DUKE OF NORFOLK HAS LOVE FOR HIS DIGNITY.

London.—The Duke of Norfolk, hereditary earl marshal of England, and the premier peer of the realm, resents the slightest attempt to lower his seigniorial dignity, although he personally is unassuming even to shabbiness.

An instance of his ducal pride in his ancestry was given the other day when he sternly forbade the sale of the historic tiling helmet of his ancestor, the hero of Flodden Field, which hung over the ducal tomb in Framlingham church, Suffolk.

The rector had received an offer of $2500 for the 400-year-old helmet, but the duke immediately notified him that the relic must not be sold.

HOBBACH HAS ATTRACTIVE THANKSGIVING WINDOW

One of the most attractive Thanksgiving windows was that shown by Hobbach's bakery. A well cooked turkey was the masterpiece of the showing, and was handsomely decorated in most approved style. Around were goupied fine pastries and confections which Hobbach makes.

EMPERESS OF RUSSIA NEARLY ASSASSINATED.

Amsterdam, Holland, Nov. 27.—Advisers received here today declare that an attempt upon the life of the Russian empress dowager yesterday failed only by a narrow margin. She is overcome by the shock and is under the care of a physician. An anarchist reached the royal carriage, clutching the guards, and was seized as he was about to fire at the empress.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW INVALIDATED BY COURT.

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 27.—Oklahoma's eight-hour law is believed to be invalidated by the decision of a local court today, acquitting the new state paving company of violation of the law because it showed the men were anxious to work more than eight hours. Preparations have been made to fight the case on an appeal by those interested in the law.

TIPPING TO CONTINUE DESPITE DISCUSSION

London.—Little or nothing seems likely to come of the resolution in regard to the regulation of tipping passed by the Congress of Hotel Keepers in Rome. Once more the vexed question has been ventilated in the newspapers here and on the continent, but without apparently advancing it one step toward a settlement in any other way than by the present system.

SWEDEN'S KING TOO SLOW FOR GAY COURT.

London.—The king and queen of Sweden, the handsomest royal couple of Europe, will be as glad to leave Windsor castle today as the king and queen of England to see them depart. The magnificence of the ceremonials at Windsor oppressed the king of Sweden, who intensely dislikes elaborate state functions, while he produced the same effect upon his royal hosts. The courtiers likewise found little likable about the monarch, who seldom drinks or smokes, is an ardent follower of the Salvation Army, possesses no humor and whose only game is lawn tennis.

BOOKS FOR LIBRARY.

Valuable Additions Made to the Pendleton Academy Library.

Pendleton academy's library movement has received a great impetus from a number of valuable contributions made recently, according to Prof. F. K. Noordhoff, who is in charge of the library movement. Among these contributions is a ten-volume set of the Century dictionary by Monte B. Gwinn, a Standard dictionary and dictionary stand by A. C. Funk, a set of Macaulay's history of England and other books by E. L. Powers.

Other recent contributors are Mrs. T. C. Taylor, T. J. Morris, Miss Maude Bentley, Mrs. W. J. Furnish and Mrs. T. M. Starkweather, the latter contributing a full set of Dickens.

Mr. Noordhoff says more than 350 volumes have already been contributed in addition to the 500 volumes of government reports presented by Congressman Ellis.

BOY SHOOTS HIS FATHER TO SAVE MOTHER'S LIFE

Elizabeth, N. J.—Defending himself and his mother from the attacks of his drunken father, Albert Messig, Jr., 18 years old, shot his father, Albert Messig, a butcher, four times.

Two bullets lodged in Messig's head, a third shattered the bone in the right jaw and a fourth lodged in the right shoulder.

Messig, according to the son's story, had been drinking for several weeks and was almost crazed from the effects of liquor. One morning he insisted that his wife go driving with him. She refused, and he attempted to choke her. The boy tried to interfere, and the father pulled a revolver from his pocket. He fired a shot at his wife which went wild. He then pointed the pistol at the son, but before he had time to fire the boy wrestled the pistol from him and shot him with another revolver.

YOUNG WOMAN HANGS IN AIR BY ONE FINGER

Green Lake.—Miss Mabel Blanchard, residing at 7432 Fourth avenue northeast, was the victim of a peculiar accident which came near depriving her of her right forefinger last week. Miss Blanchard was standing on a ladder trying to adjust a clothesline when the ladder slipped from under her. In falling her right forefinger caught on the hook to which she was fastening the clothesline, and there she hung until she was helped down and Dr. H. C. Dyer summoned to attend her injury.

The finger was terribly lacerated, the muscles and sinews being practically stripped from the bone on one side.—Seattle P-I.

"ON PAROLE."

One of the Big Events of the Season at the Oregon Theater.

With the presentation of Louis Evan Shipman's great military story, "On Parole," the patrons of the Oregon theater are to have their first glimpse of a play that has been made notable by being produced by Mr. Henry Miller at the Majestic Theater, New York city, with Vincent Serrano and Charlotte Walker in the leading roles.

In securing it for the northwest circuit, Mr. Charles A. Marshall has secured Mr. Willard Mack and Miss Leone for the two principal roles originated by the two artists mentioned above (Mr. Serrano and Miss Walker).

It has generally been conceded by the eastern public that the performance given of these two parts by Mr. Mack and Miss Leone have been quite as satisfactory as were given by the originals.

"On Parole" is a vivid thrilling story of the southern confederacy, that absorbs the listener and divides his sympathies between Major Dale (Mr. Jack), the union officer, and Constance Pickney (Miss Leone), the Virginia gentlewoman, both struggling to do what they consider their duty, in spite of the great love which has sprung up between them.

Mr. Mack and Miss Leone, surrounded by a most capable company, are coming over this territory for the first time with a complete production of this most cleverly constructed drama of those much to be regretted days of 61-65.

"On Parole" will be at the Oregon on Tuesday, December 1.

Model Farm Schools in Russia.

Consul James W. Ragsdale, of St. Petersburg, reports that the chief board of agriculture is soliciting a credit of $30,000 for the organization of 45 exemplary farms, where students as well as peasants, inhabitants of the adjacent localities, could study and learn in practice more rational farming and the manner of deriving more profit from agriculture. The same board solicits a credit of $55,000 for the coming year for the improvement of the butter industry in Siberia.

IMPORTED BAY RUM

Distilled from the leaves; has that delicate, aromatic, oriental odor which makes people who know "what," consider their toilet or bath incomplete without it. It is void of that stinging, burning sensation, but has just enough "bite" to make it soothing and antiseptic and acts as a panacea to even the most delicate skin in weather that tends to chap and roughen. In fact, 'tis a fine toilet requisite. Ask for an original bottle of the Pyramid Brand.
