OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Scent Lockets.
Very long chains which are worn by many women require some bauble or locket to complete their line, which generally reaches below the waist. A thoughtful jeweler, always on the alert, has harked back to the early Victorian woman who was addicted to swooning, and there is a modern adaptation of the vinaigrette used at that time.

This is in the form of a locket with a small center of open-work gold, silver or enamel, and a rim of jewels is used to give brilliancy to this novelty. Concentrated perfume is concealed in the center of the locket, behind the grille, and with each swaying of the chain a delightful, faint perfume emanates from the unsuspected holder of scent.

Shadow Lace.
This is new, and because of its unobstructive pattern can be used in great quantities without fear of over-decoration. The pattern is woven in such a way that an uncertain shadowy effect is produced. It is especially lovely in black and cream. The black shadow lace is used over black net and a white satin underlap. The cream is effective over pale tints in evening gowns.

The Latest Foundations.
For sheath foundations of evening gowns the very newest idea is to use brocades of gorgeous hue and design or heavy watered silks. The princess underdresses of these supple silks can be fitted perfectly to the figure, and the lovely colors, with their scrolls and flowers carried out in glistening silver or gold, form artistic backgrounds upon which chiffon, tulle, or crepe de chine can be draped. These exquisite sheaths are generally made with narrow trains, square or round, and the draperies are arranged in semi-pannier fashion.

A Golden Feather.
It can be made of an old quill from which the battered feathers have been stripped. Gold lace is sewed as a scant ruffle on each side, the end being slightly pointed.

You have no idea how effective this is on a fur turban. From this idea a departure into the realms of silver, bronze or jeweled lace can be made, and at little cost. This quill, with a band of braid or lace to match, will furnish sufficient trimming for a fur toque.

The Rage for Beads.
A trimming on daytime dresses and evening robes, beads are used with great success. Indeed, as they occur in all colors, there is every reason to suppose that their popularity will not wane with the seasons.

When applied as a plaque ornaments they are worked out in Indian patterns white, red and turquoise blue being combined with dull tan. Handsome clasps of colored beads are used to hold the fulness of a corsage and draperies of skirts are secured under beaded ornaments.

Single beads are extremely beautiful, and lend their straight lines for edging, tunics, sleeves and sashes. These are often embroidered in straight designs on chiffon and tulle.

Challis Return.
Challis are back again in lovely designs, which offer dainty colored relief from the ever present plain white shirtwaist. Tiny rosebuds of all colors on plain grounds are now worn by children and grown-ups, while black challis with neat figures show that French weavers have not forgotten demands of older women.

Dotted and striped effects are especially adapted for tailored models of waists, and suggest many changes in the workaday garb. It is with pleasure that we see the return of these soft dainty materials for our dresses or blouses.

A Mole-skin Coat.
The quality of mole-skin gives clinging lines to a long coat, and the color cannot be improved; its dull gray tones blend with every shade of costume. Mole-skin is now combined in a manner that produces a striped effect. The bands of fur are placed with the "nap" running up on one stripe and down on the adjoining one. The light does the rest. The return of moleskin to its favor of two years ago should be welcomed by women who recognize its soft, supple quality. And no one can resist the silvery lights and shadows of this inexpensive fur.

Removing Stains.
Medicine stains can be removed by soaking in alcohol. Alcohol applied with a woolen rag will remove stains made from hot dishes.

Meat-juice stains simply need to be washed in cold water, followed with soap. Mucilage is removed by soaking in ammonia water and then washing in cold water and soap.

Chloroform is one of the best-known cleansers for delicate fabrics. It does not leave "rings."

Scorch marks may be removed by hanging in sunlight. This is most effective for only light scorches. Milk or cream can be removed easily by washing first in cold water, followed by a thorough soaping.

Medicine oil may be removed by washing in cold water and soap, or by rubbing the stain with turpentine. Paint stains are removed by the use of benzine or turpentine. For delicate colors chloroform in naphtha is best.

Kerosene may be removed by the use of fuller's earth. Cover the stain with a thick layer of hot fuller's earth and let it remain twenty-four hours; then brush off.

Scarf and Muff.
A novel combination of scarf and muff is made of bands of chiffon, quillings of satin and strips of fur. It wraps the body in shawl fashion, and just at the waist line the width is gathered in under two long buckles.

From this point two long ends fall almost to the hem of a skirt. Buckles hold in the lower edges of each side, and heavy fringe hangs from these.

Thus far this is a beautiful shoulder scarf. But when the weather is cold and the hands of the owner need the comfortable warmth of a muff, it is there for the hooking. The lower ends are doubled up and hooped under the upper buckles. A fringe muff is the result. The combination is clever and pleasing.

Contrary to popular belief, feather pillows are improved by a sunbath now and then. They need the sun as well as air, and should be placed in the sun regularly every few months.

An infants' hair brush may be used to clean dainty lamp shades of silk or satin. Meal, or fuller's earth, is sometimes used to clean lace shades, and with the use of the small brush, all particles of dust may be easily removed, without injury to the finest material.

Lampblack is removed by wetting with kerosene and washing with some good soap and warm water. Clean combs with a good stiff nail brush, dry. They soon warp and break if washed in water.

The Fasting Cure.
The fashionable remedy for most ailments is semistarvation. It has taken medical science a long time to get back to the first principles. When animals feel badly they refuse to eat. As soon as the system is cleared of its accumulation of extraneous matter nature cures the disturbance. When a human feels out of sorts the first thing is to take something. Colds in the head are almost always caused by overeating and cold lead to a great many other troubles. The only really healthy individuals are those who eat sparingly. Really, our greatest enemies are those who urge us to eat.

Eating is necessary up to a certain point, but almost every one eats too much.—Agricultural Epitomist.

A Hair's Breadth Escape.
Do you know that every time you have a cough or cold and let it run on, thinking it will just cure itself you are inviting pneumonia, consumption or some other pulmonary trouble? Don't risk it. Put your lungs back in perfect health and stop that cough with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Price 25c, 50 and $1.00 per bottle. A. C. Koeppen & Bros.

MIRACLE PAINTING ON EXHIBITION

CITY WILL SEE "IN THE SHADOW OF THE CROSS"

Famous Picture Will be on Exhibition One Week Beginning Dec. 6, at Episcopal Church—For Benefit of Parish.

The Episcopal Church has arranged to secure the famous painting "In the Shadow of the Cross" for exhibition purposes and lovers of art will have an opportunity to see it for one week, commencing Dec. 6. The picture will be on display at the Episcopal church.

This remarkable painting, says Kate Atkinson Boehme, in The Radiant Centre, is on exhibition here in Washington. While the artist was at work upon it he went into his studio one evening in the dark and, to his surprise, found his painting illuminated with a soft radiance. The light was playing about the figure, while back of it there was the shadow of the cross. The artist had not painted in this shadow, and in daylight it was not visible. He left the picture unfinished. It has been examined by experts, and no satisfactory explanation has yet been given of the strange light and the shadow of the cross. I went to see the painting, and after the electric lights were turned out I sat for a long time. I think it must have been twenty minutes, looking into inky blackness before the light on the painting became visible. Others who had come in earlier could see it distinctly, but I could not. I had about given up seeing it at all when suddenly the light appeared, and the longer I looked the brighter it seemed to grow. I do not know whether this painting is what it is represented to be or whether there is some clever trickery about the pigments used, but it is an excellent illustration of the way in which the spiritual light comes when you look within for it. All is darkness for a time, and then the light shines forth, "thank Heaven, there is in it no shadow of the cross. Go and see the painting if it comes your way. The effect is really wonderful.

LA GRANDE MAY GET CHAUTAUQUA

Definite steps are being taken to bring a chautauqua to La Grande next summer, says the Observer. The Rev. Ford Ellis is corresponding with President G. F. Billings of the Southern Oregon assembly regarding the possibilities of La Grande getting on the circuit on which, Boise, Idaho, has already secured a place.

At the present time all seems favorable. The Rev. Mr. Ellis has taken the matter up with the Commercial club officers and President John Collier has promised to introduce the subject at the next meeting of the club. Mr. Collier has been working quietly for a chautauqua assembly for a number of years and will do all that he can to make the thing a go.

In a letter from Mr. Billings of Ashland to Hon. F. A. Shaw of Boise the history of the Ashland assembly is set forth in detail. A copy of the letter is in the possession of Mr. Collier and is filed with detailed information. With the Riverside Park grounds for holding the meeting and the excellent central location of this city, one of the best chautauquas in the state should be the outgrowth of the present movement.

LESS STUDIES AND MORE TIME FOR EACH

Chicago.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, has in mind plans for a radical change in the course of study in Chicago high schools. Fewer studies and more time on each one is her aim.

Recently she announced her intention of applying the idea to the schools under her supervision. "We are too extensive and not intensive enough," said Mrs. Young. "Our programmes of study are too pretentious."

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO

HEARTBURN, GAS AND OTHER STOMACH MISERY ENDS

Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin Your Stomach Will Feel Fine Again—Eat Your Favorite Foods Without Fear of Distress.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, constipation, griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that fermentation and sour stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble catarrh of the stomach, nervousness or gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out of order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.
