MORROW COUNTY MAKES PROGRESS

NEW FARMING METHODS ARE ADOPTED

Heppner Times Reviews Agricultural Needs of the County in a Comprehensive Manner—Forty-fold Wheat Is Taking Place of Other Varieties.

The Heppner Times Reviews the agricultural outlook of Morrow county in the following sensible and optimistic manner. The hint to Morrow county farmers will also apply to Umatilla county and the East Oregonian takes pleasure in republishing the article as follows:

Just as soon as harvesting and threshing is over the seeding of summer-fallowed ground will begin, and here lies a work of vast importance to the farmer.

If he hasn't plowed deep in the spring, while the soil was full of life, and if he hasn't harrowed it well and kept the weeds down, the chances for a bumper crop at this time next year will not be flattering, to say the least.

Spring sowing of wheat in Morrow county is simply wasted effort and should be abandoned entirely, and again the farmer reaps as he has sown. If the seed is properly fanned and vitrolized the smut will not be apt to cause the burning of the threshing machines next season.

Club Wheat Passes Out.

The more successful farmers of Morrow county are becoming convinced that little club wheat has just about outlived its usefulness in this part of the state and they are sure they have found a worthy successor in Forty-fold wheat.

This is practically a new grain in this country, but several enterprising farmers have been testing it during the past couple of years and now the majority of the wheat growers are satisfied that 40-fold has come to completely revolutionize the wheat industry of this country.

Numerous farmers found last year that their 40-fold outyielded their club wheat several bushels to the acre. Theodore Anderson, of Eight Mile, got 42 1/2 bushels to the acre of this new grain and last year he sowed it in all his summer fallow ground. Dr. N. E. Winnard, one of the most extensive wheat raisers in the Heppner country, is an enthusiastic advocate of the 40-fold wheat. This summer (the season of very short crops) he has just reaped 12 bushels to the acre of club wheat, which he sold at 7 1/2 cents per bushel and 20 bushels to the acre of 40-fold wheat which he sold at 78 1/2 cents per bushel. Both were sown in the same field, at the same time and under exactly similar conditions.

Forty Fold More Profitable.

The 40-fold commands a better price than the club, in fact about the same price as blue stem, and yields much heavier than either of the old varieties. Blue stem has never yielded as heavy as the club, but has brought from two to four cents more to the bushel, but in the 40-fold we find a variety that combines the best qualities of the two old kinds of grain.

The only objection we have heard offered against 40-fold wheat is that it shatters pretty badly, and must be cut when it is ripe or considerable waste will ensue. Those who have tested the relative qualities of the two grains claim that should the 40-fold shatter out even five or six bushels to the acre it would still beat little club or blue stem.

The Times believes that this new variety of wheat will be universally adopted by the farmers of Morrow county and that club wheat will be abandoned almost entirely in time. The latter has run itself out in this country as is characteristic of nearly all kinds of cereals throughout the world from time to time.

When this 40-fold grain is adopted by all our farmers and the summer-fallow ground is prepared according to scientific principles (plow deep and early, harrow often during the summer and above all keep the weeds down) Morrow county should easily produce from 25 to 60 bushels of wheat right along and good wheat land ought to be worth from $25 to $60 per acre. We believe a brilliant future awaits the wheat growers of this highly favored agricultural section.

Club Notes

Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, editor of the Woman's page of the Oregon Sunday Journal, and one of the most active club women of the state, says of the coming meeting of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs at La Grande, which many members of Pendleton's progressive clubs will attend: La Grande will be the place of meeting for the next convention of the Oregon Federation of Woman's clubs. The exact date has not been determined, but it will be between the first and 10th of November.

This was decided at the meeting of the executive board, which was held at Portland last week. It was a most interesting meeting, with more members in attendance than at any meeting since the convention last fall. The principal matters under consideration were the coming convention at a Grande and the headquarters which are to be maintained at the state fair this year.

Only Committee Work.

It was unanimously decided that only such lines of thought as were suggested by the various committees of the state and national federation should be taken up.

The time for programs, for entertainment only has passed. Under this arrangement an hour, with an authoritative speaker, will be given to the industrial conditions of women and children in Oregon. Another hour will be given to the consideration of good citizenship, while an entire evening will be devoted to the subject of public health. It is the intention upon this evening to have several speakers of prominence, and the lectures illustrated with stereopticon views.

It is hoped, with some assurance of realization, that Mrs. Moore, the new president of the General Federation, may be present. If Mrs. Moore comes the rest of the program will be arranged so that she may have as much time as possible to give to the meeting.

Will Be Badged.

Badges are always an item of considerable expense to an organization, and the suggestion was made at the board meeting that this year the club-women should content themselves with bows of club-color ribbons. But the suggestion fell flat. Every town that entertains wants a souvenir badge and then the women have worked out so many ingenious ways of preserving them that they must have them, so it was decided to have them, and La Grande will be asked to suggest a design.

Good Attendance Urged.

It will be three years since the state federation held a convention in eastern Oregon, where it has some of its largest clubs, and it is believed that this will be a well attended meeting, but to make sure of it the board urges that every club not only send its quota of delegates, but that many of the members who are not delegates attend. Perhaps half of the thousands who attended the Boston convention were not delegates.

When great programs are arranged—and La Grande will have a great program—two or three members out of a club are not enough if any material benefit is to be gained, and it should be a duty of every club woman whether delegate or not, to go if possible. A general invitation will be extended when the call for the meeting is sent out, but it is none too soon for club women to begin to think about and plan for going.

Excellent Health Advice.

Mrs. M. M. Davidson, of No. 379 Gifford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says: "The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy, for headache, biliousness and torpor of the liver and bowels is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under guarantee at Tallman & Co.'s drug store. 50 c.

HOW THE TOWN OF LA GRANDE RECEIVED NAME

A few days ago the La Grande Observer "put it up to" Commissioner Brown to inform its readers where the city got its name. The following communication tells:

Island City, Aug. 22.—(To the Editor.)—You asked me to answer how La Grande received its name. I will do the best I can. It is nearly 48 years ago. I cannot refer to the diary you speak of which I kept all through the winter of '61 and '62, as I quit in the spring of '62 for I had too much other business.

I kept a hotel, store, saloon, butcher-shop, livery and feed stable, sold oats at 15 cents a pound, sheaf oats at 50 cents a sheaf; meals were $1 each and beds or rather rooms, 50 cents. Patrons had to furnish their own blankets when crowded, as our patrons varied from one to 60 per day.

The way La Grande received its name was by calling a mass meeting for the purpose of naming the town. It had been called by the names of Brownville, Brownstone, etc.

After the meeting was called to order I was elected chairman, being the first time I had ever held the position. You can judge how near we came to following parliamentary rules. Several names were suggested, a man named Dorse—some kind of a Frenchman—suggested the name of La Grande.

After some discussion a vote was taken, "La Grande" receiving the highest number of votes. That is how the city received its name. I remember Mr. Dorse gave us quite a talk on the subject, why it should be named La Grande, that word La Grande meant something beautiful. I can find no one that was at this mass meeting. They have all left or passed to the unknown realms. BEN BROWN.

RAILROAD UP SNAKE TO COAL DEPOSITS.

The announcement of the Idaho Railway & Navigation company's plans to construct a railroad up the Snake river on the Idaho side has aroused much interest, says the Lewiston Teller. While it is generally conceded the I. R. & N. is backed by one of the big transportation lines, several theories have been offered.

The most popular theory appears to be the Chicago & Northwestern connection, which would secure to Lewiston a third railroad system, but it has been suggested the I. R. & N. company is a promotion of the Hill roads and is being extended into the Grand Ronde coal district for the purpose of gaining control of the supply of coal of the inland empire.

This theory is supported by the statement that during the exploitation of the Grand Ronde coal district an expert named Tate was sent into that section by James J. Hill and made a most favorable report of the findings.

The list of the officers of the new incorporation includes the name of S. L. Tate, said to be the man whom J. J. Hill sent to examine the coal deposits.

Reports received in the city today from the Grand Ronde section are to the effect that much development work on the coal properties has been carried on in a quiet way and that large deposits of fine coal have been exposed.

MORE ARMED GUARDS FOR OVERLAND TRAINS.

Cheyenne, Aug. 24.—Taking warning from the attempt to rob a Northern Pacific railroad train, the Union Pacific secret service guards under direction of Chief Kellner, have been greatly increased, and all passenger and mail trains will be more carefully protected than for some time past.

It is frequently noticed that efforts to rob trains in one section of the country are followed by similar attempts elsewhere, and it is to offset this contingency that the guards are being increased.

All of the guards are men of courage, accurate marksmanship and men of endurance and physical strength, and are heavily armed with the most up to date types of firearms, from the sawed-off automatic shotgun to the smokeless Winchester, which can carry a bullet accurately further than the ordinary eye can aim.
