Strip of Ownerless Land.

Just at the present time there is a strip of land located between two survey lines on the west side of Fort Hill Indian reservation, two miles long and two chains wide, or eight rods, which the government can not claim and which practically belongs to no one...

The department at Washington will have to take steps to establish a line of survey on this reservation which will be permanent. The allowing of this strip of land to become ownerless is one of the knotty problems which presents itself to the surveyor general's department of the Idaho district.

This particular strip of land in the Fort Hill reservation was cut off from the reservation owing to a mistake made by a deputy United States surveyor. Four surveys were run, and the third one caused the cutting off of the two-mile strip.

O. E. R. R. Files Map.

Once more the people of Southern Lake county are jubilant over the prospects of soon having a railroad, says the Klamath Republican. The Oregon Eastern railway has filed in the United States land office at Lake View a map of its right of way through that section of the country.

The line begins at New Pine creek, a point on the state line about 15 miles south of Lakeview, and runs north, passing through that town, and makes connection with the survey from Vale, in Malheur county, to Natron, in Lane county.

From New Pine creek the right of way runs south to Likely, where it connects with the N. C. O. railroad. The map of this right of way has been filed at the land office at Susanville, Cal.

It looks as if the N. C. O. would be extended to Lakeview, as a crew of men are now at work building the roadbed from Likely to Alturas, and the steel gang will start work on this extension at once.

from Lakeview, with strong indications that the line will extend into Oregon in the near future.

Walla Walla's Freak Stream.

Mill creek is one of the hardest streams to keep controlled that Walla Walla has to deal with and every freshet changes its course somewhat, says the Walla Walla Bulletin.

About 19 years ago the bridge was built over the stream. It is first-class and costly.

Then along came a freshet, and when the people went to use it they found the bridge away from the stream, which had shifted away from its gravel bed. The bridge was moved. Then this year came another little freshet and the stream switched around again, leaving the bridge high and dry.

Now the commissioners have decided to end all trouble and will have a bridge built that will span the whole creek. It will be at least 150 feet in length, but there is some satisfaction in knowing that the stream will stay underneath it.

When there is any quantity of water in the creek it can hardly be forded at this place, as the water gets too deep and the sides of the stream are too precipitous.

Inspecting New Road.

President A. J. Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, accompanied by H. R. Williams and A. M. Ingersoll, is expected to arrive in Tacoma this afternoon from an inspection trip of the company's new roadway, says the Yakima Republic.

Traveling in Mr. Earling's private car, the party has come west inspecting the new extensions of the road. In the eastern part of the state they left the car and proceeded in an automobile, inspecting the grade and the line being built into this state.

Special advice received Saturday evening stated that Mr. Earling's car had been forwarded to Ellensburg, where he and Messrs. Ingersoll and Williams were to arrive in an automobile. After spending some time in inspecting the work at Ellensburg they were due to arrive in Seattle this morning and in Tacoma probably this afternoon.

to hold the oil fields in reserve, this stipulation being aimed at attempts to start a monopoly.

The concessionaries will be bound to pay duty on the oil they produce. Hitherto the petroleum companies have, so the Nieuws van den Dag remarks, protested against a petroleum tax, but it is understood that the government means to make them pay the tax should they seek a foothold in Jambie, which they are almost sure to do.

JUTE-STRIPPING.

New Machine Patented in India for Decorticating the Fiber.

Consul General William H. Michael whiting from Calcutta says that a young engineer of Dalsing, Serai, India, has invented a machine which disposes of the wood in the stems of jute at the rate of 60,000 stems a day. A description of the mechanism follows:

The reported experiments show the stems thus treated are well cleaned and without loss or injury to the fiber. The machine is worked by a 2-horse powered engine and is light enough to be carried into the jute field where most convenient to be used.

The machine does away with the necessity of carrying the stems off the field, leaving only the ribbons to be removed. The stems can be used for engine fuel if desired. It is claimed that the ribbons will require much less water, much less time for retting (requiring but seven days) and the bark goes off without beating.

The inventor claims from actual tests that in treating jute his machine will diminish labor 70 per cent, that 75 per cent less water will be required and that about half the time will be required for retting as by the present process. One planter has placed an order for 15 of the machines to be delivered in July next. The machine will doubtless increase the production of jute in India.

THE AMOUNT OF YOUR "BELIEF IN ADVERTISING" WHICH IS PUT INTO TYPE IS WHAT COUNTS.

There is probably a clothing ad in today's paper that will remind you that your new suit is overdue. Meet the ad "face to face," and it will help you to meet the clothes problem that way.

If you have lived too long in one place, look at the furnished rooms advertised today—and get a change of scene.

It won't pay you to try to deal with a buyer who wants your property only half as much as "the right man" would want it.

Any quest by which you can make a "new test" of want advertising today? Think it over.

Your store is NOT "big enough," or prosperous enough, unless your ambition and aspirations are under-sized.

There never was a day in any calendar when adequate advertising would do more for your store than it will today.
