

UNIVERSITY IS READY FOR WORK

NEW APPARATUS AND EQUIPMENT IS ADDED

Library Enlarged by the Addition of $10,000 Worth of Books and Many Valuable Fixtures for the Laboratory—New Student Club Houses Have Been Erected and New Departments Have Been Installed.

Eugene, Ore., Aug. 29.—The work of the University of Oregon during the coming year will be the strongest in the history of the institution, due to the fact that the working tools of the university, books, apparatus, etc., have been much bettered during the summer.

The library has been greatly strengthened by the addition of $10,000 worth of new books and much new apparatus has been ordered for all departments. The biological laboratory has been almost completely remodeled and many improvements have been made in the physics laboratory.

Many of the buildings have been renovated and the new library building which was wholly without lights, and but scantily furnished last year, is being completely equipped with electric lights and new furniture. Hereafter the general reading rooms will be kept open until 9 o'clock in the evening.

A number of new instructors have been added, notably a professor of geology, a chair that had been vacant since the death of Dr. Condon, a professor of political science, and assistant professor of psychology, an assistant professor of education, a new head librarian and a number of instructors in departments that have been badly crowded.

Work on a new recitation building to relieve the over-crowded condition of the other buildings is being pushed, and it is hoped to have it ready for use soon after the opening of the session. The girls' dormitory has been completed and furnished. A number of new student club houses have been erected during the summer. The work of improving the campus is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

The number of students will probably be from a third to a half greater than last year. Application for admission are coming to the registrar rapidly, and the number on life is much larger than usual at this time. The freshman class will number

LOW WATER IN RIVER ASSISTS IN DAM WORK

Taking advantage of the exceptionally low water conditions, construction on the government dam in the canyon of the Boise river about 10 miles above Boise river about 10 miles above Boise has been pushed rapidly along during the past two months, the river being diverted through the sluice gate while the massive concrete and stone wall on the north side of the dam has been connected with the bank, says the Boise Capital News.

The form for the solid concrete wall which will be anchored in bed rock on the north bank of the river is in place and is gradually being filled with large stones and concrete. To the south of this form the gap in the massive structure where the raging river poured through with a swiftness that apparently defied control during the spring, has been spanned with solid concrete masonry since the diversion of the waters to the south side of the canyon through the sluice gate.

The construction has advanced to that stage where a large body of water may be impounded in the natural reservoir formed by the walls of the canyon extending several miles above the dam.

SHEEP POISONED BY CHOKE CHERRIES

A number of sheep were recently poisoned from eating choke cherry leaves, while passing over a driveway across the forest, and though sheep driveways are not a part of the national forest range, the government has taken steps to prevent further losses to the sheep men from this cause, says a bulletin.

Forest officers are to cooperate with the stockmen in cutting out the choke cherry thickets and in some instances the trail will be changed so as to avoid them.

When the sheep enter the driveway they are hungry after a long trip over public highways, which form almost one continuous lane between cultivated fields, and eat the choke cherry leaves ravenously, though under ordinary conditions they would hardly touch them.

The leaves contain prussic acid and when an examination was made of the stomachs of several dead sheep and they were found filled with leaves the cause of death was clearly established.

Stockmen throughout the west are coming more fully to realize the benefits of government corporation and range has deteriorated under unrestricted use, and the government is making investigations with a view to re-seeding with better grass and to detect and eradicate all poisonous plants.

Eight Carloads of Pears.

The Rogue River Valley Fruitgrowers' union shipped two carloads of Bartlett pears yesterday, says the Medford Tribune. J. A. Perry, manager of the union, has sent eight carloads of pears to eastern markets thus far this season, and will probably ship two more this week, which will practically clean up the union's Bartlets.

HOP CROP NOT TO BE HARVESTED

YAKIMA FARMERS MAY NOT PICK FIELDS

Thousands of Acres Will Perhaps be Left on the Vines—Only Offer So Far Is Seven Cents Per Pound—Only 75 Cents Per 100 Pounds for Picking.

In the state of Washington where beer is still manufactured in over 300 breweries, it is doubtful if the hop crop is gathered this year. In the Yakima valley where several thousand acres of hops are cultivated, farmers are seriously considering the matter of allowing the crop to remain on the vines.

If this condition prevailed in prohibition territory the brewers would have many reasons to give for the unprofitableness of the crop, but as Washington is a wet state no reasons have been assigned. The Yakima Republic says of the matter:

Hop growers of the Yakima valley have to determine within the next week or 10 days whether they will pick this season's crop. The outlook at present is a poor one all along the line and the hop industry, which in the past has been a big thing for Yakima, is at present enjoying dreary prospects.

Instead of 2200 acres being under cultivation in this valley this year as was the case last year, there are 1600 acres which have been brought to the picking point. This means that the community has lost the benefit of the money which would otherwise have been expended in cultivation, or at least a portion of it. Some of it has been expended in other channels.

No Inducement to Harvest.

The 1600 acres cultivate having brought their crop about up to the picking stage, and by the way, the crop is said to be generally excellent and at least an average, if not better, there is now no inducement to harvest. The best price offered here, which is the only offer, the grower will not more than get his money back. The sentiment is all knocked out of the owners of hop yards.

Nothing more will be done along that line and there will be no harvesting of the crop because of recollections of what has been produced in the way of a return in the past. Last year took the crimp out of most of the bunch and this year has ended the treatment.

Lower Prices for Picking.

Prices paid for picking this year will not be what they have been in other seasons. Last year the price was $1 a box, and a box was presumed to weigh about 85 pounds of hops. This year the price will be 75 cents a box and each box will contain 100 pounds of hops before the ticket is issued.

There will be no picking in a great many yards unless something unusual happens between this and about September 16. There is no money available for the purpose. The banks have got beyond the point when they will advance it, which is in marked contrast with their attitude in times past. The growers for the most part have not the ready money to put to the purpose and the dealers are the last resort.

REPUBLICANS ARE DEFIED BY WOMEN

CALIFORNIA CONVENTION STIRRED UP A FIGHT

Delegates Gave Women a Vote of Thanks for Their "Presence" But the Women Refused to Accept It, Saying They Were Not to Be Put Off With Thanks—They Want the Right to Vote.

Oakland, Aug. 29.—The suffragettes of California hurled defiance at the delegates of the republican state convention by refusing to accept a rising vote of thanks tendered them as consolation.

The business of the convention was finished at noon and the delegates were ready to adjourn when Frank Dominguez of Los Angeles moved to extend thanks to the suffragettes, "who inspired the delegates to acts of higher statesmanship by their presence."

The delegates stood up, doffed their hats and cheered the women. Mrs. Agnes Pease of Denver, clinching her fists walked down the aisle, shouting, "Mr. Chairman, the women refuse to accept the thanks of this convention. You need not think you can pass us off with thanks; we are not here to please the men. We are here to get the right to take part in the government. We will not give up this fight."

The convention then adjourned.

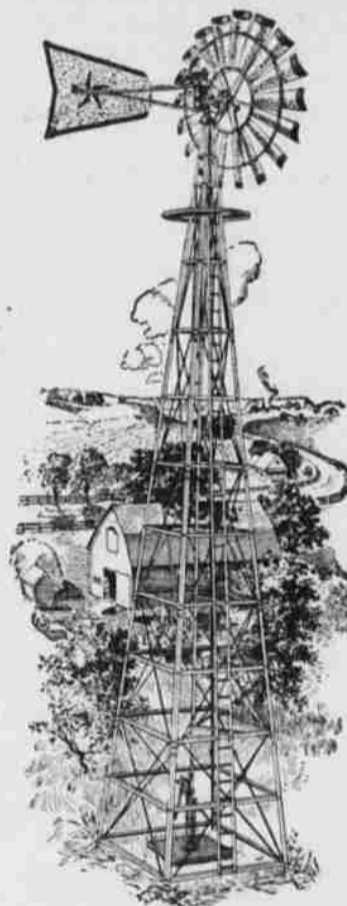

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold. A. S. Nesbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which only seemed to aggravate it. Fortunately, I insisted upon having Eoley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success. Pendleton Drug Company."
