FRANCISCANS TAKE THE VOWS

THIRTY-THREE YOUNG WOMEN ENTER NEW LIFE

Chapel of Our Lady of Lourdes the scene of a beautiful Catholic service this week—twelve young girls take temporary vows in the Sisters of St. Francis and 21 take final vows and enter permanently into the religious life.

Putting the world behind them and accepting a life of devotion to religion and religious environment, 33 young women have this week taken vows in the sisterhood of St. Francis at the beautiful chapel of Our Lady of Lourdes, attached to the novitiate of the Sisters of St. Francis in this city.

Twelve young women who have been in the convent but a short time on probation took the temporary vows and entered on a trial period in the religious life, while 21 who have passed through the entire probationary period declared their intention to devote their lives for all time to the religious work of the sisterhood, took the final and permanent vows and are now in full fellowship in this large and influential sisterhood of the Catholic world.

These young women came here from the states of Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and Oregon to take the vows and Bishop C. J. O'Reilly of the eastern Oregon Catholic diocese officiated at the services. A large number of friends attended the beautiful service which is one of the most important in the life of the sisters.

The young women who entered the sisterhood will be assigned to work as teachers and nurses in different Franciscan institutions special deputy in the neighborhood of the Brittan home.

After watching in the neighborhood until well into the night, Liouallen was rewarded by finding his man in the East End saloon, the back end of which is in sight of the Brittan photograph studio. Breen was reading one of the afternoon papers containing an account of his doings during the day.

As usual, Breen is full of plausible stories as to why he did not get Cecil Brittan. He says that if the Brittans had waited Monday night until 8 o'clock they would have had their boy.

He claims that he took the boy to the camp and finding that the Brittans had gone home he left the child with a friend six miles from the Fletcher mill and came to town. He refused to give the name of the friend.

A heart-rending scene occurred at the county jail last night, when Mrs. Brittan reproached Breen for his duplicity.

Mr. Brittan has gone to La Grande for the purpose of instituting a suit in replevin to recover the horse Breen sold while on his former hunt for the child.

FOUND RICH GOLD ORE.

Will McKinley Exhibits Samples of Fine Harney County Quartz.

Will McKinley, bookkeeper for the Commercial National bank, has just returned from a two weeks' vacation in the wilds of Harney county where he formerly lived and he brought back with him some fine pieces of quartz.

The samples are from the big vein discovered on Gold gulch, 16 miles north of Burns, two months ago. The find was made by O. J. Darst and it is a four-foot vein. Samples of the ore have been sacked and shipped to Salt Lake for smelting. Three different assays have placed the value of the ore at $4500 per ton.

The Darst claim is but a mile and a half from the McKinley sawmill, owned by the father of the Pendleton man, and the latter says that all kinds of mining claims have been staked out since the vein was discovered in Gold gulch.

SMALL FIRES BREAK OUT.

Wind of Last Evening Fanned Ruins Into Flames.

About 8 o'clock last evening the central fire companies were called out to extinguish several small fires that had appeared amid the ruins of the Christian church. At the time a strong wind was blowing and it had fanned the smouldering embers into flame. One stream of water served to put out the new fires and thereby relieve neighboring householders of much anxiety.

Owing to delay in repairing the electric wires in the burned district the lights were not turned on in that portion of town last night. However, the current is now on.

Morrow County Prosperous.

A. W. Goodman of the Minor Mercantile company of Heppner has been in the city for a few days' visit and left last evening for Pomeroy for a brief visit. He says that although crops were short in parts of Morrow county, farmers are receiving higher prices and the amount of money distributed in the county will be about the same as usual. A good exhibit will be brought over for the district fair.

New O. R. & N. Agent at Pilot Rock.

C. S. Brockway of Grants station on the O. R. & N., has just been installed as new agent for the company at Pilot Rock and is now in charge of the office there. W. A. Monroe, who has been agent since the branch was completed to Pilot Rock, has returned to his home in the east. The change was made yesterday, Auditor H. F. Campton of the O. R. & N., checking the old agent out and the new one in.

Wheat Yielded 18 to 25 Bushels.

Hans Lorenzen is in the city this afternoon on a trading trip, having just finished his wheat harvesting after 30 days' successful run. His wheat yielded from 18 to 25 bushels without a drop of rain and he considers that his land is worth at least 25 per cent more this fall than ever before. He sold at a good price and so, received about as much money for his crop as last year.

Engine Broke Down.

Engine No. 199, which was pulling O. R. & N. train No. 6, eastbound, this morning was disabled near here and abandoned the train. A freight engine took the train to La Grande and the 199 was attached to a freight train for the east this afternoon.

TOM SMART TELLS CHICKEN STORY

Janitor Declares That the Heat of the Summer Caused Unused Eggs to Hatch Out a Brood of Chicks—Elks Seriously Doubt Mr. Smart's Story—However, Janitor Says He Found the Chickens Where the Eggs Were Left.

Here is a chicken story that is contradictory to established rules but that it is strictly true is vouched for by Tom Smart, the well-known citizen of East Court street. To Mr. Smart falls the work of looking after the Eagles building and this fact has a bearing on the story.

A month or more ago Tom had occasion to take a number of eggs to the hall and they were placed in a property room. Whether the eggs were for initiatory purposes or not makes no difference. Some of the eggs were never used and were left in the small paraphernalia room during the hot weather.

A day or two ago the janitor happened to open the door of this particular property room and to his immense surprise he saw that the eggs had hatched out in the meantime. The chicks after vainly trying to live in a room that contained nothing but the B. P. O. E. branding iron and other mysterious but non-edible articles, had formed themselves into a hollow square and lain down to die.

This is the substance of the tale that Tom Smart told last night to a bunch of astonished Elks just before their meeting.

"But, Tom," said one of the most skeptical, "that isn't reasonable. Eggs won't hatch out unless you keep turning them over."

"Won't they, though?" was the indignant answer. "That shows how much you know. I wish I had kept them for ye."

MUST READ AND WRITE.

Denver Judge Says Foreigners Must Understand Law.

A sensation was created in the federal court of Denver when Judge Lewis passed a new ruling, when throwing out half a dozen naturalization cases, in which he held that a foreign-born person must speak the English language before he can hold a clear title to a homestead.

"I cannot allow final papers to be given," said the court, "where the party seeking the same is unable to speak the English language. He cannot understand the laws of the country or any of the acts that go to prove his citizenship."

"He may have homesteaded upon land, but he must read and write English before he can secure his final papers and come before this court with a native born citizen who can swear he has known the subject for a period of five years."

The decision will result in invalidating many claims throughout this state, and it is claimed was made in accordance with the rulings from the naturalization office.

LIBRARY PLANS ACCEPTED.

Baker City Will Have a Carnegie Building by March 1, 1909.

After thorough investigation and weighing all matters in a deliberate manner, the city council at special session last night awarded contracts for the Carnegie library building as follows, says the Baker City Herald. Charles Baldwin was given the contract for construction for $19,958, and J. J. Gleeson received the contract for heating and plumbing at $2578.

According to agreement the building is to be ready for occupancy on March 1, 1909. Architects Wayland and Fennell of Boise, who are superintending, made few changes in the original plans for the library. It was possible, however, in the alterations, to save some of the cost enabling constructors to get within the appropriation.

On a 6000-Mile Jaunt.

Bright and cheery, in excellent physical condition and confident that they will easily win the $2500 wager offered them to walk 6000 miles in 160 days, two young men of Seattle, namely R. F. Hay and William Jackson, both Scottish-Americans, brickly walked into Boise this morning at about 8 o'clock from Nampa, where they had passed the evening, and made an informal call on Governor Gooding at the state capitol and after a pleasant chat with the chief executive, obtained his signature to the papers which they carry stating that they reached Boise, one point on their journey.—Boise Capital News.

DEER LASOED FROM BOAT.

Unique Capture by Steamboat Crew Near Portland.

Lassoed from the decks of a steamer after an exciting "chase" in the Columbia river not far from Rocky point this morning, a big buck deer was captured, hauled aboard the steamer America and brought to Portland, where eventually the animal of the woods will find himself an inhabitant of the corral at the City park, says the Oregon Daily Journal.

The deer had taken to the water in his efforts to get away from a pack of hounds which had located his trail in the hills early this morning, and had chased him for hours.

The master of the pack was on the river bank soon after the deer had taken to the water, and from there he witnessed the prize taken almost from his very grasp. He saw the deer lassoed by one of the deck hands of the America, and after considerable difficulty taken aboard the vessel. Then the disappointed hunter went back into the woods with his disappointed dogs to see if he could find another.

The deer was quite a way out in the water when his head and horns were seen by Captain Able who was at the wheel. He told Purser Laurence Holman of what he had seen and within a few minutes the "chase," without horses or dogs, was on in full force.

The deer soon saw that he was up against it. On the one bank were the dogs and the hunter. He tried to make the opposite shore. He swam for dear life. The deer was a good swimmer but the America out did him at every point in the river.

When within a few feet of the struggling animal the trusty deck-hand on the America appeared with a long rope and the deer was soon at the end of the string.

The deer is an unusually large one and has an exceptionally fine set of horns. He was not injured in the least and will be taken to the city park, his new home, this afternoon.

Decrease of Idaho Cattle.

A decrease in common cattle in Idaho amounting to 17,658 head is reported for 1908, says the Boise Capital News. The decrease in valuation aggregates $360,535. The total number reported from the 23 counties for 1908 is 198,960 as against 216,218 head for 1907.

A decrease in assessed valuation per head is noted, the reported assessed value last year being about $12 while for 1908 it is approximately $10. The assessed value of common cattle as equalized by the state board of equalization last year was $11 per head for all counties of the state.
