ACADEMY TO PLAY COLUMBIA COLLEGE

WILL BEGIN SEASON WITH MILTON TEAM

Local's Lineup This Year Includes Star Players—Columbia Has Fine Aggregation of Ball Tossers and Game Promises to Be Hard Fought.

The Pendleton academy basketball team will open its season next Friday evening, December 10, when it will meet the Columbia College at Milton. The academy squad has done some faithful practice during the past two weeks for the boys realize that Columbia is much stronger this season than last, having on its team two former Weston Normal stars, Storm and Still.

The lineup of the academy team will probably be as follows: Center, Woodell and McDonald; forwards, McCormack and Piper; guards, Taylor and Norvell; subs, Weatherstone, Chilson and Gilliland. Taylor and Norvell are said by Coach Greenwald to be doing fine work at the guard end of the game and give promise of developing into a swift pair of guards. Woodell and McDonald, the two candidates for the center position, are both new but are working into the spirit and system of the game very rapidly.

Jim Chilson made such a good showing in the practice game with the Company L team that Coach Greenwald says he "showed plainly that he is made of real basketball material and could well be named 'Slippery Jim.'"

Washington high school team of Portland, Oregon, challenged some time ago and the challenge was accepted. The Windy City eleven wanted a guarantee of $1500 and the east-siders came back at them with an offer of 80 per cent of the gross receipts. Professor Herdman took an option on the grounds for the scholastic champions but will give it up unless he hears from Chicago in a few days. The Edgewood eleven has a game scheduled with the champion Lincoln high school team of Seattle on Christmas day.

Manager McMillan is still in the air about the talked of game with Washington State college. He has had no word from Pullman and has been unable to establish telephonic communication with the inland college.

Pendleton Team Challenges. From Pendleton comes a challenge from an all-star eleven representing the Pendleton Athletic club. McMillan is favorable to giving the New Year's game to the Pendleton eleven, provided the high schools and Pullman fail to come through.

While Pendleton is a small town, they have a wide reputation up there for turning out great football material. It would be virtually a game for the club against a crack college aggregation. Most of the Pendleton players are boys well known in Portland from reputations established on northwest college fields.

With men in the lineup like Olen Arnsperger, Glen Scott, Arthur and Lester Means of Oregon, Gilbert of Oregon Agricultural college, Tracey Baker, the Washington's champions' fullback, a trio of Washburn college stars, an old Yale university player and a half dozen others of equal note the inlanders would put up a game that would be a credit even to such a city as Portland.

The Pendleton management is anxious to meet Multnomah, either here or in Pendleton and is anxiously awaiting word from Manager McMillan. McMillan is not anxious to take the team to Pendleton for he fears it would be too hard a trip and further that weather conditions would be so uncertain.

"Street Car" Window.

The W. J. Clarke hardware company has a show window that is very timely and expresses the sentiment back of the move for a traction system for this city. The window shows a trolley car in full operation on Court street and the entire display is made up of articles in the hardware line. It is an observation car and is filled with passengers, represented by rifle cartridges sitting on scrub brushes for seats. A very realistic gripman is made from plumbing fixtures. The car is marked "Court street and City Park, via the Hospital," and the slogan "Pendleton 1910, Now Boost" is also conspicuously displayed. The car is represented as running past the Clarke hardware store on Court street. The window has elicited much admiration from passers-by during the past two days.

LONDON'S HOMELESS.

Berkeleys Wander About Streets, Hungry, Cold and Forlorn.

London.—With the arrival of winter the question again arises, what is to be done for the unemployed derelicts who nightly send their way to the Thames Embankment, there to huddle together on the seats, under the archways, and even on the pavement. Quite an army of 600 men and women, but mostly men, young and old, either out of work or too old to work, all human wreckage, can be seen there every night. They have neither home, lodgings, food nor money. The Church Army and the Salvation Army have fed these outcasts with soup and bread. Lady Knill, the Mayoress, has personally visited the Embankment, and what she saw she declares to be a disgrace to our civilization. Yet scarcely a stone's throw away—in the Strand—well-dressed men and women nightly hurry home from theatres, music-halls, or restaurants! The Mayoress has decided to commence a scheme of operations to help these homeless men and women, and she has enlisted the sympathy of Mr. John Burns and other influential men.

SLAYERS OF CHILDREN SHOW HARDENED MINDS

London.—Two prisoners, Frederick and Kate Chalker, showed astounding indifference when again brought up at the South-Western Police Court, charged with the slaughter of two children, and with neglecting and exposing several other children, whom they had taken into their charge at various times for monetary considerations.

The prisoners, it is alleged, had carried on a baby-farming business at Fenge, receiving children from different parts of the country. They were arrested by Detective Sergeant Cooper while exposing three children in the cold morning. Two of these children afterward died, and at an inquest, conducted by Dr. Troutbeck, a verdict of "manslaughter" was returned against both prisoners.

Big Fight Picture Monday. The big Johnson-Ketchell fight picture which will be at the Pastime theatre next Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evening is said to be the finest picture film in existence. The cost for bringing the film to Pendleton has been so great that Manager Matlock has been compelled to charge 25 cents instead of the usual price of 19 cents. The San Francisco Examiner says the following about the film said to be entirely adequate. Mr. Ketchell is a well-known pugilist of the world's champion topper to the floor. The pictures show his manager, Wilbur Eritt, frantically waving to him to be careful, but Ketchell, believing victory within reach rushes in as the negro arises and is met with two swift blows that turned victory into defeat for him.
