RANGES TEEMING WITH FAT CATTLE

5000 HEAD ARE READY FOR MARKET.

Southern Umatilla and Northern Grant Turning Off Beef—59 Carloads Leave Pendleton This Week—Shipments Will Continue Each Week.

Five thousand head of fat cattle are now ready for the markets on the excellent ranges in the south part of Umatilla and northern Grant counties. Fifty-nine carloads will leave Pendleton this week for the various companies in the sound and in Portland. From now until winter sets in shipments will continue each week.

Last evening 19 cars were sent out over the Northern Pacific for Carsteen Brothers, Tacoma; tomorrow Nate Rains will send out 22 cars to the Frye-Bruhn company at Seattle and also tomorrow Carsteens will transfer 27 carloads from the O. R. & N. at this place, making a total of 59 cars to go out from this city this week to the Puget sound markets.

All of the cattle in southern Umatilla and Grant counties come out to market by way of Pendleton and cars have been ordered from both the O. R. & N. and the Northern Pacific for almost continuous shipments during the coming month. Stock are in fine condition and the prices are satisfactory and it is a successful year for the cattlemen.

vaults 49 per cent of the entire deposits. When it is considered that this is in the height of the harvest season so large an amount on hand is something remarkable. Notwithstanding this fact the deposits have increased $48,824 since May 14 last. The total amount of deposits in the bank is $289,974, while the cash on hand amounts to $149,009.

Auto Broke Down.
C. F. Moorhead of Portland, who travels for a roofing concern of Portland, had an unpleasant experience with his automobile last evening while coming into the city from the west. While coming over the hills west of the city his auto broke down and it was necessary for him to secure a team to pull the disabled machine into this city where repairs are being made today. It was his first accident in four months' travel in the northwest.

Kunkel Is Moving.
The Builder and Engineer of Seattle, in its trade notes, says of the new quarters of A. Kunkel, formerly of Pendleton, but now in the implement business in Spokane: Albert Kunkel, a well known dealer in farm and mill machinery, who has occupied an office at S121 Monroe street since he removed to Spokane, is moving into the new office and warehouse building that has just been finished on the Great Northern right of way at Jefferson street, North Side.

Home From the Mountains.
Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Rader and son Donald returned last evening from a two weeks' outing in the mountains of Grant county, their principal stay being on the John Day river. They went out by team and camped at will wherever they found a favorable spot and enjoyed a pleasant trip. They found huckleberries plentiful in the mountains of Grant county and picked about 40 quarts.

Comes from Illinois to Wed.
Florence May Grady and Henry N. Wiley were married Saturday night at the bridegroom's home, 5612 Howard street, by the Rev. Paul Little of Hay's park Methodist church, says the Spokesman-Review. The bride came to this city from Peoria, Ill., for the ceremony, arriving Saturday afternoon, to marry Mr. Wiley, who is a member of the real estate firm of Wiley & Wiley. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley will make their home here.

SOME FACTS ON THE WOOL QUESTION

of the largest buyers of Montana wool. We see that this wool buyer is using the result of the Oregon sale to convince the Montana flock masters, just before the season opens there, that their wool will not bring anything. The statement follows:

"I think the prices in Montana will range this season from 10 to 15 cents. There was recently sold in Oregon approximately 1,500,000 pounds of long staple wool, the kind produced in Montana, and it fetched from 6 to 13 1/2 cents. I was told that Joe King, the junior partner of Dewey, Gould & Co., has purchased the Sayle wool clip of 300,000 pounds at 13 cents at Billings."

Buyers Were Bears.
There can be no doubt but that the wool buyers early in the season tried to hammer down the price of wool, and had it not been for the effective combination of the wool growers of Montana, Wyoming and Utah they would have succeeded.

The Montana growers refused to sell at low prices. The Wyoming and Utah growers also refused, and immediately established an immense warehouse at Omaha, and when the wool buyer saw he could not obtain their fleeces without paying a fair price, the price at once advanced from 4 to 5 cents per pound.

In support of this we submit the following statement from the Wyoming Wool Growers' association:

"The state and national associations of wool growers advised the growers to hold their wool and not accept the offers of the buyers, and almost without exception this advice was heeded. The result was the buyers could not obtain wool at their own prices and were compelled to raise their offers to get wool."

We also submit the following, published by the Montana Wool Growers' association:

Same Tactics in Montana.
"When the large buyers invaded this market and published broadcast in the papers of the state the misleading information that Montana wool would only bring 10 to 15 cents per pound, we immediately sought to combat the impression sought by the wool buyers of cheap wool and so advised the sheepmen of the state through these columns and by means of this paper urged every wool grower of the state to be very careful of the very misleading information sought to be scattered through the state by representatives of the wool buyers, and the results have been made manifest.

"The very buyers who made the statement that our wool would bring but 10 to 15 cents, immediately offered up to 15 cents, and the price has been forced to over 18 cents, and in at least one instance we know of as high as 19 cents being paid.

"While we do not hold that this association forced the prices up, we flatter ourselves that the information given to the wool growers of the state through this association caused the great mass of the producers to hold off and thereby force the buyers to materially advance their prices."

Inconsistency.
While declaring in the main part of his interview that the Oregon sheepmen received all their wool worth, the Tribune informant admits in the following language one contention of the East Oregonian, namely, that the sales were held too early: "The fact is the sales here on the 28th of May were too early, since there was no established market at that time."

Regardless of the assertion of the Tribune wool grower, we are satisfied that 90 per cent of the wool growers of this county believe they did not receive within 4 cents of the market price of their wool. And if this Oregon flockmaster would look up the facts he would know Oregon wools are always worth within 2 to 2 1/2 cents as much as Montana wools.

New Soft Drink House.
John Heathman and Martin Anderson are opening a soft drink bar in the corner room of the Bowman building formerly occupied by the Oregon Wine & Liquor company. The work of arranging the place is now about finished and they will open the new resort soon. Both are experienced in this line and they have an excellent location for the business.

Returning to Germany.
H. Koepken of Oidenburg, Germany, who has been here since last January settling up the estate of J. L. Beckhusen, who committed suicide here by hanging himself in the ball park, will start on his return to the old country tonight. He will go by way of California and Kansas and expects to reach Germany by the first of the year.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM HOME

A. S. PAUL AND FAMILY

Residence and Dairy Equipment on S. R. Neil's Snake Valley Ranch, Burned While Occupants Are Away From Home—Not a Thing Saved—Loss Estimated at $2500.

The farm residence belonging to S. R. Neil in Snake valley, near Albee, was entirely consumed by fire Saturday evening and the contents belonging to A. S. Paul and family, who occupied the house were also totally destroyed.

Mr. Paul conducted a dairy on the Neil place and all of his dairy and creamery equipment was also destroyed. Nothing was saved, not even clothing, provisions or any part of the household goods as the family was absent in the mountains and Mr. Paul was attending a school meeting when the fire occurred.

The loss is estimated at about $2500 and falls heavily upon Mr. Paul, as he had practically all of his means invested in his dairy equipment and was left almost without resources. The Neil place is one of the best known in the south part of the county.

WEEK END AT WENAH.

Usual Crowd Spends Saturday and Sunday at the Springs.

The usual week-end crowd visited Wenaha Saturday and Sunday, some returning on the delayed No. 5 Monday morning, and others remaining for a little longer to enjoy the many attractions of this popular resort.

Three stageloads went in Saturday evening, besides a number of auto parties. The new bridges across the Umatilla river and Meacham creek, makes auto going easy.

Dudley Hall has a floor, the beautiful polish of which makes it second only to hardwood, and with an excellent musician at the piano dancing is irresistible.

The swimming pool is the favorite sport and is seldom without a crowd of devotees.

Sunday evening a large campfire illuminated the mountain sides and the guests of the hotel and camps gathered around for songs and stories.

Among those who have recently visited Wenaha are:

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Smalls of Walla Walla.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Taylor, all of Pendleton.

MRS. FOLSOM'S FUNERAL.

Large Number of Friends at Pilot Rock Attend Services Over Remains of Neighbor.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. William Folsom at Pilot Rock yesterday, where Mrs. Folsom had been reared from childhood. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles Quinney of the Church of the Redeemer of this city.

Mrs. Folsom was a native of the state of Missouri and was aged 42 years and 10 months. She came with her parents to Willamette valley when but a small child and when she was 12 years of age she moved with them to Pilot Rock where she was reared and where on June 14, 1886, she was married to William Folsom.

REAPS LAND VALUE IN BIG 1908 CROPS.

Walter Glasby Threshes Over 50 Bushels per Acre from 59 Acres of Farm.

Pullman, Wash., Aug. 11.—With wheat yielding from 25 to 50 bushels an acre and the price ranging from 75 to 80 cents a bushel, farmers in this part of the country are taking an optimistic view of the future. In the country tributary to Pullman it is estimated that 90 per cent of the wheat is of the winter varieties and that it will yield within 10 to 15 per cent as much as last year and fully equal the average of the last 10 years, while the price is higher than ever known at this time of year. There have been half a dozen times in the past 20 years when wheat reached 80 cents a bushel, and nearly all of these times came late in the season, when the bulk of the crop had been sold.

This year the price has reached this high plane before a bushel of wheat was ready for the market and the farmers are given the opportunity of selling all of their crops at a high price. The case of Walter Glasby, whose farm is near Armstrong siding, three miles northwest of here, is one of interest. Mr. Glasby has a farm estimated worth from $40 to $50 an acre. He threshed more than 50 bushels an acre of 40-fold wheat.
