RAIN INTERFERES WITH CARNIVAL

MANY SEE FIRST NIGHT OF SHOWS REGARDLESS

Great Parker Shows Now Ready for Week of Merriment—Doors Will Open This Afternoon—Many People Expected to Visit the Large Tents During the Next Five Days—Attractions are Varied and Pretentious—Many Trained Animals.

Notwithstanding the almost incessant downpour of rain last night quite a number of people visited the carnival grounds, located in the ball park, and from the nature of the remarks heard, it was evident that the scope and magnitude of the C. W. Parker shows proved an agreeable surprise to all those in attendance at the opening. If the weather man permits the sun to show his face for a few hours, and the present indications are that he will, the Parker shows are reasonably sure to do a good business during the five days that remain of their engagement.

The shows are unusually large and elaborate for tented exhibitions, and everything is equipped with an eye single to the comfort and safety of the patrons. The various attractions are fitted with roomy and well appointed stages, arenas, etc., etc., and comfortable, high-back folding chairs provide the seating facilities. The eighteen paid attractions embrace scenic, electrical and mechanical shows, as well as a high class vaudeville production under the alliterative and semi-euphonic title of "The Broadway Belles," and the largest trained animal circus in the world. Taken in their entirety the Parker shows embrace the best features of the circus; hippodrome, stadium, park and theatre, and among the several open air free attractions offered by the management may be seen the "Great Hero" in his unparalleled exhibition on the balancing trapeze; Al

Zaro, who defies all the laws of gravitation in his work on the Japanese wire, and The Two Latlins in their sensational double high-dive. Ascending a frail ladder to almost unbelievable heights they dive simultaneously into a net spread to break their headlong flight through space. It is seldom that one sees a woman so daring and so apparently fearless as the lady member of this team, and their act alone is worth going miles to witness.

There have been general expressions of surprise and regret that it should be necessary for the shows to be located so far from the center of the city, and many have voiced the opinion that this would interfere seriously with the attendance. While this may be true to a certain extent, still, the show grounds are well within walking distance, and it was not possible for the management to obtain suitable space any nearer the center of population. The shows are so large and require so much space that there is really no better location than the ball park, where the physical characteristics are almost ideal, and the eighteen or more shows are located to splendid advantage, forming an immense horseshoe, with the various free attractions, concessions and riding devices in the center of the stadium-like enclosure.

Some of the Attractions. Among the larger and more pretentious attractions "The Broadway Belles" are heralded as "Presenting the best in vaudeville," and the eight young ladies and four men, who comprise the company, present an unusually high-class straight vaudeville program that is fairly teeming with merit and entirely free from objectionable or suggestive features. The work of "The Dancing Richards," Miss Verna Banker, and Biff and Bang, the "suicide comedians" is especially commendable, while the vocal, chorus and ensemble numbers but add to a bill that would do credit to some of the larger houses on the best vaudeville circuits. There is an illusion show called "Pharaohs Daughter" which provides mystery enough, and, in addition, features some elaborate Egyptian dances, artistic poses plastique and pleasing pictorial song numbers, all embellished and thrown into brilliant relief through the aid of the many electrical accessories which have had a tendency to give this attraction the title of "Parker's Electrical Masterpiece."

Many Trained Animals. The performance at the trained animal show, which is owned, controlled and operated by Al. G. Barnes, the veteran animal master, than whom none in the amusement world is bet-

PETITIONS ARE SAID TO BE IN DANGER

MANY FORGERIES SAID TO HAVE BEEN FOUND

Work of Weeding Out the Names on the Saloon Petitions in Portland Proceeds—Experts Say That Many of the Names Are Fictitious—Matter Will Be Settled by the Courts—Gothenberg Petition Thought to Be in Danger.

Portland, April 26.—Fully 60 per cent of the signatures on the excise board petition are being weeded out by the checking process now in progress at the county clerk's office, according to Roger B. Sinnott, who is supervising the work from the viewpoint of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association. He contends there is no doubt but that the petition will be thrown out at the conclusion of the check, says the Journal.

Quite a flurry was caused this morning by the report that the city auditor had determined to accept the ruling of the attorney general to the effect that any man who possessed the constitutional qualifications of a voter would be accepted as a signer. This, it was argued, would result in putting the petition on the ballot, for the reason that many of the signers being thrown out would be found to have the residence requirements even though not on the registration books. The check on the Gothenberg association's petition was abandoned for a time today and the excise board petition is the only one now under scrutiny. It will be completed by tomorrow night, according to the calculations of the city auditor, after which it can be told definitely whether the required number of signatures will stand the test.

Duplications Are Numerous. The Gothenberg association petition is in danger, as well as the excise board petition, according to those who have been watching the check. Large numbers of duplications and apparent forgeries were discovered during the work done Saturday, according to deputies in the county clerk's office, and it is predicted that this petition will also be thrown out when the check is completed.

It is practically certain that the courts will be called upon to settle the quarrel, which ever way the check goes. In case the petition is thrown out after the auditor has checked it both by the registration books and by the card index in the county clerk's office it is probable the Municipal association will mandamus the auditor in an effort to put the petition on the ballot. In this case the opposition says it has two or more solicitors who will appear in court and testify that the petition handled by them did not have the full text of the measure attached, but simply a typewritten summary, which, it is contended, is contrary to the law and will in itself invalidate the petition.

Following the settlement of the excise board question, work will be at once begun on the Gothenberg petition. This petition has a large list of signatures which will require several days for the check. Should it be thrown off the ballot there will be no liquor regulation measure submitted to the people for their vote at the June election.

Object to Strong Medicine. Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually proscribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than nine out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by all good dealers.

A cold bath can be taken at any time of day; but the best time is before breakfast.

A hot bath should be taken only at night—just before retiring.

Cover the body with Ivory Soap lather and rub it in. By doing this, you not only cleanse the surface of the skin, but you also cleanse the pores, which is equally important.

SOME OF THE FEATS SHOWN BY NORRIS & ROWE

An act that has always proven of absorbing interest to the patrons of a circus is the long leaping and high jumping contests that brings the entertainment to a close and Norris & Rowe have paid special attention to this feature this season and promises odd contests of a most exciting nature. The slight of men flying from a spring board over the backs of horses, camels, dromedaries, llamas and elephants, is always spiritual and interesting. It shows the courage and physical perfection of the trained athletes and that is what young American glorifies in. The clowns follow the leapers in a burlesque of their flights through the air and this supplies abundant fun for the children.

The leaping tournament has been revived this season by the greater Norris & Rowe show upon a scale in keeping with their all new circuses. Many leapers, vaulters and high jumpers famous in Europe as well as in this country have been engaged to take part in the tournament. A contest on the same order has been arranged for the acrobats and gymnasts in which the Banvard troupe, the La Verne troupe, and the Lemayne troupe will take part.

There is considerable rivalry between the acrobats and the professional leapers and the most dashing and spirited feats of skill are being accomplished. To increase the interest, a corps of lady gymnasts and physical culture experts have been added. Norris & Rowe will give a purse of gold and a diamond medal to the one who shows the most grace, skill and daring in successfully leaping the high barriers and clearing the backs of animals and obstacles.

Norris & Rowe will exhibit in Pendleton on May 7.

People past middle life usually have some kidney or bladder disorder that saps the vitality, which is naturally lower in old age. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects urinary troubles, stimulates the kidneys, and restores strength and vigor. It cures uric acid troubles by strengthening the kidneys so they will strain out the uric acid that settles in the muscles and joints, causing rheumatism. Koepfen Bros.
