POLITICAL FREEDOM.

In a republic where the source of power lies in the people themselves the safety of the nation depends upon the intelligence and courage with which individual voters perform the duties of citizenship.

In America blind partisanship is now and always has been the greatest obstacle to political progress. In speaking editorially of the present campaign in its last issue, Collier's Weekly said:

"Pope defined party feeling as 'the madness of the many for the gain of the few.' The worst failures of government in America have been connected with worship of the party label. In emancipation from this stupidity the northwest is leading, but the signs become more favorable everywhere. The free man on November 3 will be the man who votes from judgment and ceases to be used as any party's rubber stamp."

This too is the creed of the East Oregonian and it is the creed of every honest newspaper of independent mind. Because a man inclines towards a certain political faith it does not follow that he should always follow the advice given by his party leaders and jump into line at the crack of the party whip.

Citizenship should always come before partisanship. If there are democrats who believe that Taft should be elected president, they should vote for him. If there are republicans who believe that the policies advocated by Bryan are the best; if they believe that Bryan is entitled to the presidency because of the long hard fight he has made for the principles which he advocates, they should vote for him.

The man who lets his partisanship overcome his better judgment is an ass. A democrat can vote for Taft and still retain his faith in the general principles of democracy. A republican can vote for Bryan and still retain a general allegiance to the republican party.

Collier's says that the northwest is leading in the emancipation from the stupidity of traveling blindly in party ruts. It is a splendid comment. Let the people of the northwest sustain the reputation they have acquired.

PENDLETON SPIRIT.

For many years Pendleton has had an enviable reputation all over the northwest as a little city where the people are wide awake and ready to work for the advancement of the town.

"Pendleton spirit" is an expression that has been heard far and wide. It has caused the business men of this city to be regarded as men with red blood within them. Men who have left this city for other places never fail to make it known that they are from Pendleton. It is a good testimony to heart.

At no time in recent months has the Pendleton spirit been so well manifested as in the movement for retaining the woolen mill in this city. Bankers, business men and newspapers have laid aside all petty jealousies and animosities and have pulled together for the common good.

As a result of the earnest, united work that has been done the day is all but won. The obstacles that were in the path of the movement have been removed in the same way a rotary plow goes through a snowbank. So well has the work in behalf of the woolen mill been done that the retention of the industry seems inevitable. It now only remains to make the formal arrangements and if they are carried out successfully the whirl of the looms will be heard within a few months.

It is not yet time to rejoice, but the progress of the movement is very satisfactory to those who want to see the mills retained and Pendleton built into the better, bigger town it is entitled to be.

POLITICAL INCENDIARISM.

In this morning's issue of the Tribune appears the following remarkable statement:

"The man who thinks the election of Bryan would not precipitate the worst panic and business paralysis this country has ever known, is as blind as a mole and perfectly incapable of distinguishing white from black."

This is anarchistic talk with a vengeance. Such doctrine is more dangerous than anything that Debs has ever preached.

Financial panics are caused by scares. They have never been caused by anything else. Fright is produced by just such talk as that in which the Tribune is indulging.

The man or the newspaper that predicts that dire calamity will befall this country if Bryan is elected is a political firebug. They threaten to burn the town unless things go to suit them.

Predictions of a panic following Bryan's election are not only dangerous, but they are dishonest. Complete and competent evidence to this effect is furnished every day by republican papers which like the Tribune are making desperate efforts to save the day for Taft.

In one breath the republican party organs declare that Bryan is in league with the Standard Oil and railroad interests. They declare that he is acceptable to the "interests," that Roosevelt and Taft are the only original, genuine trust busters.

In the next breath these papers proclaim that Bryan is the enemy of the business and financial world; that capital will go into spasms if Bryan is elected and that the worst kind of a panic will be precipitated.

The Tribune's editorial is labelled "Common Sense." But where is there sense of any kind in such logic? There is none.

But the Tribune and similar partisan sheets are lacking in a more serious way. They lack common honesty—an element that should be observed even in the heat of a political campaign.

When the new city hall, the federal building, the new depot, the new Christian church, the Bowman building, the new Jones building, McCormack's garage, the new Alta house, Ebers' new warehouse and other buildings are completed, Pendleton will look even better than it does.

Pendleton people are waiting patiently for the new O. R. & N. depot. It is badly needed both by the public and by the railroad people themselves. The depot has been promised and it has been planned. Now let us have it.

Let us have something from 1794. If history is to be brought into the present campaign why not go back to the beginning.

In Walla Walla the Northwest Gas & Electric company is fighting more openly than it did in Pendleton.

Chicago has won the championship. Now for the campaign and that little war in eastern Europe.

An aerial postal service is now being planned. But they had that in Noah's day.

WRING CHILD'S NECK DON'T ROB OF SCHOOL.

"It is better to wring a child's neck and be done with it than to let it grow up without an education."

This is the strong sentiment recently expressed by Judge William H. McHenry from the Polk county bench, says a Des Moines dispatch.

His expression of opinion was brought forth in juvenile court over which he presides. Sixteen-year-old Mae Curry stood before the judge. Several years ago the girl was taken from her father, Joseph Curry and given into the care of Mr. and Mrs. Ericson of Des Moines. Before she came to them the child had never been to school. She was immediately started in the primary grade but the ridicule of scholars caused her to stop. The father, desiring to obtain possession of the girl again, brought the matter to the attention of the court. The judge extracted a promise from the weeping girl that she would brave the ridicule of her playmates and go to school. He left her with her foster parents and directed his stinging remarks to the father.

ONTARIO PULP WOOD.

Slackened American Demand Causes Losses to Canadian Interests. Consul R. S. Chilton, Jr., forwards the following statement by a leading Toronto paper in regard to the pulpwood trade in northern Ontario:

The paper war in the United States is seriously affecting the traffic returns of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway. At the commencement of the year the commissioners of the railway estimated that during the recent 12 months 50,000 cords of pulp wood would be shipped over the road. These estimates were based on the actual contracts made with American buyers. The trouble in the paper world across the line has, however, led to only a very small proportion of that amount being shipped, although the wood has been cut by the settlers and delivered at various points on the railway. The position is a serious one. If the wood is not shipped soon it will become worthless. The railway authorities have done all in their power to get the buyers to take the wood out, and a large quantity has been barked, but very little has been shipped so far.

The unsettling of the wood pulp market by conditions prevailing in the United States is likely to affect settlers along the line of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. American buyers coming into competition with Canadian firms during the last two or three years has resulted in an advantageous rise in price so far as the settlers, by whom the wood is principally cut, are concerned. As a matter of fact the price of pulp wood has risen in the last two and a half years from $2.50 a cord to nearly $5.50. It will be easy to realize that the dropping out of competition of the United States buyers will be almost inevitably followed by a fall in prices next year. The general traffic on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway is also reported as being very light this year.

American Camels.

True camels are not found in this country, except in zoological collections and menageries, but there is evidence that the race once existed on the American continent. Fossil remains deposited in various museums prove the fact, and it is possible that they might have appeared here before they did in Africa. Skeletons of a species which is said to be somewhat unlike other American camels have been found within the last few weeks in sandstone near Lusk, Wyo. The exact geological age of the deposit is not reported.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach growl or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, or indigestion, or liver trouble. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the finest medicinal ingredients known to medical science for the prompt cure of such ailments. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine, as every bottle has a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a pure, mild, habit-forming drug, made from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, used the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. E. Bartholow, M. D., of J. J. Crocker Med. College, Phila.; Prof. R. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin S. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John A. Kim, M. D., Author of American Dispensary; Prof. J. M. Sander, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authors and many others endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant, Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're tiny and sugar-coated.

PECULIAR FACTS.

A tallow candle bullet can be fired through a board. A straw driven by a stream of water, under high pressure, will tear the skin off a man's hand. A copper disk rotating slowly can be cut by a steel cutting tool; but if rotated at high speed it will turn and cut the tool.

In many parts of Europe it is customary among the people to burn sugar in a sick room, a practice which is considered by physicians as an innocent superstition, neither beneficial nor harmful. Prof. Teilbert, of the Pasteur Institute at Paris, has, however, demonstrated recently that burning sugar develops formic acetylene-hydrogen, one of the most powerful antiseptic gases known. Five grammes of sugar (77.16 grains) were burned under a glass bell holding 10 quarts. After the vapor had cooled bacilli of typhus, tuberculosis, cholera, smallpox, etc., were placed in the bell in open glass tubes and within half an hour all the microbes were dead. If sugar is burnt in a closed vessel containing purified meat or the contents of rotten eggs, the offensive odor disappears at once. The popular faith in the disinfecting qualities of burnt sugar appears, therefore, as well founded.
