PINCHOT-BALLINGER ROW WILL REVIVE

President Taft Has Herculean Task on His Hands—Taft Cabinet Men of Different Type Than Roosevelt Members.

Washington.—"There's going to be some fireworks on the hill this winter," said a western senator who dropped into town the other day after having casually inspected the now-famous Ballinger-Pinchot controversy from afar.

"I didn't get near enough to the row to stop any of the shenanigans, but you can put it down now that there will be plenty of them flying around the Capitol this winter," he remarked. "And say," he added, "I wouldn't have the president's job right now for a lot of money."

Everyone is awaiting the word from the white house and wondering what Taft will do.

Resume of Row.

Here's the situation: Last summer several newspapers criticized Secretary of the Interior Ballinger for his wholesale restoration of the Garfield conservation withdrawals of public land. The cry was taken up at the National Irrigation Congress at Spokane where ex-Governor Pardee, of California, charged that Ballinger had delivered the west into the hands of the water power trust and was repeated by Pardee, Francis J. Heney and others at the Conservation Congress at Seattle.

Then L. R. Glavis, a land office agent who had been investigating some Alaskan coal claims which he believed to be fraudulent and in the interests of which Ballinger had once appeared as attorney, went to the president with what he thought was evidence that Ballinger was trying to rush the claims to patent despite testimony that they were illegal. The president exonerated Ballinger in an open letter and fired Glavis. Glavis then made his charges public.

The reason for naming the row "the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy" is that Ballinger asserted last summer that Chief Forester Pinchot was trying to run the Department of the Interior. Now, Ballinger expressed the belief that Pinchot has inspired the attacks on him in the press. The fact is that Pinchot and Ballinger have not been pulling well together in the official harness for some time. Each suspects and mistrusts the other.

Pinchot Relic of Rooseveltism.

In dealing with Pinchot, the president is confronted with the fact that the Chief Forester is looked upon by the country as the expression of the Roosevelt principles of conservation of the natural resources of the country. He is regarded by many persons, especially in the west, as the one man who stands between the "interests" that are said to be trying to monopolize the public resources, and the people.

On the other hand, the president has Ballinger, his own selection, as Secretary of the Interior. He turned Garfield out in order to put Ballinger in, and if he were to sidetrack Ballinger now it would be a reflection on the wisdom of his choice. Then, too, there is Frank Hitchcock, Postmaster General, who ran the Taft campaign. Hitchcock is a friend of the Secretary of the Interior and is said to be largely responsible for his selection as a member of the Taft cabinet.

Taft Different from Teddy.

Taft's way of doing things is different from Roosevelt's and the men whom Taft has put into office are of a distinctly different type from those who surrounded Roosevelt. Ball-ger can be said to represent the Taft type. A lawyer, conservative, with perhaps a little leaning towards "party interests," he is regarded by Taft as one of the ablest men in the administration. Pinchot is the "live wire" of the Roosevelt policies.

Those who try to "dope out" in advance what will happen, think that Taft will make one more effort to bring Pinchot and Ballinger into harmonious relations with each other. They predict that he will get Ballinger and Pinchot together and slap each on the back and say "Look here, you are both zealous for the conservation of the natural resources of the country. You are both good fellows, but you go at it in a different way. This sort of thing is disturbing to my administration. You are both working toward the same end. Get together. Forget it and pull in one direction."

There is little doubt that Taft would like to do this, but most people think the matter has gone too far for this kind of settlement. Ballinger is too thoroughly angry for one thing, and then Pinchot may not like to be patted by the same hand that a few minutes before patted Ballinger's back.

Congress to Intervene.

If the president fails to bring Pinchot and Ballinger together, he will probably ask congress to investigate. Congress will probably investigate anyhow and so, by requesting the investigation, Taft would pass an uncomfortable situation over to the Capitol.

Congress will also take some action as regards the general policy of conservation. This will be separate and distinct from the Ballinger investigation and will revolve around several bills that have been introduced for the purpose of placing the Roosevelt conservation policies on the statute books. A bill calling for the leasing by the government of water power sites and coal lands and giving the federal government power to regulate the charges for products therefrom, is in preparation.

"HUMAN HEARTS" AT OREGON THEATER SUNDAY

With all the hue and cry about the immorality of the stage, certain plays of the type of "The Old Homestead," "Shore Acres," "Human Hearts," etc., continue to grow in popularity. Instead of receiving adverse criticisms from the pulpit, the management of "Human Hearts" continually receives letters from leading clergymen throughout the country, praising it for its heart interest and the beautiful moral story it tells, making an evening well spent for all who see it. The old adage that "a good man should marry none but a good woman" was never more truly illustrated in fiction than in "Human Hearts." No dramatic author has ever given to the stage a more idyllic character than "Tom Logan," a big, whole-souled son of the soil, one of "nature's noblemen," who has fallen into the snare of a city adventuress and is only saved from ruin and destruction through the prayers of a loving mother, a little child, and the love of a pure, innocent girl, the sweetheart of his boyhood days.

SOCIALISTS PUT BOYCOTT ON SPOKANE PRODUCTS

Sawtooth, Calif., Nov. 25.—Pursuant to resolutions passed by the organization, socialists of Sawtooth today declared a boycott on all goods manufactured in Spokane and against the merchants of that city, as a result of the free speech war. The resolution was adopted last night to condemn "the brutality of Spokane officials," and to pledge the moral and financial support to the organization. It is stated a fund to augment the money raised by other cities will be collected here.

THANKSGIVING MARKED BY FESTIVITIES

School Children Respond to Appeal of Aid Society—Rebekahs Hold Social.

(Special Correspondence.) Freewater, Nov. 25.—Mayor J. H. Hall is away this week transacting business in Ellensburg, La Grande and other places.

Thanksgiving services were held in the Congregational church this morning, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Kydd. Appropriate music was rendered by the choir.

Mrs. Otto Didion entertained at dinner today. Covers were laid for ten people and the table looked charming with the centerpiece of a pumpkin with the insides scraped out and then filled with fruit and large yellow chrysanthemums. It was much admired. The place cards were also very pretty, consisting of small ears of popcorn dressed up as dolls in crimson crinoline paper. The dinner was delicious and everybody had a good time.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles MacCaughy of Waitsburg, Wash., arrived in the city today to take their Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Sanderson.

Mrs. Daisy Campbell has gone to North Yakima to join her husband. Freewater school children have sent twelve well filled sacks of farm produce and a large box of canned fruit as a Thanksgiving present to the orphan boys and girls at Portland.

J. W. Jones has sold 22 1-2 acres of alfalfa land at Pleasant View to J. W. Hopsop for $175 per acre.

Mrs. Haslin of Basket mountain is visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Smith. They will have an auction sale of their household goods and farm implements and cattle in Freewater on Saturday.

The weight social held last evening in the I. O. O. F. hall by Integrity Lodge of Rebekahs, No. 175, was a great success, the combined weight of the ladies netting the order a good sum. A good program was given, after which the boxes were brought out and given to the gentlemen who had paid half a cent for each pound the ladies had weighed.

CANADIAN POLITICS.

Parties Are Voting Today to Decide Railway Policy.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 25.—The most interesting and exciting political campaign in the history of British Columbia closed yesterday. Today the electors of the province are voting approval or disapproval of the deal made with the Canadian Northern Railway company by Premier McBride for the extension of its line to the Pacific coast. Members of the legislature are to be elected in all except two ridings, Kaslo and Similkameen. In a good many seats there are three-cornered contests owing to the presence of socialist candidates. In Vancouver, where five members are elected, there are three full tickets. In Victoria only three liberals are running for four seats. There are forty-two candidates to be elected in all.

The McBride railway policy is the chief issue.

Premier McBride has outlined his policy in the following statement: We have entered into a contract with the Canadian Northern railway for the construction of a road from the Yellowhead Pass to Kamloops by way of the North Thompson river; from Kamloops to Westminster and Vancouver, and from Victoria to Barclay sound. The distance in all will be about 600 miles and the road is to be completed and in operation within four years. To assist the company in the construction of this road, which will cost at least about $50,000,000 a mile, the government will ask the legislature to guarantee interest at four per cent upon $35,000,000 a mile. For security the province will hold a first mortgage on the line of railway in British Columbia, and will have a covenant from the Canadian Northern Railway company indemnifying it against any loss that might possibly occur.

DEMOCRATS WILL PROFIT BY REPUBLICAN SPLIT

Ypsilanti, Mich., Nov. 25.—Cham Clark yesterday took issue with Henry Watterson and declared that the democrats can and will take advantage of the split between the regulars and insurgents of the republican congress. He said: "I don't see how the two factions of republicans can get together. Any split in the party helps the other party. I believe the democrats will control the house after the next election. If we gain control of the house we will have an excellent chance of electing a president."

A Little Cold.

He caught a little cold— That was all— So the neighbors sadly said, As they gathered round his bed, When they heard that he was dead. He caught a little cold— (Puck.) Neglect of a cough or cold often leads to serious trouble. To break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable, mix two ounces of Glycerine, a half ounce of Vicks' Oil of Pine Compound pure and eight ounces of pure whisky. Take a teaspoonful every four hours. You can buy these at any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
