CALIFORNIA CITIES
WAR FOR EXPOSITION

BOTH SAN FRANCISCO AND
SAN DIEGO WANT 1915 FAIR

Each Has Representative in Congress Who Seeks to Gain Federal Recognition—Smith for San Diego Tries to Seal a March—Kahn for Frisco Introduces Complete Bill.

Washington.—A drawn battle between San Francisco and San Diego, California, is one of the biggest things in congressional shows on the boards for this winter.

The arena is at present in neutral ground somewhere between the committees on expositions and foreign affairs, but it appears now that before the issue is decided the forces of the two cities may have to meet somewhere on the Mojave desert and fight it out.

The question is whether there shall be an international exposition in 1915 at San Francisco or San Diego. The proposition thus to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal started out on the Pacific coast last summer when the gate receipts at the Seattle exposition began to pile up in such a gratifying quantity. There is still some dispute as to which city first broached the idea, but both are represented here in numbers trying to get Federal recognition. Representative Smith, who hails from the San Diego district and Representative Kahn, of San Francisco, are going to be the star performers.

Smith is known as the "getter" of the California delegation. He has gone about securing the exposition in a typically Smith way—a process of stealing up a back alley into the dooryard before one knows he's around, and then walking away with the goods. His bill is a simple little thing. It is merely a resolution authorizing the President to invite the nations of the Pacific to an international exposition at San Diego in 1915, when the executive is satisfied that the citizens of San Diego have raised a million dollars. It doesn't ask for any money from Uncle Sam. Smith doesn't intend to do that—yet. Quite a harmless looking little measure, but if Smith can get it through it will amount to federal recognition of the claims of San Diego. "And then, some fine afternoon, we will get our fingers into the Treasury," Smith confides to his friends.

The proposed fair is to be called, under the Smith bill, the Panama-California Exposition. Smith got President Taft's promise that the canal would be finished by 1915 before he put in his bill.

San Francisco's claims to the right to celebrate the completion of the big ditch are being urged by Julius Kahn. With shaggy gray locks and a flowing Winchester tie, Kahn looks like an actor. As a matter of fact, he used to be one before he broke into the statesman business, and he still talks like one.

Kahn went at it this way. His bill calls for a celebration of the "opening of the Panama canal and also the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Pacific ocean by Vasco Annes Balboa, by holding an international exhibition of arts, industries, manufactures and the products of soil, mine, forest and sea." Good scheme that Balboa idea! The San Diego people are still gnashing their teeth because Kahn beat them to it.

Julius Kahn calls his show the Panama-Pacific Exposition. He wants the paltry sum of five millions from Uncle Sam, but not before his new exposition company raises a like amount. The bill is about five feet long and provides everything from the appointment of a commission, to regulations for the feeding of the troops that will be there and the appointment of a board of "lady managers." Kahn even has it figured out to legalize the importation of the exhibits and the establishment of a bank on the exposition grounds. His bill is so complete that you could close your eyes after reading it and see the throngs streaming in at the gate.

As a sort of sop to San Diego, Kahn provides that the combined fleet of the world shall attend and that the President shall invite them to assemble in San Diego harbor.

Other members of the California delegation are not at present lining up with either city, and most of the members of congress say they can't for a minute consent to grant an exposition to a Pacific coast city unless the coast is agreed upon which city it wants.

ONE ARM FREE FOR GOOD SLEIGH DRIVERS

New York.—Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse University, is a firm believer in the old fashioned Christmas. In his farewell address to the students who left for their holiday vacation he said:

"I urge you all to celebrate Christmas in the old fashioned way. I hope that you will be favored with plenty of snowballing and good sleighing while you are at home. If the sleighing is good I hope that the young men will all learn to drive with one arm. If I were a girl I wouldn't go driving with a young man unless he could drive with one arm."

Only a little cold in the head may be the beginning of an obstinate case of nasal catarrh. Drive out the invader with Ely's Cream Balm applied straight to the inflamed stuffed up air-passages. Price 50c. If you prefer to use an atomizer, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the solid form of this remedy and will rid you of catarrh or hay fever. No cocaine to breed a dreadful habit. No mercury to dry out the secretion. Price 75c. with spraying tube. All druggists, or mailed by Ely Bros., 54 Warren street, New York.

THE EARTH'S CENTER
HOLDS LIFE'S SECRET

Nature's Chemistry Best for Health—So Claims Science After Careful Study of Mineral Springs and Natural Waters.

It is now established firmly in the scientific mind that nature, through her mineral springs and her bubbling health waters, produces curative powers which cure certain diseases more surely than man can do.

Recent attention directed to California's most wonderful hot springs at Paso Robles, by phenomenal cures of disease, has shown the world that this resort is doing most marvelous work every day.

Science has done much to discover wherein lies the secret of natural water cures, but has not as yet been fully able to apply nature's chemistry from the laboratories of men.

It is said that at Paso Robles, more so than at any other health resort, the local medicinal, natural and pleasing requisites are found.

Here is a perfect atmospheric condition, not too much moisture, though it lies but 20 miles from the sea, no hot, dry winds. The secret of the perfect air is said to be a natural valley surrounded by high mountain ranges which permit only an equable highly sterilized air to settle into Paso Robles, a combination of thin salt air and the dry land atmosphere, a rare health requisite.

The air condition, so perfect here, is lacking at most mineral water resorts, such as Carlsbad, Baden Baden and Kissingen in Europe.

The waters at Paso Robles comes from the earth hot and cold. They are light and pure. One does not tire of them as one does at most resorts. They have a most soothing effect on the nerves, and in cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, nervous breakdown and paralysis bring almost instantaneous comfort and relief.

Women who had not enjoyed health for years seem, after a brief stay at these springs, to be beyond even the slightest evidence of former weakness.

One meta scores of men who, being of the sporting fraternity and suffering from abuse of system from high living or alcoholic excess, come here to be made well and strong again.

Children and the aged are seen going about in the warm sun, for while the temperature is hot, no one is ever exhausted and sunstrokes never occur.

This spot is California's gift to the world, and science marvels at the wonderful cures daily being made at Paso Robles.

A small book, neatly illustrated, has been recently published by the management telling the story of the Hot Springs in a most interesting manner and giving complete information. Send for it, either to Wm. McMurray, General Passenger Agent of the O. R. & N., Portland, Ore., or Dr. F. W. Sawyer, Manager, Paso Robles, Cal.
