The Peoples Warehouse Where it Pays to Trade

June Hive of the Lady Macabees of this city has organized the Busy Bee Sewing club, which meets at the homes of the members alternately the second and fourth Tuesday afternoons of each month. All ladies are supposed to bring their fancy work. All Lady Macabees in the city are cordially invited to attend these meetings. The object is to promote sociability among the members. In connection the ladies have taken up the study of Colonial literature. A committee of three with Mrs. Ed Cross as chairman, being appointed at each meeting. A very enjoyable meeting was held last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Yates in the west end of the city. Two very excellent papers on the lives of Capt. John Smith and Jonathan Edwards were read by Mrs. W. P. Daniels, Mrs. Cross followed by reading of some of the early poets of America. Dainty refreshments were served. Visitors present were: Mrs. Chambers of Baker City, Mrs. Leazer of Echo, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Henry Craig and Mrs. Light of this city. The next meeting will be held in Secret Society Hall on Court street, Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 8th, and will be an open meeting. Any Lady Macabee in the city may attend and bring two friends. The officers of the club are: President, Mrs. Ora Hamilton, vice president, Mrs. McConnell, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Clark.

that institution. The graduates were Miss Grace Elizabeth Cole, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Cole, Miss Margaret Lowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lowell, Miss Hazel Irene Means, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Means, Misses Hazel and Lucille Rader, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Rader, and Miss Edna Francis Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Slater. All of the young ladies are well known and popular in Pendleton, especially in younger circles. On their commencement evening they looked pretty in their graduating gowns, while the profusion of flowers and the music added to the beauty of the occasion. The exercises were held in the Presbyterian church and the diplomas were presented by Dr. C. J. Smith of the school board. The commencement address was by the Rev. Raymond C. Brooks of Walla Walla. The customary orations were not given by the graduates, but instead a very pleasing musical program was rendered.

The green hill and the shining stream They are not far away. Lo! there they stand at your right hand, If you but look that way. And yea! the good friends and the true They are not far away, For all the while they stand and smile, If you but look their way.

The above appropriate verses appeared on the menu card of the third annual banquet of the Sigma Epsilon Omicron sorority, given by the alumni of that organization, at the home of Miss Grace Bean, 402 W. Tustin street, last Tuesday evening. The young ladies, while enjoying an elaborate menu, celebrated the reunion by many reminiscences. Toasts were responded to by the Misses Edith Johnson, Laura McKee, Viola Shea, Evelyn Sommerville and Ruth Donahue. Those who were present for the occasion were the Misses Lucille Rader, Grace Bean, Gladys Hamley, Grace Fennell, Hazel Rader, Laura McKee, Irene Shea, Gertrude Campbell, Edith Slusher Mary Shea, Hazel Means, Edna Zimmerman, Gertrude Jordan, Hazel Nolan, Edith Johnson, Clara Boylen Cronin, Helen Hart, Iva Hill, Ethel Temple, Irmal Mann, Nona Johnson, Edna Storie, Winnie Boylen, Pauline La Fontaine and Elizabeth Sawtelle. The absent members were Veva Boothby, Edna Thompson, Javina Stanfield, Rae Vogel, Eunice Vogel, Una Smith and Bernice Ruppe.

Perhaps the largest social event of the week was the affair last evening at which the Misses Edna Storie and Elizabeth Sawtelle were hostesses to over half a hundred of the young people of the city at the Storie residence, 361 Cosby street. Progressive "500" was the principal pastime in which contest Mr. Glen Sturdivant carried off first honors. Another novel feature and one that proved particularly amusing, was the magic lantern exhibition of the baby pictures of the guests. Late in the evening dainty refreshments were served. Among those who enjoyed the young ladies' hospitality were the Misses Ivy Hill, Norma Alloway, Ida Cherry, Mildred Magoon, Ina Cherry, Edith Johnson, Lavelle Florence, Edna Zimmerman, Pauline La Fontaine, Edna Florence, Paralee Halley, Irene Shea, Laura Wyrick, Nona Johnson, Mary Shea, Bertha Anger, Genevieve Clark, Fay Gibson, Georgia Stewart, Gertrude Jordan, Winnie Boylen, Gertrude Campbell, Ethel Temple, Irmal Mann, Jennie Perry and Hazel Nolan, and the Messrs. Will Hanscom, George La Fontaine, Tom Hill, Marshall Spill, Dale Sturdivant, Carl Eundahl, Glenn Sturdivant, Max Harper, George Stroud, Fred Miles, Harry McEuen, James Thompson, Dale Chessman, Cecil Cole, Herbert Thompson, Ernest Knight, Roy Skiles, Bert Campbell, John Dickson, Tom Marley, Brooke Dickson and Merle Chessman.

Mrs. J. R. Dickson and Mrs. James A. Fee entertained the members of the Thursday Afternoon club Thursday at the home of Mrs. Dickson. The following program on Shakespeare in music, was delightfully presented:

Piano Selection from Merchant of Venice, Mrs. A. J. Owen, Shakespeare in Music, Mrs. Sheridan, Discussion, Mrs. Bean.

Reading—Selection from the Sonnets, Mrs. Halley.

Songs (a) Lawn as White as Driven Snow, Winter's Tale (Greenhill); (b) Who Is Silvia? Two Gentlemen of Verona (Schubert); (c) Over Hill and Over Dale, M. S. N. D. (Cook), Mrs. Landers.

Duet—"I Know a Bank," M. S. N. D. (Horne), Mrs. Dickson and Mrs. Landers.

Songs—(a) Sigh No More Ladies, Much Ado; (b) Orpheus and His Lute (Henry VIII.); (c) Where Daisies Pied and Violets Blue, Love's Labors Lost, Mrs. Dickson.

Piano—Hark Hark, the Lark, Cymbeline, (Schubert-Liszt), Mrs. Slusher.

Miss Margaret Lowell, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Stephen A. Lowell, will leave Monday evening for Forest Grove, where she will enter the conservatory of music at Pacific University to continue her studies on the violin. Miss Lowell was a member of the mid-winter graduating class of the high school, and her many friends wish her success in her new field.

An affair of especial note will be the banquet next Saturday evening tendered Mr. Roy Alexander by seventeen of his friends about town at the Pendleton hotel. The occasion will be of a farewell nature, as the guest of honor is soon to forsake the ranks of young celibates to join the army of Benedicta. Mr. Alexander has long been one of the popular young men of the city, both in busi-

ABOUT SENATORS AND SENATORIAL LUXURY

PRIVATE ROOMS HAVE ARISTOCRATIC APPEARANCE

Apparent Luxury of Offices Sometimes Embarrassing to Western Senators When Visited by Rough and Ready Friend from Home.

Washington.—When the senate office building was erected each of the august statesmen was given two rooms. These were fitted with imposing mahogany furniture that did not cost as much as you might judge from the looks. The firm that provided it having lost money on the contract. The interior woodwork and the doors are also of dark brown wood as awesome and aristocratic looking as mahogany. If indeed, they are not mahogany. Altogether the ensemble is as full and up to snuff.

The visitor enters a room, the one with the senator's name on the door, and finds a secretary and one or two clerks at work hammering typewriters. He gets the attention of the clerks, asks if the senator is in, and is told that he is busy.

Senators are always busy. Their time is occupied by the demands of friends from home, friends of bills pending in congress favorable to certain individuals or corporations, and in dictating rooms of letters to stenographers.

It's the friends from home that embarrass them, especially some senators from the west, where every man is as good as another and they don't go much in ceremony. At home the leading citizen walks into the senator's office, places his feet on the senator's desk and they spit into the same spittoon.

The leading citizen, dressed comfortably, but very plainly, visits the capital and after many tribulations lands in front of the dark and forbidding portal bearing the name of his friend, the senator, on a little brass plate.

He walks in, expecting to find the senator in his shirt sleeves sitting in a swivel chair such as adorn the best offices in Eagle block on Main street, and reading the home paper.

Instead, he encounters a number of busy young people, one of them asks the occasion for his visit. He wants to see the senator. The senator is busy. He waits half an hour. Then he passes into the adjoining room, the private offices, with the cold, accusing air of a grand jury.

Just as the senator knows of the story that is liable to be told out of his exclusiveness and the luxury of his surroundings. So he regrets that his friend was kept waiting when he should have been ushered in at once and does the best he can, in a tactful way to let the visitor know that, despite the luxurious surroundings, he is the same plain citizen here as at home.

Some of the secretaries have ordered that when a caller who looks like one of the elect from home arrives, he is to be steered in, no matter what is going on in the private office.

Members of the house do not have similar troubles. In the house office building each member has only one room and when the visitor enters he is in the presence of his representative. The furniture, too, is less expensive than that in the senate building.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
