UMATILLA'S WHEAT HARVEST

DALE GLORY SHOWS ITS GOOD QUALITIES.

Umatilla County's Native Wheat Proves Its Staying Qualities Under Adverse Circumstances—Yield for County Little Less Than Normal—Light Soil Makes Best Comparative Showing.

Hyman H. Cohen, market editor of the Oregon Daily Journal, who has just been over the wheat district of the Inland Empire, writes to the Journal as follows of Umatilla county conditions:

A story of the wheat crop of the Pacific Northwest would be most incomplete without mention of the good growing qualities of the Dale Glory. In a year when every other grade of wheat showed material decrease in production from the normal, this wheat has come to the front and is now receiving the pious of the growers who have been fortunate enough to secure a sufficient supply to sow their fields.

Dale Glory wheat is a native of Umatilla county, and it is therefore showing proper respect for the place of its birth by producing almost a normal yield in the face of obstacles that would have burned most grades. Even with a general lack of rain since April the growers of this vicinity are reporting yield of 39 bushels to the acre on an average, although in normal seasons this product of the Umatilla fields has averaged close to 50 bushels to the acre.

Dale Glory originated in the fields of William Dale, who has a ranch north of Helix. The wheat came as a result of several varieties being crossed in Mr. Dale's field. That was eight years ago, and about two years later the originator of the new variety had secured a sufficient supply to enable him to distribute it among his neighbors, who are now loud in their praises of the new grain.

Resembling the red chaff to a considerable extent, only the Dale Glory is darker in color, it stands a protracted spell of dryness with little lessening of the quantity produced. The Dale Glory is not entirely a dry land wheat as the splendid returns from the harvest of a year ago showed it to be among the heaviest producers to be found in this section of the country.

Umatilla County Yield.

Umatilla county will produce this season, from present indications, between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 bushels of wheat, as compared with 6,000,000 bushels a year ago, and a normal output in late years of 4,500,000 bushels. It will be noted, therefore, that the season's yield is just about as much short of the normal as the production of 1907 was greater.

The smut is not nearly so bad as some had been led to believe, although the damage is somewhat greater than usual. A feature of interest in this connection is the fact that the lands which usually produced the best yields of wheat are not keeping up their lead over the lighter land sections, which this year are not running far below the normal output.

An instance of this is shown by the report coming from between Holman station on the O. R. & N., east of Vansycle on the Northern Pacific. This section is this year producing crops ranging from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre, while the normal output is not usually over 25 bushels.

Lands between Pendleton and Walla Walla which usually gives forth the best wheat yields are this year showing far greater losses than the lighter land sections, of which practically nothing was expected this season, when rain was so scarce that residents of Umatilla have really forgotten the name of their state.

FARM IMPLEMENTS IN INDIA.

Scheme to Cultivate a Model Farm With American Machinery.

Consul-General William H. Michael of Calcutta, reports that for two years he has been endeavoring to induce American manufacturers to open a model farm in British India to be exploited with American machinery, to which he now adds:

Attention was incidentally called to some classes of small machinery and implements of American make. The idea has been well received in India, many former reports on this subject having been copied by London newspapers, and many communications have been received from different parts of the Empire commending the scheme, the last communication being as follows:

"I would like to make an offer which may be profitable for this country as well as yours. If the American manufacturers of agricultural machinery, with whom you had some correspondence on the subject of opening an American model farm, will furnish enough machinery and implements required for farming 200 acres of land, we will raise a like amount here for the acquirement of land and cost of cultivation. Labor and produce are comparatively cheap here, and we feel sure the project would prove successful, and lead to the introduction of modern agricultural machinery and the adoption of modern methods in agriculture in India."

This offer, especially the spirit of it, ought to arrest the attention of some American agricultural implement manufacturer and lead to business.

AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

Athens was alive with visitors. A hundred thousand strangers were within her gates. One may imagine what a commotion that created in the ancient city.

At this time of year, in the late spring, there were always great crowds of people from all the world over, but now the fame of the Olympic games had perceptibly increased the usual number of tourists. People who other wise might have stayed a few weeks longer in Turkey, Egypt, Italy or the Holy Land, had hurried to Athens for the Olympic festival.

English and Americans were particularly prominent, the English men and women in over-heavy, loose fitting clothes, and the Americans eager, rushing everywhere, with seemingly inexhaustible supplies of energy—likewise of money. They had but to see a thing—a trinket, a relic, a bit of sculpture, to demand at once the price and immediately to buy. Of course many things were not to be bought, and they would ask, "Why not? way not?" impatiently. Many of them seemed not to understand that even an unlimited purse is not always potent. They were wearing now in their lapels little flags of their country, and whenever a group of them assembled they were challenging one another to wagers on the chances of this or that competitor in the games.—James B. Connell in Scribner's.

ASSESSORS UNDERPAID.

Wyoming Law Forbids Good Work, and Office "Goes Begging."

It has long been a maxim that there is never any trouble to get candidates to fill the offices, but an exception is likely to be seen this fall in the office of assessor of the different counties, due to the present state law relative to the recompense of the assessor, says the Cheyenne Tribune.

If the assessment is to be properly done, it is necessary for the assessor or his deputy to travel all over the county, visiting remote ranches, sizing up bunches of cattle and sheep and farm buildings, inspect records, inspect city and corporation property, and keep on the go almost continually.

For this service the late state legislature passed a law limiting the post of assessment in first-class counties to $2000. Of this, $1500 is the assessor's salary, and $500 may be expended for deputies, railroad fare, carriage hire, stationery, blanks and other expenses.

It is obvious that the amount allowed is far too small to pay for the assessment of so large a county as Laramie county, and the result is that the assessor must either make a slipshod, superficial assessment or else run behind.

Portland Boys on Walking Trip.

A party of about 15 men will start tonight for a walking trip to Crater lake and the Klamath region under the conduct of A. M. Griley, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., says the Oregon Daily Journal.

Leaving on the 7:45 train tonight, they will reach Medford tomorrow morning at 10:35, where they will be met by a committee from the Medford chamber of commerce and entertained while in the city, having a drive about that region in autos and a dinner. The camp wagons will leave for the camping ground and will strike camp while the party of vacationists takes autos to the first camping place. The rest of the journey will be made on foot, the men spending two or three days in the vicinity of Crater lake, and going thence to Klamath Falls, where they will again be entertained by the chamber of commerce. They expect to be back in Portland August 24.

THE AMOUNT OF YOUR "BELIEF IN ADVERTISING" WHICH IS PUT INTO TYPE IS WHAT COUNTS.

There is probably a clothing ad in today's paper that will remind you that your new suit is overdue. Meet the ad "face to face," and it will help you to meet the clothes problem that way.

If you have lived too long in one place, look at the furnished rooms advertised today—and get a change of scene.

It won't pay you to try to deal with a buyer who wants your property only half as much as "the right man" would want it. Any quest by which you can make a "new test" of want advertising today? Think it over.

Your store is NOT "big enough," or prosperous enough, unless your ambition and aspirations are under-sized.

There never was a day in any calendar when adequate advertising would do more for your store than it will today.
