Greece and Rome grew rotting and ripe for destruction, not in the fields, but in the narrow lanes and crowded city streets, and in the palaces of their nobility.—Gibbon.

If you see it in the East Oregonian, it's so.

Thresher Burned.

Smut in the grain again caused an explosion yesterday and the separator of the C. M. McKinney outfit is almost an entire loss as a consequence, says the Walla Walla Statesman.

The McKinney machine was threshing on the Greaney ranch on Dry creek when the accident occurred. The explosion was followed by fire, but the crew stayed with the machine, hitched the engine on and pulled it away from the grain, saving hundreds of dollars worth of wheat just threshed.

It is thought the machine can be repaired but it will be almost an entirely new one, as the whole inside of the separator was burned.

Child Saved by Little Brother.

While playing with the kitchen range at the family home, 11 miles north of Riverview, Wash., Tuesday, the 3-year-old son of Henry Melsmer was badly burned. His clothing caught fire and he started for the door, which was fastened. His little 7-year-old brother grabbed a pail of water and extinguished the flames, but not until the child was considerably burned.

Bert Shaughnessy, recently sentenced at North Yakima to the penitentiary for issuing bogus checks, has been identified by schoolmates as Roy Griffith, and he is said to have served a term in the Iowa reform school.

BORROWING MONEY BY WIRELESS TELEGRAPH.

To borrow money from a ship, a hundred miles away would have been an impossible feat a year or two ago, but now, thanks to Marconi, it is an easy matter, says the Review.

A young man, for instance, found himself aboard ship, homeward bound, his passage paid, but without money for incidental expenses and for landing. He knew that his mother was on an eastbound ship. The probable date and hour of the meeting of the two vessels being calculated, the purser of the eastbound ship was instructed to lay the unfortunate's case before his mother.

It took but a few minutes for her to place the money in the hands of her purser, who instructed the purser of the westbound liner to pay it to his passenger.

The dramatic rescue of 600 passengers from the American steamboat Providence, while she was within a few miles of the spot where the ill-fated General Slocum was burnt to the water's edge with a loss of 1000 lives, is credited to wireless telegraphy. Fire broke out in the main deck of the Providence just before dawn, while the steamboat was on her way to New York. The flames spread rapidly and smoke quickly filled the upper decks awakening the 600 passengers, many of them women and children.

The Richard Peck of New Haven, was two miles ahead. She was summoned by wireless telegraphy and was signaled to stand by. The two steamboats were soon brought together, gangways were run from boat to boat, and all the 600 passengers were transferred from the smoke-filled Providence without mishap.

A proposal of marriage has even been made by wireless telegraphy. A young New Yorker, who was very much in love with a Philadelphia woman, saw her off with her mother to Europe, from the former city. A Philadelphia man of good fortune and handsome, was going by the same boat, and was very attentive to her. The young New Yorker would have put her feelings for him to the test before the boat sailed, but her mother gave him no opportunity.

In an agony of apprehension lest the handsome Philadelphian should steal a march on him during the voyage, and carry off the prize, the young fellow sent a Marconiogram to the young lady, asking her if she would marry him on her return. He received an answer the same day, and it was one which gave him every satisfaction.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT MAY CRIPPLE COP FOR LIFE.

As the result of a gunshot wound in the left leg sustained through the accidental discharge of his revolver, last night, Patrolman C. H. King, one of the veteran members of the police department, may be permanently crippled, says the Portland Telegram.

King visited a public lavatory at Park and Davis streets shortly after 6 o'clock to adjust his pistol holster. Removing the revolver from the belt the policeman laid the weapon on a window ledge. The gun accidentally fell to the cement floor, striking on the hammer and a bullet was sent crashing into the bluecoat's leg.

Unable to walk, King called for assistance and Patrolmen Hirsch and Harms responded. The injured patrolman was placed in a buggy and driven to his home, 346 Jefferson street. Dr. Slocum was summoned and extracted the bullet. The leaden missile shattered a bone and the officer may be permanently incapacitated for duty.

AMUSEMENTS

Eagle Show Shop.

The Eagle Show Shop is offering some exceptional pictures today and tomorrow. Among them is "The Poor Officer," an extremely amusing sketch, "A Bothersome Husband," who is a holy show, "The Bashful Young Man" and "In the Government Service," an interesting and realistic sketch. The Show Shop continues to draw good crowds.

The Pastime.

At the Pastime an interesting bill is being given tonight and tomorrow. "The Two Orphans" is a pleasing attraction; "The Mother-in-Law Is Coming" is a comic sketch that is full of fun; "The Troubles of a Coon" and "The Step Mother" are both entertaining, and the song "So Long, Joe" is one of the best.

At the Dime.

The usual fine program is heard at the Dime this week. The change no today and tonight includes "Weary Waggles' Busy Day," "Bobby White in Wonderland," "Flying Machine June Bug" and the "Runaway Mother-in-Law." A new piano player has been secured, and the Dime continues to be a popular resort.

FOUR MORE LAND FRAUD INDICTMENTS DISMISSED.

Four additional indictments were dismissed late yesterday afternoon by Judge Wolverton at the request of T. C. Becker, special assistant attorney general, says the Telegram. This was indictment No. 4849, known as the "Los Angeles case," and involved the officers of the Pacific Furniture & Lumber company. Those against whom the indictments were dismissed were: Warren Gilleen, George L. Stearns, Robert W. Kenny and Jacob C. Cross. The company officials and their agents were indicted on a charge of trying to defraud the government of 9000 acres in Curry county.

Fred Hamilton, the well known Oregon athlete who was arrested recently in Portland in connection with sensational jewelry store robberies, has been pronounced insane and will be committed to the asylum.
