EXPRESS COMPANY PROTESTS TAXES

WELLS FARGO COMPANY WONT PAY LANE COUNTY.

Suit Filed Against Sheriff to Prevent Collection of Taxes as Assessed Against the Company by Lane County Assessor—Company Claims That it Has No Transportation Rights Not Already Assessed to the Southern Pacific Railroad.

The Wells-Fargo Express company will resist the payment of the tax as levied by Assessor Keeney of Lane county, against the company's rights and privileges on the Southern Pacific company's railway lines in Lane county for 1907 says the Eugene Guard.

A suit has been instituted in the circuit court, seeking to enjoin the county from collecting the tax.

The complaint, as filed this morning by the attorneys for the company, Snow & McCamant of Portland, is in substance as follows:

That in said assessment for the year 1907 the assessor of Lane county assessed the property of the plaintiff therein as follows: Transportation rights and privileges over 75.90 miles at $200, $15,180; personal property, $75; total, $15,155.

That said pretended assessment as aforesaid was transferred to the tax roll of Lane county for 1907 and a tax levied against the plaintiff in the sum of $231.40, of which $2.25 was a tax on personal property of the plaintiff, assessed at $75, and $229.21 was a tax levied upon the alleged transportation rights and privileges.

That it was the intention of the assessor in levying the assessment of $15,180 aforesaid to assess to the plaintiff the railway lines of the Oregon & California Railroad company and all other railway lines in the county operated by the Southern Pacific company.

That plaintiff has no interest whatsoever in said railway lines or in any railway lines in Lane county. That the railway lines were likewise assessed at such a sum as the assessor believed to be their value.

That the assessment included the value of the railway lines for all purposes, including their usefulness for transportation of express matter. The plaintiff avers that the assessor has no authority and no power to levy a second assessment on the railway properties against the plaintiff, or any one else whatsoever; that plaintiff has no connection with the Oregon & California Railroad company, or with the Southern Pacific company except that the plaintiff ships goods over the railway lines.

FAKE DAIRY INSPECTOR ROBBED THE FARMER.

One of the latest types of swindle that has been perpetrated on some of the unsuspecting farmers of a western locality was worked this wise. There has been a good deal of talk about bovine tuberculosis in the state in question, and, taking their cue from this, two fellows joined hands to fleece the dairymen of the section.

One well dressed, wearing glasses and having a professional and learned bearing, went through a neighborhood inspecting the dairy cows, representing himself to be a state dairy inspector.

In one instance when he ran across a good looking herd of cows he condemned a dozen animals as afflicted with tuberculosis, but he told the farmer in leaving not to say anything about it, but to sell them for whatever he could get for shipment out of the state.

Two or three days after this fakir No. 2, informed on the quiet of what had been done, came along to the farmer's place and asked if he had any cows for sale. The farmer explained matters and thought himself lucky to get $20 a head for the supposedly diseased cattle.

When he learned a few days later that the whole business was a fake pure and simple, the dictionary was inadequate to furnish words to express his feelings. Whether the victim of the game has recovered his property or not has not been learned.

It is a pretty good thing to give the good looking, glib talking stranger a mild berth unless his identity can be established beyond a doubt.

Attracted by the sights of the fair, the agreeable summer weather, the low railroad rates that will be granted and the wonderful surrounding country, many associations have decided to hold their 1909 meetings at the exposition. Director of Exploitation Henry E. Reed is kept busy sending information to the different bodies who desire to come and assurances he has had from the different ones makes a large list of conventions a certainty.

RUSSIANS EXPLORING IN ALEUTIAN ISLANDS

An expedition similar to those early exploratory voyages to Alaska financed by the rich Russian merchant expeditions which resulted in the discovery of the resources of Alaska and the foundation of Russian colonies there, has reached Attu, in the Aleutian islands.

A letter from Unalaska tells of the arrival of a schooner carrying one of the best equipped scientific expeditions that has worked in the North Pacific.

The schooner, which set out from Vladivostok in April last and has visited Kamchatka and the Kurile islands, carries eighteen scientists, whose expenses of nearly $100,000 are being paid by M. Riabushinsky, a millionaire merchant of Moscow.

The expedition contains a celebrated Russian ethnographer, who is making a special study of the natives of Kamchatka and of the Aleutian and Kurile islands.

There is also a meteorologist, who established three stations in Kamchatka and who proposes to establish others in the Aleutian group. There are also experts botanists, geographers, zoologists and geologists.

PROGRESS OF WORK ON THE SEATTLE EXPOSITION BUILDINGS

Seattle, Aug. 28.—Six buildings finished and six more nearing completion is the record made by the management of the Alaska-Youkon-Pacific exposition nine months before opening day. All of the grading of the avenues, circles, plazas and courts has been completed for some time, while the other work on the grounds is about 80 per cent finished.

The structures finished are: Agriculture, Manufactures, Machinery, Administration, Fire Station and Hospital. Those that will be completed within a few weeks and the estimates of their progress are as follows: Oregon, 90 per cent; California, 25 per cent; Mines, 80 per cent; Fisheries, 30 per cent; Auditorium, 80 per cent; Fine Arts, 20 per cent. Many more buildings will be started at once, namely, Washington, Foreign, Forestry, Machinery Annex, Transportation, Missouri and New York. The group of six United States government buildings will be begun this fall and rushed toward completion.

One of the biggest days the exposition will have is now being planned. It is to be called "Discovery Day," and will fall on Monday, August 16, 1909. On that date the 13th anniversary of the discovery of gold in Klondike by George Carmack in 1896, will be celebrated. The story of how Carmack, who now resides in Seattle, dug out a handful of gold nuggets, staked out a discovery claim, and traveled to Circle City to tell the news; of how only five persons remained in that camp after the glad tidings were brought in, is well known to northerners of the early days.

On the "Pay Streak." Managers of concessions on the Pay Streak, the amusement thoroughfare of the exposition, are now busily engaged in construction work on their buildings. Several structures are being put up and many more will be started before fall. The Pay Streak will be more than a mile in length and will be lined on both sides by costly buildings to house the new and interesting attractions that have been secured.

There will be about 30 features of the Pay Streak to amuse the visitors to the 1909 fair. Among those arranged for at the present time by Director of Concessions A. W. Lewis are the following: Burning of Prairie Belle, Virginia Reel, wreck of the Corsair, Night and Resurrection, Helter Skelter, Trip to the Moon, Temple of Mirth, Velvet Coaster, Trip to Hood's Canal, Fighting the Flames, Princess Trixie, Igorrote village, Jardin du Paris, Scenic railway, shoot the chutes, Monitor and Merrimac trip to the north pole, Eskimo village, infant incubators, oriental village, creation, placer mining, Spanish theater, Chinese theater. In addition there will be a wild animal show and several more illusions.

Applications for exhibit space continue to pour in and Director of Exhibits Henry E. Dosch is enabled to carry out his plan to have only moving displays showing processes in every classification possible.

Good Yield in Union County.
Tom Johnson came over from his Cove farm yesterday, says a La Grande item. He is in high spirits over the way his grain is turning out. The job of threshing at his place was completed yesterday. From a field of 33 acres of red chaff wheat there was a yield of 808 sacks, which average 140 pounds to the sack. This is a total of 1885 bushels or an average of over 57 bushels to the acre.

Will Annie and Helle please "go away back and sit down," now? There is a whole lot of something else doing. If they must have a spot light they can bottle a lightning bug in the woods.
