Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Carload of Beef.

A carload of fine beef cattle was received this morning by the Central Meat Market. The shipment consists of 25 cows and steers, mostly Herefords and they were purchased of Robert Stanfield of Stanfield. The beef make an unusually fine lot.

Story Hour at Library.

Miss Mayme Batterson, librarian, will be the story teller at the story hour at the public library tomorrow morning. She will tell the story of "Old Man Coyote."

Dance at Weston.

Johnson's orchestra left this afternoon for Weston where they will play for a Knights of Pythias dance. It will be one of the big times of the year for Stevens lodge of Weston.

Veteran is Very Low.

Martin Compton, the well known local civil war veteran, is now dangerously ill and but faint hopes are entertained of his recovery. He has been troubled with paralysis for some time.

Still in Quarantine.

Thomas Hampton, the well known retired farmer, who has been ill with a slight attack of smallpox, is still in quarantine at his home in North Pendleton, though he has practically recovered from the effects of the disease. George Buzan, who has been in quarantine for several days, is out on the street again.

Eleven New Elks.

Last night antlers were fitted upon 11 new members of Pendleton lodge R. P. O. E. during a session that was well attended. Those taking the initiatory work were A. L. Schaefer, B. L. Burroughs, A. E. Serap, Dr. L. K. Blakeslee, C. S. Wheeler, Dr. R. E. Ringo, J. P. Winter, R. M. Mayberry, Ralph G. Hassel, W. B. Glaiser and J. L. Vaughan.

Judges to Exchange Benches.

Circuit Judge H. J. Bean leaves Monday for Condon where he will sit on the bench for Judge R. B. Butler during the trial of a case in which Butler's name formerly appeared as an attorney. It is a right of way damage suit with more than $50,000 at stake. Butler will arrive tomorrow or Sunday from Condon and will occupy Judge Bean's place on the local bench.

New Travelling Salesman.

S. D. Feidler, traveling salesman for the Blake-McCall Paper company, is in Pendleton today on his first regular trip. He is a new man with the company, having arrived from Pennsylvania the first of the year. This city has formerly been covered by Douglass Ball, familiarly known to his scores of friends here as "Highball," due to his perpendicular proportions. Mr. Feidler is accompanied by his wife and child.

Snow Drifted and Melted.

The wind of yesterday not only melted the snow but caused it to pile up in great drifts in different parts of the county. Especially did the snow drift in bad shape on the reservation. The growing wheat was left bare in many places and great drifts almost obstructed the roads. R. Withee of the Pendleton Auto company started out to Thorn Hollow with a load of passengers but found the road so rough that he gave up the trip and the passengers went on by hack, which required four horses to draw. Withee did not get stuck and he made his way back to town without great difficulty.

On Long Hike.

Norman R. Grantham who says he was formerly a wireless operator on the Cunard liner, Campania, is in Pendleton today enroute on foot from New York to New Orleans. He is walking the 10,000 miles on a $5,000 wages and is to make the trip in 365 days. His contract specifies that he must enter every town broke and leave it broke. He is supposed to make his expenses by selling cards and doing vaudeville stunts at local theatres. He left New York, Aug. 22, and has therefore been out 144 days. He is 251 miles ahead of his schedule but has lost five days during the past week on account of storms. His only weapon or baggage is a billiard cue walking stick of regular dimensions.

TAFT SUBMITS MORE ADVICE.

government for disposition, but expresses his belief that the federal government, through ownership, can impose restrictions. He recommends that all water sites be disposed of in such a way as to prevent their union for monopoly, with limitation for the right of use to fifty years with provisions fixing the renewal terms. He did not touch the question of regulating rates.

He recommends the conservation of soils being carried on by the department of agriculture and criticizes the reclamation service, saying that some projects in the west are likely to fail because of lack of water and that too many projects had been set on foot for the amount of money on hand. He says settlers, invited to take up supposedly reclaimed land, now find they have no water. The president then recommended the issuance of bonds from time to time, not exceeding thirty million dollars, to provide for the completion of these projects. He adds a paragraph on the subject of forests, saying that they are under the control of the department of agriculture, and recommends a small appropriation for reforestation, the sale of timber on all isolated tracts of forest lands, and the disposition of these lands for agricultural entry.

Read the East Oregonian every day.

SEA CLAIMS ALL BUT ONE.

ging of the only remaining mast and hope was renewed that the day would witness their rescue, but the fates were opposed and as the minutes grew into hours and signs of the tempest abating, despair was once more written on the faces of the anxious people ashore. Suddenly one of the six, weakened by exposure and too numb from cold to longer retain his meagre grasp on life, dropped into the sea.

There was not long to wait before another victim of the disaster surrendered his life and then a third was seen to fall into the sea. The condition of the lonely trio still left on the wreck by this time must have been pitiful. None realized better than they that life slowly was ebbing away. Aided by long distance glasses through which the people on shore were watching developments, it appeared as if the three men had resolved to make a last desperate effort to reach shore. Removing a portion of their clothing so as not to be encumbered in their swim for life they jumped into the sea. That was the last seen of them alive. Victory was not to be theirs. They had fought a good fight and lost, just as 27 other of their fellows had done before them.

WIFE WENT TO COUNTRY HUSBAND SAID "HOORAY"

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Declaring her husband "hoorayed" when she went to the country, Mrs. George H. Bernhammer, wife of song writer known as George Whiting, the author of last summer's song hit, "My Wife's Gone to the Country," today asked for a warrant for his arrest. Mrs. Bernhammer charged desertion. She said she went to the country last summer for a vacation, leaving a supposedly sorrowing husband behind her. When she returned, she alleges Bernhammer had gone and has not been heard of since. In discussing the warrant Mrs. Bernhammer said: "George went to some other country with a young woman named Emma. I think they are in New York now."

Girls.

Why have your shoe soles nailed on when we sew them on at 66c a pair. No swell dressed man or woman wants their shoes full of nails.
A. EKLUND.

Card of Thanks.

To all friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and death of my daughter, I wish to express my sincere thanks.
MRS. ELIZA ROUMAGOUX.

A Russian editor has died, after forty years spent in the newspaper business in that country. He must have been prepared for death.
