FLOOD LOSS IMMENSE

Storms in Utah Desert Wash Out Hundred Miles of Track.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 18.—Never in the history of transportation in the United States has a great railroad been stricken so sorely as was the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake by the midwinter thaw. In a twinkling the desert-born torrents lapped up a hundred miles of rails and embankments, severed the steel bond between mountains and sea, and made of a busy avenue of commerce two disorganized branches whose ends are lost in the wilderness.

Millions of dollars of investment temporarily profitless and hundreds of capable railroad men without employments are two results of the disaster. J. Ross Clark, the second vice president, said today before starting to Los Angeles:

"The weather conditions since the washout in the Meadow valley wash have been such that a thorough examination of the present line has not been possible, but as soon as the weather will permit, the matter will be gone over carefully.

"In the meantime reconnoissances are being made on two other routes with a view to ascertaining if a satisfactory alternative is available, if it is not found feasible to rebuild the line through the Meadow valley."

MILLIONAIRE POISONED RELATIVE SUSPECTED

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 18.—Physicians who examined the stomach of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the Kansas City millionaire who died October under mysterious circumstances, declared today they found evidence of strychnine. Swope's nephew, Christian Swope, died December 2, and it has been established beyond all doubt that there was poison in his stomach. It is suspected that both men were poisoned by some one who hoped to receive a portion of the Swope fortune after their removal. The examination of Col. Swope's stomach was ordered by relatives and made under the direction of Dr. Haines, the Chicago specialist.

Conference of Governors

Washington, Jan. 18.—The opening gun in the congressional campaign for general interstate commerce legislation was fired today, when the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce held its first meeting. Plans were made to continue the hearings daily until all the desired facts have been obtained.

Chairman Mann has announced that all bills amendatory of, supplementary to or affecting the act to regulate commerce, or affecting the facilities for transportation, or regulations, and practices regarding transportation, will be given a full hearing by the committee.

RED GOOSE WADDLES THROUGH STREET

UNIQUE ADVERTISEMENT ATTRACTS AN AUDIENCE

Peoples Warehouse Turns Colossal Bird Loose on Thoroughfares to Call Attention to Certain Brand of Shoes—Will Make Daily Walks.

With a crowd of small boys paddling along in the muddy streets after it, the big red goose from the Peoples Warehouse made a tour of the city today, visiting the schools and parading up and down Main street. The adjective "big" is hardly an appropriate one to describe the immense webfooted bird which is here to advertise the far-famed Red Goose shoes for boys and girls.

As he marched down the street flapping his wings and talking in goose language to the troupe of small boys running along behind and beside, he attracted the attention of hundreds of grownups as well as the small boy and girl. He will be in Pendleton for three days.

One of the big show windows in Pendleton's great store has also been given over for a display of the shoes and the prizes which every boy and girl in the city will have a chance of winning.

The Prizes

The makers of the Red Goose school shoes for children desire to secure a number of good pictures of the famous red goose. They have decided to offer through the Peoples Warehouse a number of prizes for the best drawings made by the school children.

There are 15 big prizes for the 15 best drawings, but in addition to this, every boy and girl who draws a picture will get a prize. The big prizes are:

First prize, $10; second prize, $5; third prize, $3; twelve prizes, $1 each.

This makes 15 big prizes for the 15 best drawings. In addition to these, every boy and girl who makes a drawing of the red goose and brings it to the shoe department will get a prize. This will be a copy of "The Red Goose Story Book" and one of the red goose souveniers.

There are very few rules to govern the drawing contest:

Any boy or girl under 16 years of age can enter the contest.

You may draw any kind of a picture you like, either serious or humorous. You can make the drawings of the red goose only, or it can be a scene in which the red goose is a prominent character.

You can draw the picture in black and white with pen and ink, or pencil or crayon, or it can be drawn in colors with crayon or water colors.

You can draw one picture or as many as you like. There is no limit to the you can enter.

First—The drawing must be made on a good clean sheet of drawing paper or drawing board, about the same size as those used in the drawing classes in your school.

Second—Your name, your parents' or guardians' name, your home address, your age at your nearest birthday and the name of your school must be plainly written on the back.

Third—The drawing must be brought in by yourself and handed in at the shoe department. (An exception will be made for those children who through sickness or misfortune cannot come in person.)

The contest will close March 10, 1910, and on or before that date all of the drawings must be presented. You can bring them in as much earlier as you like. The prizes will be awarded two weeks later, as the committee will require about this amount of time to select the best.

DINGY JACK WANTS T. R. TO REFEREE BIG FIGHT

Boston, Mass.—If Theodore Roosevelt will consent to referee the Jeffries-Johnson fight, every difficulty in selecting an arbiter for the championship battle will be swept away. Johnson wants the former president to be third man in the ring. Roosevelt's attitude, should be offered the job, apparently in causing the black fighter little worry.

Following the publication of a letter from the hunter-statesman to Tony Gavin, a former Rough Rider, in which he displayed a passing interest in the fight and discussed the merits of the fighters, Johnson today declared:

"Roosevelt as a referee would suit me to a queen's taste. He has boxed himself and knows the boxing game. He is fair minded and impartial, and he has a cool head. The crowd would not get his goat as it would many other fellows. He sure would be the man for the job."

The incongruity of a former president of the United States acting as a judge in a prize fight, as suggested by Johnson's friends, made little impression upon him.

"Roosevelt is a sportsman," he declared, "and there should be no reason why he shouldn't referee a square sporting proposition like this. There's no reason why he shouldn't be asked to do it, anyhow."

The Baptists Fat and Jolly.

The Baptists of Pendleton will meet in convocation tomorrow night at the Eagles hall. They will feed, sing and talk. The banquet hour is 6:45. The roll of the faithful will be called by clerk S. L. Nichols at 8 o'clock and then the Nestors and the Clericos and others besides will hold forth for an hour. The talkfest has among its speakers Ben Hill, W. W. Harrah, Mrs. May, P. K. Welles, Rev. H. D. Pease of Hornistown and Rev. R. E. Storey. The toastmaster of the evening will be R. H. Wilcox, who also headed the table a year ago. The speeches will cover such topics as "Along My Line," "Women's Work in the Church," "Church Work and Males," "Why I Like Banquets" and "Things in General." The quartet which furnishes the music will do some special stunts with plenty of local color and spice.

The singers are, first tenor, C. E. Penland; second tenor, Ben Hill, first bass, J. B. Hartwell; second bass, F. K. Welles. The supper is under the management of a committee of ladies with Mrs. J. E. Montgomery chairwoman.

Prize Shooting.

First prize, 30-30 Remington automatic.

Second prize, 22 Marlin repeating rifle.

Third prize, box of 50, 19c cigars.

The contest is now on at the Pastime shooting gallery, Jas. H. Estes, Prop.

THEATER COMMENT.

Arleen Hackett as Rosalie played the simple and loving maiden with a rare grace and by her winsome manners saved several situations from romantic tenebrosity.

Again has the decadence of the drama been disproven. The presentation last night of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "The Right of Way," has fortified the fast-ebbing faith of local patrons of the play in this particular type of attraction.

The piece was saved from the brutalities of barnstorming by a cast of genuine talent. Foremost among the leading parts must be mentioned Hallet Thompson as Charley Steele, throughout the metamorphosis of this character, which forms the theme of the play, Mr. Thompson's portrayal satisfies all those who have read the book; as "Drunken" Charley Steele, the dissolute young barrister, endowed with a masterful intellect and brilliant abilities, yet whose eternal questioning keeps him without the pale of faith and love; the confirmed cynic, who derides and sneers at those things which his fellow beings hold most sacred; who contemns life and laughs at death, and whose destructive genius enlists others in his hopeless existence; and then as the recreated dweller of the hills, with no memory of the past; and finally as the man of the new awakening finding the salvation of life and the manifestation of God through the agency of love; Mr. Thompson's acting meets with the approval of his audience.

However, the laurel wreath must be placed about the brow of P. August Anderson, who as Joe Portugais, assayed a difficult part in a manner that repeatedly brought him applause. He has the ability so rare in stage artists to project himself into the personality of his part, and in the character of the French Canadian river men, rough and barbaric, primal in his passions, and yet honest and loyal at heart, he walked and talked, laughed and sang, lived and moved. His expression in his perfect patois of the fierce emotions of his kind, was in itself enough to lift him

The minor parts were all well cared for, which added greatly to the general high tone of the play. Briefly summarized, it was a good production of a good dramatization of a good novel.

Authorize Big Bond Issue

St. Louis, Jan. 18.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Missouri Pacific Railway company, a Gould property, held in this city today, a $175,000,000 bond issue was ratified. The issue will consist of convertible 5 per cent first and refunding mortgage fifty-year gold bonds. Present stockholders will be permitted to subscribe for the bonds at the rate of $950 per $1000 bond, up to thirty-six per cent of the par value of their present holdings.

The stockholders also authorized the Missouri Pacific company to purchase from time to time of not to exceed $25,000,000 par value of the bonds of the Iron Mountain road, another Gould property.

Consent was also given to the purchase of the whole or any part of the railroads and other property and franchises of all or any of the following named railroad companies: Carthage and Western Railroad company, Joplin and Western Railroad company, St. Louis, Oak Hill and Carondelet Railway company, Sedalia, Warsaw and Southwestern Railroad company, The Kansas City Northwestern Railroad company, Omaha Belt Railway company, Pacific Railway company in Nebraska, The Pueblo and State Line Railroad company, and Kansas and Arkansas Valley Railway.
