OPPORTUNITY.

Foolish is he who says that at his door
I knock but once, a furtive moment stay,
Fearing lest he shall hear, then haste away,
Glad to escape him—to return no more,
Not so, I knock and wait, and o'er and o'er
Come back to summon him. Day after day
I come to call the idler from his play,
Or wake the dreamer with my vain uproar.

Out of a thousand, haply, now and then,
One, if he hear again and yet again,
Will tardy rise and open languidly,
The rest, half puzzled, half annoyed return
To play or sleep, nor seek nor wish to learn
Who the untimely, clownish guest may be.
—William D. Eddy in Atlantic Monthly.

ENFORCE THE REGULATIONS.

To protect public health just as carefully as possible is one of the very first duties of a city government. Therefore this paper wishes to commend in the strongest way Dr. McFaul's plans for keeping Pendleton free from contagious diseases of all kinds. Backed up by Mayor Murphy and others of the administration the city physician is going to enforce the quarantine regulations to the letter. Meet assuredly the quarantine regulations should be enforced and enforced rigidly. It would be criminal negligence, or something mighty close to that, on the part of officials did they fail to enforce the regulations. Only by quarantining cases and then forcing compliance with quarantine regulations may the physicians stamp out contagious diseases and so prevent epidemics.

Of course quarantines work inconvenience on those who are quarantined. Enforcing the regulations will cause grumbling, especially when a patient who is quarantined is but mildly ill. But the public welfare comes ahead of individual convenience. It is far better to quarantine one household even though some hardship is worked on that family than to have a thousand children exposed to disease.

It is evident that when Dr. McFaul became city physician a new deal went into effect. The East Oregonian hopes that it will stay in effect and that the good intentions now held by officials will be retained. Too much care cannot be taken in this matter. Pendleton wants to be a healthful town in which to live. It is a school town and prides itself in having one of the most thorough and up-to-date school systems of any little city in the northwest. The children who live here and those who come in from abroad must be protected. It is good business to protect them and furthermore it is the right thing to do.

These remarks are not prompted by any fear that Pendleton is in immediate danger of any epidemic. There are a few cases of small pox here but the disease is of a mild form and with proper observance of quarantine regulations the trouble can be stamped out. But it is very essential that the quarantine regulations be enforced now and at all times in the future.

GET READY.

Every day that goes by increases the local sentiment for a traction system and incidentally brings the people closer together in the movement for this improvement. The preliminary work being done towards securing the $50,000 Pendleton must raise shows that property owners and business men in general are well awake to the importance of the proposition. There is little doubt but that when the company's stock is actually placed on sale local people will take $50,000 worth and take it gladly.

There is every reason in the world why Pendleton should take up the company's offer and do so quickly. It is a very reasonable estimate that the traction line will increase local realty values to the extent of a million dollars. This being the case certainly local people should be very eager to take $50,000 worth of the company's stock. Local people took a $30,000 bond issue for the woolen mill and they have never regretted the act. Because they raised that $30,000 Pendleton now has a splendid manufacturing industry that is of great value at this time and will inevitably become of greater value.

Get ready Mr. Property Owner and Mr. Progressive Citizen to do your part towards securing the traction line. When the band wagon comes along jump in with both feet. You will be in good company.

DISCOVERED THE DYNAMO.

The wonderful development of the electrical industry owes its being to a series of historic tests made in August, 1831, by Michael Faraday, when he discovered the principle of the electric dynamo. Previous to Faraday's discoveries the only electricity known in the laboratory was such as could be readily produced in the static machines by rubbing glass with silk, or the weak, though continuous, flow resulting from chemicals acting on copper and zinc or other materials. Electrical experiments were being carried on, however, with these feeble sources of electrical energy, but it was easy to see that electricity would ever remain a scientific toy so long as it took costly batteries of enormous size and great weight to produce a very slight current of electrical energy. Michael Faraday was born at Newington, near London, September 22, 1791. At the age of twenty-one he received the appointment of assistant in chemistry at the Royal Institution, London, and that same year he became the private secretary of that great scientist and electrical experimenter, Sir Humphrey Davy, touring the continent with him. It was from Davy that Faraday became interested in and took up the study of electricity. After his return to London, Faraday was re-appointed to the Royal Institute and there commenced his great career of investigation and study in the magnetic and electrical field.

That noteworthy August of 1831, Faraday spent ten days performing a series of experiments which led to the discovery of the electric motor—a mechanical device to produce a steady flow of electrical energy of great power. Upon the fifth day he noticed that electricity was produced in a copper wire whenever he moved it near a magnet. This proved that electrical energy could be produced by a magnet in motion near a good conductor. The ninth day Davy made a copper disk which could be revolved between the poles of a powerful magnet. When this crude machine was set in motion, his device for measuring the strength of an electric current showed that electricity was actually being made by mechanical means, a feat then undreamed of in scientific circles.

From this simple little device grew all the giant electric generators of today which supply the people of the world with millions and millions of horsepower for the electric railroads, electric motors and a thousand other purposes.

Faraday died in 1867, reaping to the full the honors which were due him in his early inventions and subsequent inventions.

PENDLETON THE CENTER.

A Walla Walla correspondent to the Oregon Journal tries to grow boastful because the Spokane train now leaves Pendleton in the morning and passes through Walla Walla during the forenoon instead of in the afternoon as heretofore. He thinks the arrangement will help Walla Walla commercially. Tut, tut. It is nothing to brag about. Pendleton has such a service as this from Walla Walla and has had for years. Every morning a passenger train arrives from the Garden City and it is invariably well filled with people from Walla Walla and way points who come here to shop and spend the day in a "main line" city. Furthermore Pendleton also has a morning passenger service over the Northern Pacific and it is but a question of time until such a service will be established from the west end of the county and from the Pilot Rock country. Pendleton's geographical position is such that it cannot help leading Walla Walla as a trade center. The misfortune of the Garden City comes through its isolation due to the fact that it is a "branch line" town.

A TRAGIC WRECK.

Tragedies of the sea, like that incident to the wreck of the Czarina at Coos Bay, always awaken the deepest sympathy for the sufferers and for their friends. In the wreck of the Czarina a pathetic feature was the fact that Harold Mills, son of C. J. Mills, manager of the company, was aboard the doomed vessel and his father was forced to stand upon the beach and watch his son perish. The elder Mills was former livestock agent for the O. R. & N. company and as such became well known to many people of eastern Oregon. They regret his loss.

Prometheus was the first Friend of Man and he paid the penalty. He brought the gift of fire to humankind, according to fable, and thereby incurred the wrath of Zeus who had him bound and left in torment upon a barren shore. The coal barons and the timber barons and allied interests would like to see such a fate handed out to Gifford Pinchot. Some think they already have him down. But wait and see.

Pendleton high school will have two graduating classes this year and the spring class will be far larger than ever before in the history of the city. Another evidence of the fact that there is still some life and activity in this little city.

The moderation of the weather has been pleasing to most people, but we now need another blanket of snow to protect the wheat.

An Iowa girl went insane after being hugged. She should not have taken the matter so seriously.

Vancouver now has Mrs. Maude Myrtle Baney-Johnson. Vancouver is welcome to the lady.

The poultry show will be the next big event and it promises to be something worth while.

Pendleton's gate is always open. Come in and see our town.

GOOD NIGHT.

You little tot, in your white little cot
With the moonbeams all dancing
and playing beside;
There with your doll and your slumber
and all
Roaming off in the babyhood heaven
so wide;
You with your pink little cheeks and
your curls,
Happy and tired and snuggled in
light;
You are the sweetest of all little girls—
Good night, little rose of the twilight,
good night.

There in your dreams with the wandering
beams
Sped from the azure world watching above;
Safe in the folds of your coverlets rolled Round and about you in peace and
in love;
Innocent, pure as the brooklet that
purls
Heaven will guard through the
bloom and the blight;

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The safest medicines are those which leave the system in the best condition after their use. This is one of the principal virtues we claim for S.S.S. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, it is not in even the smallest degree harmful to any system, but on the other hand its vegetable ingredients make it one of the finest of tonics to build up the health in every way. A great many blood medicines contain strong mineral ingredients which unfavorably affect the bowels, stomach or digestive system, and any blood-purifying effect they might have is therefore offset by their injurious action on the general health. S.S.S. is the one safe and sure blood purifier. It goes into the circulation and rids the blood of every impurity or pollution. It strengthens the circulation and adds nourishing properties to the blood and greatly assists in the cure of any blood disease. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all like diseases, because it purifies the circulation. S.S.S. may be taken by young or old with absolute safety, and with the assurance that it will cure all diseases and disorders due to an impure or poisoned blood supply, even reaching down and removing hereditary taints. Book on the blood and any medical advice free to all who write.
