"Chicken" Books at Library.

Chicken fanciers will probably be interested in knowing that the public library has George C. Watson's "Farm Poultry"; a popular sketch of domestic fowls for the farmer and amateur.

Store Opens Later.

R. Alexander, proprietor of the Alexander department store, announced this morning that from this date until March first, his store would open at 7:30 instead of at 7 o'clock as at present.

Squire Beechman Very Ill.

Squire Beechman, son of Mrs. C. F. Colesworthy is now lying very ill at the Colesworthy home on the high school hill and some fears are entertained for his recovery. He is suffering from Bright's disease.

Bankruptcy Case is On.

The bankruptcy case of Mitchell & Routh has been up today before Judge Thomas Fitz Gerald, referee in bankruptcy. The bankrupts were formerly in the mercantile business at Free-water.

Laying New Floor.

At the Taylor hardware company's store carpenters have been at work today, and also last night, installing a new floor, to replace the one that has been in use for many years. When torn up the old floor was found to have been worn almost through.

To Spokane via Umatilla.

The O. R. & N. Company is still operating its Pendleton-Spokane passenger service via Umatilla and from indications at present the service will continue around by way of Umatilla for at least three weeks. It is understood that length of time will be needed to make repairs on the Washington division. The local service between Walla Walla and Pendleton is in regular operation.

For Commercial Club President.

With the Commercial association election of officers now but a few days distant interest in that event is being coming aroused and candidates for the presidency are being much discussed. For president of the association friends of W. L. Thompson are warmly supporting that gentleman and it is evident that his candidacy has much backing. However, according to Mr. Thompson he is making no fight for the office. Another prospective president is Attorney J. P. Winter, the present vice president of the association.

Head Advisor Is Coming.

T. Clinton Veale, head advisor for the order of Woodmen of the World, is to pay an official visit to Pendleton camp W. O. W. next Monday evening and his coming is awaited with much interest. The position of head advisor is second only to that of head consul, which is now filled by I. I. Boak. Accordingly the coming of Head Advisor Veale to Pendleton will be an event in Woodmen circles. At this time the local axmen are preparing to give the visiting official a reception in keeping with his high position. A social session will be held Monday evening and incident to the same a banquet will be served.

Little Tot Makes Long Trip.

Trainmen on No. 2 last evening told of a passenger on the train yesterday, scarcely out of swaddling clothes, and yet unaccompanied by parent, relative or friend. This juvenile traveler was put aboard the train at Portland by her mother, with instructions to the conductor to drop her off at Echo. The little girl, who gave her name as Pauline Ella Almstead, her home as Vancouver, Wash., and her age as 6 years, immediately ensconced herself in a seat, and throughout the long journey was the object of much attention from train crew and passengers alike, who were all quite won by her self possession. She was put off at Echo, where she was met by her grandmother. The trainmen are very gratified to think that the mother had enough confidence in them to trust the little girl entirely to them for a distance of 216 miles.

SUMMERS AND UNHOLZ FIGHT TAME BATTLE

Sydney, Australia, Jan. 26.—Johnny Summers, the English lightweight and Rudolf "Boer" Unholz met in a twenty round bout here today. The fight was anything but spectacular from the standpoint of the spectators and resulted in a draw. Summers' speed dazzled Unholz all through the fight. He danced around the Boer, who was constantly on the aggressive but was unable to connect right hard. Neither contestant was badly used up when the affair was over.

Available Grain Supply.

New York, Jan. 26.—Special cable and telegraphic communications received by Bradstreets show the following changes in available supplies as compared with previous account: Available supplies: Wheat—United States, east of Rockies, increased 49,000 bushels; Canada, increased 448,000 bushels. Total, United States and Canada, increased 497,000 bushels. Afloat for and in Europe, unchanged. Total American and European supply, increased, 497,000 bushels.

Violent Quake Reported.

Paris, Jan. 26.—A violent earth shock is reported to have occurred today at Ruelle in the department of Charente.

Some insinuation to tell a married woman from a single one is demanded by a dress reformist. There ought to be no great amount of trouble picking out the married ones that wear the trousers—and those who don't are so meek that they are easily discernible.

PARISIANS BATTLE WITH FLOOD

which the people depend for the preparation of their food, and for light during the night as well as during many dark hours of the present dark days. An enormous trunk of the sewer broke at Clichy today setting loose the vast flood of vile sewage, which has turned the national road into a filthy canal. Entire city trunk sewer system is in grave danger of collapse. The basement of the city hall this afternoon contained eight feet of water. Although men are working valiantly with pumps the flood beneath the building is rapidly rising and much apprehension is felt for the safety of the walls. Authorities declare a further rise of two feet will force the waters to the Pantheon in the Boric quarters in east Paris. The water stands five feet deep in the Continental hotel.

The flood will reach its highest point tomorrow morning according to hydrometric estimates. Then the danger of the city will be most critical. At noon the Seine at Pont Royal registered twenty eight feet. This is nineteen feet, eight inches above the normal level. The greatest immediate danger will lie in further breaks of the retaining wall along the river. The great embankment in many places has crumbled before the rising waters.

"BEVERLY" SUCCESSOR TO "PRISONER OF ZENDA"

On February 1 an opportunity will be offered at the Oregon theatre to witness what is said by the dramatic critics to be the most charming romantic play since "The Princess of Zenda," Anthony Hope's thrilling romance was given to the stage. The attraction is Robert M. Baker's dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's delightful romantic novel, "Beverly of Graustark," and according to all who have had the pleasure of witnessing the performance, is by far the strongest and best play of any of the dramatized novels which have been produced in recent years. The production is under the personal direction of A. O. Dolamater and William Norris, who for a number of years have been prominently identified with leading Broadway successes.

Notice Farmers Union.

There will be a meeting of the Farmers Union in Helix, Oregon, on Friday, Jan. 28, for the purpose of discussing the grain bag, twine, warehouse and telephone system questions. The managers of the Pacific States Telephone Co. will be present and all members are requested to attend. C. C. CONNER.

Weak? Tired? Run-down?

These conditions come from overwork, a weak stomach, overtaxed nerves or feeble blood. When you feel "all in"—hardly able to drag about, no energy, no ambition, easily exhausted and can't sleep—take and note what a difference they make in your condition. The stomach is the first to feel the good effects. Food tastes good, the digestion is strengthened; bowels and bile work regularly, the blood is cleansed, and the nerves rested. The whole system responds to the tonic action of Beecham's Pills. Soon there is the buoyant feeling of returning health.

For the benefit of many anxious fans, who are continually compelled to listen to the remark "Can Jeffries come back?" let it be said that it never was proved that Jeffries was gone, so the anxiety of his coming back should not hold the center of the stage. The term "come back" cannot be applied to him.

Many sport critics compare Jeffries' career to some of the ex-champions that met with defeat and after certain lapse secured a return match and always met with the second defeat. In this way the argument is brought about Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, George Dixon and among the heavyweights Corbett's match with Fitzsimmons, his matches with Jeffries and Bob Fitzsimmons' two battles with Jeffries.

"This is all wrong," said a well posted sporting authority yesterday. The same comparison cannot be applied to this case, for the simple reason that Jeffries never was defeated, but simply retired for the lack of suitable opponents. Jeffries' absolute good faith with the public is also worthy of mention, and right here let it be said that at different times when promoters and managers came to Jeffries with offers for fights, the big fellow turned them down and gave as his reason that it would be nothing short of bunk to hand the public such a fight, and he refused to be a party of such schemes. All kinds of guarantees and picture money were offered him to re-enter the ring with one of them for his opponent. He seldom gave answer to these offers only with a grunt and unmistakable scowl.

To a Coffroth, Gleason or a promoter of equal standing he would only repeat that he was through with the ring game. And his refusal to fight Bill Squires, with whom he was offered $30,000 for his end, win, lose or draw, cannot be said to be insufficient.
