Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Licensed to Wed.

A marriage license was granted today to Henry A. Wimmer and Mary Dockwieler, both of this county.

Sold Wheat Yield.

A. Leisinger was here yesterday from his home in Walla Walla and while here sold 6090 bushels of wheat to local grain dealers.

Experience of Two Students.

An attractive book of travel to be found at the public library is Allen and Sachtleben's "Across Asia on a Bicycle," the journey of two American students from Constantinople to Peking.

Council Canvasses Election Returns.

The recent election returns were canvassed by the council last evening, but no change was found in the results previously unofficially announced. Bills to the amount of $7 were also ordered paid last evening, but otherwise no business of importance was transacted.

Rail Was Not Broken.

It was announced last evening that the derailment of train No. 9 at Coe yesterday morning was not due to a broken rail but was due to the fact that the first coach that went off, simply climbed the rail. It is a peculiar accident that will sometimes happen, apparently without cause.

Train Was Stalled.

The incoming Northern Pacific train was stalled for a few minutes this morning in the east end of the city by a slight injury to the engine. The train was also delayed a few miles this side of Helix when the locomotive came uncoupled from the remainder of the train.

C. K. Cranston Ill.

C. K. Cranston, head bookkeeper in the First National bank, has been confined to his bed since Friday. He was threatened with pneumonia and while he is still quite ill, his physician believes that he has the disease under control and that the patient will soon commence to improve.

Mrs. Rounds Is Home.

Mrs. F. P. Rounds, who has been at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for several months, returned home this forenoon on the delayed No. 5, greatly improved in health. Her son, Roy Rounds, who was with her, is also enjoying better health than he has for several years.

Mrs. Vallandigham Is Dead.

Mrs. William Vallandigham, formerly Miss May Stocker of this city, was buried yesterday in Portland. She had died a few days before at Klamath Falls, three days after the death of her baby boy. Death was due to tuberculosis. The deceased was a sister of Carl and Mack Stocker of this county and a niece of Mrs. Dan Kemler.

Investigating Wreck.

A committee of three citizens consisting of F. E. Judd, W. A. Brown and E. P. Marshall, was taken to the scene of yesterday's wreck, this afternoon in the private car of Superintendent Bollons to investigate and report as to the cause of the derailment. Assistant Superintendent A. Buckley, Roadmaster H. Jurgens and F. P. Rounds, foreman of the roundhouse, were also in the party.

Injured Boy Recovering.

Little Lloyd Simpson, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Simpson, who was so seriously injured in October, when he was caught under a pile of falling wheat sacks is now rapidly recovering. He is being cared for by Mrs. Wombough at her home at 11 Stonewall Jackson street and has not only fully recovered consciousness but has recovered his sight and is able to walk.

Government Books Received.

Ten volumes of the reports of the twelfth annual census have been received at the public library and are now on the shelves. These were secured by the librarian because several injuries had been received for them. Congressional records beginning with the second session of the 59th congress and including the first session of the 61st congress have also been received. These were presented to the library by the government through Congressman Ellis.

"Story of a Grain of Wheat."

There is a little book in the public library, "The Story of a Grain of Wheat," by W. C. Edgar, that is not being read as it should be in this great wheat-growing country. Quoting from the author's introduction, he says "his point of view is that of one who glances over the marvelous history of this king of cereals is concerned more with the actual food problems than in the alluring by-paths of chemical and botanical research or the study of statistics."

Mrs. John Watson Dies.

Mayor E. J. Murphy received a telegram from Seattle this afternoon, announcing the death of Mrs. John Watson, a former well-known resident of Pendleton. Her husband was one of the founders of the Pendleton planing mill. He was one of the firm of Watson & Luhrs and at first the mill was located on the north side of the river near the present Christian church site. Mr. Watson has been dead for some time and but a few months ago Mrs. Watson lost a sister. It is believed that her death had much to do with the decline of Mrs. Watson. The Watson family left this city some ten years ago. There are no relatives in Pendleton but the deceased had many warm friends in Pendleton who regret her death.

MIRACLE PAINTING MARVEL OF ART

"In the Shadow of the Cross," the unfinished and unexplained miracle picture on exhibition at the Parish house of the Church of the Redeemer, is attracting a great number of people and exciting much admiration, wonderment and speculation.

It certainly is marvelous in its effect and is well worth the time and money it takes many times over. The painting is one of the Christman, full length, and seen in the light has nothing unusual about it to account for the strange phenomena connected with it. Immediately upon the shutting out of the light, a strange, weird light is seen emanating from the background of the picture, the figure of the Savior remaining dark in the center and heightening by contrast the pale luminosity. Behind the shoulders of the Christ and breaking the lighted area is the shadow of a cross, from which the painting derives its name.

The exhibitors of this picture do not claim any spiritual significance attaching to the peculiar light, but designate it as an accident of art, which has defied all attempts at duplication. Undoubtedly the light is given off from some chemical in the pigments of the paint. All tests, it is claimed, have proven that it is not pitch blende, radium or any of the many phosphorescent substances. Whatever its cause, to see it is to marvel.

Expensive Presents Given Away.

Commencing Friday, December 10, the first person capable of putting the Keen-Kutter puzzle together in one hour at LaDow & Peterson's will be given his or her choice of a $6 set of Keen-Kutter scissors and shears, a gold plated Keen-Kutter safety razor, a set of silver plated Keen-Kutter knives and forks or a set of Keen-Kutter tools. This offer will only last for one week or until the prizes have been awarded.
