

MEANS BROTHERS ARE WELCOMED

PENDLETON BOYS EXPECTED TO MAKE VARSITY TEAM.

Freshmen Expected to Strengthen Oregon's Force Greatly—Clifton McArthur Writes of Football Prospects—Exceptional Coaches for Oregon and Strong New Timber Will Make Up Loss of Old Guard—Rivalry With Agricultural School.

Lester and Arthur Means are looked to to make good with the Oregon University football team this fall, according to prominent enthusiasts who have followed the game and who declare that the past performances of the boys together with their excellent physiques, make the prediction probable.

Oregon's outlook, on the whole, is very rosy according to C. N. McArthur, who must spare enough time from his duties as secretary of the republican state committee to serve as graduate manager of athletics in the university. Mr. McArthur writes commenting on the conditions, as follows:

College football will be in full swing at the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural college when the institutions open their doors next week.

The rivalry between these teams dates back to the year 1894, when football was first played in Oregon. The Aggies won the championship that year and again in 1897, but for 10 years afterward they never scored a victory over their Oregon rivals.

To say that there will be keen rivalry between the two big schools during the coming season does not half express the situation. Oregon will make a hard fight to regain her lost honors and Oregon Agricultural college will struggle to maintain her lead.

Each team will be coached by men of national reputation. Forbes, the great Yale end, who won a place on the All-American eleven for two successive years and who coached West Point last season, will guide the destinies of the Oregon eleven. He will be assisted by Olen Arnsperger, Oregon's veteran tackle, as well as by Jack Owsley and Foster H. Rockwell, former New Haven stars, who are located on the coast.

Both Owsley and Rockwell will spend two weeks at Eugene. Besides these famous Yale stars Oregon will send for a number of her own veterans at different stages of the season. Such men as Chandler, Latourette, Hug, McClain and McKinley will return to assist the head coach whenever their services are demanded. In view of these conditions the prediction is freely made that Oregon will have the best coaching staff in the northwest this year.

The Oregon team has lost, by one cause and another, seven veterans of last season. The old players who will be on hand next Monday are Fred C. Moullen, captain and left guard; Louis A. Pinkham, left tackle; Curtis Coleman, right end, and Dudley R. Clark, fullback. A number of the best substitutes and second team men of last season will turn out again, conspicuous among them being Swock, Voigt, Dodson, Halley, Hays, Hildeburn, Woods and Grout. Giles, the big freshman guard of 1906, will return to college after a year's absence and will make a strong bid for a line position.

Game for Freshmen.
Oregon's greatest hope, however, lies in her splendid supply of freshman material and in the ability of the coaches to whip the material into shape. Assistant Coach Arnsperger will devote his time to the freshmen team, for which three games have been scheduled. There will be two early season matches with high school eleven and on October 31 the freshmen will try conclusions with the O. A. C. freshmen at Corvallis. This will be the first intercollegiate freshman match ever played in the northwest, and its outcome will be watched with great interest. Several of Oregon's best freshmen will make the varsity squad, but there will be enough good men left for the baby team.

Among the most promising freshmen who will enter the university this fall are Lester and Arthur Means of Pendleton, who are without question varsity possibilities.

VOTING IS DUTY OF GOOD CHRISTIANS

New York, Sept. 20.—Churchgoers should regard the exercise of the franchise as a religious function and should vote in accordance with religious precepts on every matter involving a moral question either in the issues at stake or in the personality of the candidates, declares the Rev. Charles F. Aked in the October number of Appleton's magazine. Dr. Aked is pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, of which Governor Hughes is a member. Further than this, he asserts it is just as much the duty of a church member to attend ward meetings and to vote at the primaries as it is to take part in the affairs of his church or to cast a ballot in the election of a pastor.

According to Dr. Aked the proposition of regular church attendants who frequently say away from the polls on election day and who seldom or never take part in primaries or local meetings for the election of delegates to conventions is larger than among any other class. These delinquents, he holds, are as much responsible for corrupt conditions of government or the election of unworthy men to public offices as are the heelers who buy votes to accomplish this result or the bar room hangers-on who sell their ballots.

"The abuses that have arisen in the past," says the Appleton article, "from the interference of the church in politics have been due to the fact that religion was made political instead of politics being made religious. Except under circumstances of extraordinary moral pressure the churches as churches cannot enter the arena of party politics. The church cannot become a caucus. Only the projection of a supreme moral issue can warrant a clergyman in publicly taking a position as a party man. He may be permitted in his own heart to pray for a party—if he is satisfied that it is not past praying for. But the church can and should undertake a more important function—one that underlies all and government. The church cannot compete in this day and generation. It cannot inspire it is because it is no longer inspired and a church without inspiration is a corpse which people with decent regard to health should bury. The church must teach that a Christian can no more neglect the plain duties of citizenship than he can neglect to pay his debts. The religious man who stands idly by and sees American politics made a byword for dishonesty is neither religious nor a man."

National City Controllers.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—Accounting officers of the principal cities of the country form the membership of the National Association of City Controllers and Accountants, which convened in annual session here today. Formal papers and addresses will occupy today and tomorrow, in which the delegate will discuss the intricate problems of city bookkeeping and accounting and exchange ideas for the simplification of the work in order to show taxpayers just what becomes of their money. Following the convention, the visitors will go on an excursion to the Mammoth cave.

To Improve Upper Mississippi.

Clinton, Ia., Sept. 22.—To render the upper portion of the Father of Waters a great commercial artery is the purpose of the Upper Mississippi Improvement association, which opened its annual meeting here today. Delegations are here from many cities and states. The proposed lake-to-the-gulf waterway project is one of the important subjects on the program. The present meeting is considered of especial importance, inasmuch as it precedes the national election and the session of congress in December.

Military Carnival.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 22.—In connection with the military carnival in progress here this week, in which thousands of regular troops are participating, an athletic championship meet will be held during the next four nights, beginning this evening. The boxing championship of the department of Missouri, U. S. army, will be decided, and wrestling bouts and other contests are scheduled. Several prominent professional fighters will attend and give exhibitions of their skill with the gloves.

Saloon Men Meet.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 22.—Delegates representing the 7000 members of the Indian Knights of Fidelity, an organization of saloon men and liquor dealers, met in state convention here today. It is expected that the county local option law, which is the principal political issue in Indiana at present, will be discussed. The liquor men are opposed to the law, looking upon it as an entering wedge for state wide prohibition.

Auto Endurance Run.

Boston, Sept. 22.—Motorists of the Bay State Automobile association are today putting their machines in shape for the 24-hour endurance run to Bretton Woods, N. H., and return, which will start tomorrow morning. The total distance is 375 miles and the cars entered will be given one of the most thorough tests ever devised.

New Jersey Primaries.

Trenton, N. J. Sept. 22.—Primaries to name candidates for the assembly and for county and municipal officers are being held throughout New Jersey today by both the democrats and republicans. Hot fights have been waged in many counties and cities.

ROOSEVELT MAY TAKE THE STUMP

NOT UNLIKELY TEDDY WILL WORK FOR TAFT.

National Committee Believed to Desire Roosevelt's Aid in Campaign Speeches—Would Be Without Precedent—President's Appeal to Voters—Campaign Most Bitterly Fought Since 1892.

Washington, Sept. 22.—It is stated that upon his return to Washington today President Roosevelt will be urged by republican politicians to take the stump in behalf of Taft. Such an action on the part of a chief executive of the nation would be wholly without precedent, and it is not considered likely that the president will consider such a proposition unless it should appear absolutely necessary to insure republican success. Especially since Roosevelt in a letter to William B. McKinley, chairman of the republican congressional committee made public recently appeals to disinterested citizens to join with the national republican committee in a movement to elect William H. Taft as the president, and a republican congress to support him. After reviewing some of the important legislation of the past seven years the president declares that Mr. Taft and the republican candidates for congress seek election on a platform which specifically pledges the party to continue and develop the policies which have been acted upon for several years past.

All the aid that can be given to perpetuate the policy of the government as now carried on, the president says, should be given by every good citizen, as it is far more than a partisan matter.

If there is only one speech by Mr. Roosevelt, it undoubtedly will be made in Cooper union, New York, the scene of many historical political gatherings of the past. Mr. Roosevelt is going to be criticised, of course, for making speeches at all, but a speech to the people of his state, it is figured, would be less subject to criticism than speeches elsewhere. Not that Mr. Roosevelt would worry greatly over criticism. If he decides that he can with propriety enter the campaign in behalf of Taft, fear of adverse comment will not deter him. He has been criticised before for disregarding precedents, but it would be difficult to single out one act of his which the American people as a whole have condemned.

The managers for Judge Taft, of course, are elated at the prospect of having the assistance of President Roosevelt. With Roosevelt, Taft and Bryan on the stump, the republicans have decidedly the best of it. There are no other men in either party who can get the public ear as these three men can get it, and if it be true that Taft is not so strong on the hustings as is Bryan, Roosevelt more than balances the scale in favor of the republican candidate.

There has been a lot of complaint of apathy in the campaign, but things promise to be lively enough during the next six weeks.

Unless indications are all at fault, this is going to be the hardest fought and most uncertain presidential campaign since 1892. Whoever wins is going to know he has been in the fight. There are no illusions of easy victory about the national headquarters of either party. Both Chairman Hitchcock and Chairman Mack are preparing to contest every inch of ground. The democrats are going to be compelled to make a defensive campaign in some of the heretofore safely democratic states, and there are few states in which the republican management will allow matters to take care of themselves. Northern and eastern democrats are united for the ticket as they have not been for years, while there is republican dissatisfaction in the same states. In some of the southern states democrats are so dissatisfied with the ticket that their leading newspapers are openly bolting it and encouragement is held out to republicans to hope for victory. A political condition such as this doesn't make for easy victory.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the delicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the agonies and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispels all the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for helping women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-sedative, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper, contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

An Effervescent Comedy.

The only problem in the great comedy production of talking moving pictures of Peck's Bad Boy" is how to stop laughing, its plot contains one thousand funny pranks, tickling points and mirthful mimics of living, talking photographs of most amusing and eccentric folks. Its purity is unanimously commended, and parents find it a splendid place to take the children. Its public introduction was a master stroke of genius. This entertainment, according to advance announcements, is as refreshing as the ozone laden breeze that might blow across the meadows. The production comes direct from the big eastern cities, and is a superb triumph in talking moving pictures. This attraction is for one night only, next Tuesday, September 22, at the New Oregon. The scale of prices will be 35c, 25c and 15c.

Try Mob Leaders.

Portsmouth, Va., Sept. 22.—Alleged leaders of a mob which stormed the Norfolk county jail will be tried on charges of riotous conduct this week, the first of the hearings being scheduled for today. The riot occurred on the night of August 14 last, when a crowd of infuriated men invaded the prison in quest of Henry Smith, a negro accused of criminally assaulting Mrs. Albert Powell. Several alleged members of the mob were arrested and heavy fines and jail sentences were imposed in police court. The defendants appealed the cases.

Sports In Vatican Gardens.

Rome, Sept. 22.—All is in readiness for the formal opening tomorrow of the Papal Jubilee international athletic tournament, the first gathering of muscular gladiators in the Vatican gardens since the days of the Roman empire. Pope Pius will formally open the games. Catholic athletes from all over the world are here and will contest for the trophies offered.

STOP

Mr. Merchant and Think it Over!
Do You Live in the Land of

"PERHAPS"

EVERY BIG STORE in this city was once situated in "the Land of Perhaps."

Every merchant carries, in his mind, a map of this odd country. And no two of these maps look alike.

On one map the Capital of the country is marked "Common Sense"; on another it is marked "Dreams."

"Determination" is a chief city on one man's map; and it is situated on the river of "Plans." The other man's map shows the town of "Sometime," on the river "Not-Yet."

On one man's map of the Land of Perhaps is shown a Trunk-line railway, named The Publicity Short-Line, making connections at the Port of Hustle with daily steamers to the town of Real Things—which is in our own country.

On the other man's map is marked a railway line called "What's-Your-Hurry." One terminal of this road is called "Forget-it," and the other is called "What's-the-Use." No tickets are sold to the town of Real Things.

Every merchant in this city owns property in this Land of Perhaps. Those who use the railway called "The Publicity Short-Line,"—no rebates or private car concessions—will eventually get most of this property moved into the town of Real Things, which is a town very like this one.
