INTERESTING SESSION OF ATHENA COMMERCIAL CLUB

(Special Correspondence.)

Athens, Dec. 16.--What is said to be the most interesting meeting in the history of the Athena Commercial association was held last night in the club rooms with every available seat occupied. Most encouraging reports were given by the different committees and from the report of the opera house committee it seems assured that Athens is to have a modern opera house in the near future. A number of new members were taken in and a number of visitors were present from other towns. Among the visitors was Chas. Hill of Pendleton, who made an interesting talk on railroads, which received encouragement and was readily responded to by members of the association. The social committee had an elegant "feed" prepared and the association quartette entertained the large crowd until a late hour.

The funeral of Mrs. John Harrison was held at the home of her father, W. K. Wall, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Her husband arrived from Victoria yesterday, who with her parents and a number of friends, went to Pendleton on the morning train, where the interment will take place in the Olney cemetery.

Alone in a Saw Mill at Midnight, a mindfull of dampness, dreary storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as night watchman, at Banner Springs, Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. "After using one bottle," he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe colds, stubborn coughs, inflamed throats and sore lungs, hemorrhages, croup and whooping cough get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Tallman & Co.

"The Traveling Salesman."

The greatest comedy success of the century, "The Traveling Salesman," by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Lady," will be presented by Henry B. Harris by Henry B. Harris at the Oregon theater, on Sunday, December 19. This announcement should arouse more than passing interest among the theater-goers of this city, as "The Traveling Salesman" has been heralded for months as the greatest laugh-provoker of the present decade. The play deals with certain incidents in the life of the drummer on the road, and has the endorsement of the large traveling men's organizations, who commend it in the highest terms, which bespeak for Mr. Forbes' comedy a truthful exposition of the life of the drummer away from home. It will be seen here with the same careful attention to details and interesting scenic production as marked its remarkably long and successful runs in New York, Boston and Chicago.

Prices of seats for this engagement will be 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50. Sale opens Saturday, 10 a. m.

SAYS COLLEGE GIRLS DRINK RUM IN TEA

Detroit.--The Rev. M. C. Hawkes of Ypsilanti, started an audience at Salina, when he declared that young women students at the University of Michigan were taking rum in their tea.

Mr. Hawkes said that while talking with a young woman, a graduate of the university, she told him she had just been attending a gathering of her classmates in Ann Arbor. The affair was a breakfast, and "in front of every one of those 15 young women," said the Rev. Hawkes, "was a cup of tea. Every cup contained rum. It's an old, old custom in Ann Arbor."

"But only a little while ago a professor spent 31 minutes in telling this class of girls, nine-tenths of whom were Methodists, how he had taken two glasses of wine at breakfast and how harmless it was if only used rightly."

FRENCH COURTS ADOPT ANGLO-SAXON METHOD

Paris.--For the first time in a French assize court, a trial has been conducted after the Anglo-Saxon fashion. This was a fulfillment of the wish of Minister of Justice Barthou that certain reforms be instituted, including the doing away of the judge's interrogation of the prisoner.

The public prosecutor conducted the examination of witnesses, as is the practice in the courts of the United States, and at the conclusion of this examination the prosecutor asked for the discharge of the accused on the ground that the evidence developed was insufficient.

Deputy Mequillet has introduced in the chamber of deputies a bill providing that witnesses in court trials may have a lawyer present when they are examined.
