LAST DAY TOMORROW.

Special Services at Baptist Church Will Come to Close.

Tomorrow is the last day of the special meeting at the Baptist church. Last night was a good service, Evangelist Bledsoe preaching on the theme, "Making Excuses." There will be no service tonight, but a full day is planned for tomorrow, the last services that the evangelist will hold in the city.

Bledsoe will preach at 11 o'clock on "The Happy People" and in the evening "How Much Do You Weigh?" At 2:30 o'clock a special meeting for men will be held. The evangelist will deliver an address on the subject, "The Law of a Man's Life."

The sermon last night punctured the oft presented excuses why people do not accept Christ. He showed how flimsy the excuses men stood on. He plead for the same straightforward treatment of the question of dollars and cents and business and home interests.

Attention G. A. H.

Comrades please meet at the office of Peter West Sunday at 9 o'clock in the morning to attend the funeral of Comrade Elias Hevel at 10 o'clock a. m. from the Catholic church.

FIVE MISMATED SHOES STOLEN FROM STORE

Walla Walla, Dec. 18.—Some one-legged man or an individual in a great hurry got away with five shoes from in front of T. D. Shehan's store on Main street last night. If the man who took them is two-legged the joke is on him, and if he has but one leg he showed some forethought, for none of the shoes are mates. One of them was a high topped tan shoe and the others range down to a black oxford. They were out on display and the theft was committed about 9 a. m.

Body is Torn Apart.

Bellingham, Wash.—Robert Klasef, a young laborer at the Larson Lumber company's plant in this city, died a horrible death Wednesday when his arm was caught in the big rollers on a saw and his body was literally torn in two. The entire right side, from the collarbone down, was wrenched from the trunk. Death was instantaneous.

Livestockman Fined Heavily.

Albany, Ore.—Albert Peacock, proprietor of the Fashion Livery stable, was fined $100 and costs by City Recorder Redfield for violating a city ordinance, embracing the provisions of the local option liquor law. Peacock's stable was raided by officers last Friday and two barrels of bottled beer captured.

Runaway Shot by Officer.

Seattle, Wash.—Unable by other means to check the flight of a maddened runaway horse, Patrolman William Donlan Wednesday afternoon, on Yesler Way, near Second avenue, drew his revolver and while on the run beside it, fired a bullet into the animal's brain. The horse fell dead in its tracks.

Flirting is Not Ground.

Seattle, Wash.—Notwithstanding that Otey Newton Freedland testified emphatically that her husband was very cruel to her by flirting with other women when he was on the streetcar or walking with her on the street, Judge Griffin decided that her grievances were not sufficient to justify a divorce, and denied her petition for freedom.

Holiday Mail Burned.

Centralia, Wash.—As the Overland express pulled into Centralia last evening the forward mail car caught fire from the stove in the rear end. Centralia's fire department responded to the fire call and promptly extinguished the blaze. The interior of the car was badly damaged and several sacks of mail, principally holiday matter, were destroyed.
