

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs.

This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed.

In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PRESIDENT TAFT SHUNS PUBLICITY

WASHINGTON HAS BECOME DRY TOWN FOR REPORTERS

The Roosevelt Days of Unlimited Copy Have Gone—Very Few Stories Now Come From the White House—President Taft Gives Out Very Little News—His Chiefs Also Adopt the Clam-Like Policy—Press Bureaus Suppressed.

Washington.—News has become a scarce article around Washington since Theodore Roosevelt retired from the White House. Congress has been the chief producer since March 4, and almost all important stories emanating from Washington during the past few weeks have come either from the halls of congress or from individual members of senate and house. The White House, once the source of unlimited news, is now one of the duller spots visited by newspaper men. The government departments, taking their cue from the White House, are producing very little "copy," and officials of the administration, when they can be seen, have little to offer in the way of information. From the newspaper man's standpoint, Washington has become a "dry town."

The fact is that President Taft is not much of an advertiser; he does not care for and does not like newspaper notoriety. He has a host of friends among the Washington correspondents, but he does not talk with them as freely or as frequently as did his predecessor. Administration policies are no longer made the subject of conferences between the President and the newspaper men. Correspondents wishing to see Mr. Taft must do so by appointment made through his secretary. And these appointments are not to be had except when the President is willing to disclose some specific subject. Even the Sunday night story that was a feature of the Roosevelt administration has gone out of vogue, for Mr. Taft keeps away from official cares on Sunday, and does not labor on that day except in cases of the utmost urgency.

It is not correct to say that all the government departments have closed their doors to newspaper men, for they have not. Perhaps half the members of the cabinet are readily accessible, and are more or less free to discuss the business of their departments. The other half, however, operate behind closed doors, and rare, indeed, is the newspaper man who gets in unless he waits an hour or two, and there are few men on few missions who can afford to cool their heels in the outer office of any department for that length of time. In all the departments, however, subordinate officials have suppressed, and are no longer at liberty to disclose official matters for publication. There has been another great change with the change of administration. Press bureaus of a number of government bureaus, which had been maintained for purely advertising purposes, have been closed. It had become quite a fad in official Washington in late years for every enthusiastic bureau to establish a press bureau for the dissemination of news, information and advertising matter. Several of the press bureaus eventually overlooked the news and devoted their efforts almost entirely to the exploitation of the work of their respective bureaus and the laudation of their respective officials. The bulk of the product of these bureaus was never published, especially in the larger dailies, but it did find its way into the country papers. It will do so no longer, for press bureaus operated on those lines are objectionable to the president. Only such bureaus as produce uncolored news items are now allowed to operate in officialdom, and they are very few.

Reluctance and Constipation. For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieved the ill feeling at once, strengthened the digestive functions, purged the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all good dealers.

Big Bill at Orpheum. The bill was opened with the Colyer Bros., expert jugglers and club manipulators, to a crowded house. This act is above the average juggling acts. They were followed by Robzaro, one of the greatest novelty acts ever appearing on the local vaudeville stage. Mr. Robzaro fills the place of two at one time. He impersonates a lady while standing with his left side to the audience, and a gentleman with the right. The motion pictures were of the usual high class. The bill was closed by a beautifully illustrated song, sung by Miss Violetta, the lady with the sweet voice.

A Card. This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. The genuine is in a yellow package. Koepfen Bros.

NEWS FORECAST

History Making Events Prophesied During Week.

Washington.—The progress of events in Turkey, where history-making events have followed one another in rapid succession during the past few weeks, will continue to be followed with keen interest by the entire world. Other events of the week in foreign fields will include the general elections in Newfoundland, the international celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the reestablishment of Louvain university in Belgium, and the wedding of Prince Harold of Denmark, king Frederick's third son, and Princess Helena of Sonderburg-Luecksborg, which is to take place Thursday in Copenhagen. Several events in the national capital will share public attention with the tariff proceedings in congress. Friday is the day set for the dedication of the Henry Wadsworth Longfellow monument, situated at the corner of Connecticut avenue and M street, northwest. President Taft will participate in the unveiling ceremonies and chief justice Fuller will preside. The formal opening of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway company's line between Spokane and Portland is expected to take place during the early part of the week. The new line, which is 377 miles long, is owned jointly by the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railway companies. It is one of the most costly roads in the continent, some of it costing $200,000 a mile, while part of it, built along the rock cliffs, involved an expenditure of $500,000 a mile.

Colorado will begin a week's celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of gold in the Rocky mountains. The Second National Peace congress, which will hold forth in Chicago during the greater part of the week, will attract to that city a notable gathering of men and women interested in the movement for the settlement of international and other disputes by arbitration. Fully 15,000 persons attended the first peace congress, held in New York two years ago and it is expected that Chicago, central location will attract an even larger gathering of visitors.

Other events and happenings of the week that will figure in the news columns will include the big music festival in Atlanta, the annual convention of the American society of mechanical engineers in Washington, and the southwest interstate commission on country life at Guthrie, Okla.

Do It Now. Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do so by applying Chamberlain's Liniment.
