PATH OF INSURGENTS AT WASHINGTON IS BESET WITH MANY IMPEDIMENTS

Washington.—Now that the holiday recess is over and Congress has gotten down to business with no further vacation periods in sight, one of the most interesting situations in the history of the House of Representatives is gradually revealing itself.

Within a few days it will be known whether the insurgent republicans in the lower house will make any serious effort to change the iron clad rules of that body at this session. Never before, within the recollection of the oldest member, has the floor of the House been so closely watched. There is not a second when two or more republican leaders are not present to block any attempt to break through the rules or to precipitate a debate that might lead to unpleasant consequences for the regulars. Every minute of time during each day's proceedings is accounted for in advance to Speaker Cannon and he knows before any member obtains the floor what his purpose is.

An interesting feature of the situation is the series of annoyances to which the insurgents have been subjected. They lost their place on every important committee of the House after their fight on Cannon and they are being made to feel the weight of the "steam roller" in other ways.

At the White House, they are allowed to cool their heels for an indefinite time and are then informed that the president really cannot see them today. "Come again next week, or the week after, and maybe the president will not be so busy." Secretary Carpenter informs them. Those who are thus dealt with have a very decided feeling that they have been elected members of the administration's "Ta Bad Club," which has taken the place of Roosevelt's "Ananias Club" and which has an even more extensive membership.

Then there are many important places that are filled by the president, without consulting the insurgent members.

No Federal Patronage.
The most pointed intimation has gone out from the White House that until the insurgents get into line they may hope in vain for the chance to tap the barrel of federal patronage. The president has given his sanction to this scheme of cutting off the perquisites of the insurgent members as a club to whip them into line, with the explanation that he desires that his program of legislation shall not be jeopardized by a schism within the ranks of the majority, when just a few derelictions might give the democrats a chance to step in and do mean things with that anti-trust and railroad regulation scheme.

Thus it is that census enumerators, postmasters, and other appointments usually considered the private property of representatives are being filled without consulting the insurgents. In some cases, the fighters against the rules are subjected to the humiliation of having it reported in their districts that their usefulness at Washington is at an end, and that they cannot get anything counts with the purely machine vote.

When an "insurgent" visits the Postoffice Department, the situation is the same. Postmaster General Hitchcock, who is commonly reputed to dictate the smaller presidential appointments, is seldom in when they call. Assistants kindly usher them into a little room off his private office, where they are shown a "steam roller" hardened with use and in nice working condition, but that is as near to Hitchcock as they can get.

Then, too, it has been decided that there is to be a Rivers and Harbors bill at this session. It will have to be a small one because of the depleted condition of the Treasury, but next year is election year, and there was no bill at the last session, so it is imperative that some appropriation be made this time. Regarding this also the word has been passed out by Chairman Alexander (Rep. N. Y.) of the committee, that "maybe" if the insurgents are real good they can get a little bit of the pork barrel that is to be opened.

Meanwhile all is not harmony in the ranks of the insurgents themselves. There are several who are fearful as to the outcome of the elections next fall. They are anxious for an issue on which to insurge a little. But nobody has yet discovered an issue. Then, too, there are a few congressmen who want to let the idea get out at home that they are in sympathy with the progressive movement and would join them on some innocuous little insurging that wouldn't really make Uncle Joe mad. The insurgent leaders are fearful of presenting an issue for fear that it would help these men, that they would be elected because their constituents felt they were in the bandwagon, when the next session would find them back with the machine again.

All the time the House leaders are on the qui vive to suppress any "issue" that might lead to an alignment of regulars and insurgents.

MANY CONVENTIONS FOR PORTLAND THIS MONTH

Portland.—Numerous important conventions of interest throughout the northwest are scheduled for Portland during the present month. The Oregon State Federation of Labor and the Northwest Retail Harness & Saddlery association opened their annual gatherings on Monday, January 10, and interesting sessions are being held by both of these bodies. Good attendance has marked the convention, the delegates being widely representative of the north Pacific states. The Oregon Retail Hardware & Implement Dealers' association, which embraces those portions of Washington tributary to Portland, as well as this whole state, will meet here January 15 and 16, and the Pacific Federation of Hardware & Implement Dealers' association, will meet here January 20 and 21. The Young Peoples Societies of Christian Endeavor throughout the state are planning to send full delegations to the big state convention to be held in Portland February 15, 16 and 17. Dr. Francis E. Clarke, of Boston, president of the World's Endeavor Union; General Secretary William E. Shaw, and Dr. John Willis Baer, president of Occidental college, are among the prominent names that will be on the program.

REVENUE TO NORTHWEST FROM LUMBER SALES

Portland, Ore.—Pending timber sales from the national forest reserves of Oregon and Washington will mean a revenue to the two commonwealths of more than $300,000. This sum will go to the school and road funds of the two states, the counties benefited being those in which the timber grew. The distribution of this money will mean great improvement to both states.

Sales this year will be the heaviest yet made from government reserves. Last year sales in the two counties aggregated 130,000,000 feet, board measure. This year proposals have been made for the purchase of about 650,000,000 feet. Growing scarcity of timber on private holdings is leading millmen to the reserves for logs. This increase is expected to continue for the next few years until the point is reached where only mature timber will be cut.

Stumpage prices this year charged by the government are about $2. The forestry law provides that 25 per cent of the stumpage revenue shall go to the state where the forest is cut. This means that the revenue to the two states for the coming year from timber cut off forest reserve lands will be about $1,200,000.

Too many of us want to live in the future before it is born, and in the past after it is dead.

GURDANE NEWS AND PERSONAL ITEMS

FEED FOR STOCK IS ALMOST EXHAUSTED

Stockmen Have Great Difficulty in Wintering Animals—Other Notes of Interest.

(Special Correspondence.)

Gurdane, Jan. 12, 1910.—The mercury is fluctuating around zero with about 14 inches of snow on the ground. Every one is feeding all kinds of stock and have been for about 40 days. Hay is getting scarce until none is for sale at any price. Pat Doherty has purchased one thousand sacks of barley, which he will feed to his three bands of sheep, as he is just about out of hay.

Charles Ely has moved his sheep to the Ed Campbell place on Butter creek, where he purchased 30 tons of hay that was for sale in that section of the country.

There is plenty of chickenpox in this vicinity. Those having the disease are the family of Wm. Corley, two of Mr. Ogle's children, two of the Hall children and one of Chas. Ely's children.

Sheepmen are having considerable trouble with coyotes killing their sheep.

G. F. Jones is building a larger barn at his place in Spring Hollow. Our school is progressing nicely under the management of Miss Mabel Simpson of Salem, the board of directors being so well pleased with her that they have contracted with her for two more months, making an eight month school.

Miss Della Northup has returned to her home on Butter creek after spending several weeks at this place.

Robert Olmstead, wife and baby, are visiting relatives here.

The Troxel brothers, who are visiting their parents in the Willamette valley are expected home February the 1st.

MOYER BRANDS I. W. W. AS ABSOLUTE FAILURE

Spokane, Wash.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, brands the Industrial Workers of the World an absolute failure in letters to friends in Spokane and Butte, Mont. In the latter voicing his disapproval of the attitude of the Butte Miners' Union toward the organization. He says among other things in referring to the I. W. W. that "its hold on life is only temporary; in fact, had not its present supporters come to their assistance on account of the so-called free speech fight in Spokane, which, by the way, is only a subterfuge, they would have been a thing of the past in less than 12 months from today, and the Butte Miners' Union, if it continues its policy, will be fortunate indeed if it is not carried down to destruction in this crash when it comes." Mr. Moyer says also the time is near when the organized labor movement of America will realize the impotency of the craft form of organization and inaugurate a new policy.

COLVILLE RESERVATION TO BE OPENED IN 1912

Spokane, Wash.—Indian Commissioner Valentino says in his annual report, given out by the department, that the south half of the Colville reservation in eastern Washington, northwest of Spokane, may be opened to settlement and entry the middle of 1912. There are more than 2,500 Indians to be allotted, each receiving 80 acres of land. Clair Hunt of Colville, Wash., who had charge of the allotments to the red men on the Spokane reservation, is making progress with the appraisement of the unallotted lands, but owing to the delays in procuring returns from the surveys in the Solville reservation the

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAK, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs. Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

actual work of making allotments in surveys in the Colville reservation the lands, of which there are several hundred thousand acres, is timbered, others are adapted to farming and it is known that there are extensive deposits of minerals, including gold, silver, lead and tungsten in the hills.
