Rev. Quinney at Weston.
The Reverend Charles Quinney leaves this evening for Weston where he will conduct and celebrate the holy communion in the All Saints church tomorrow morning.

Committee Will Meet.
For the purpose of discussing plans and arrangements for the entertainment of the big inland empire teachers association the joint committee from the Pendleton Teachers' association and the Commercial association will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The session will be held in the council chamber at the city hall.

Watch for the Comet.
"Comet A" which has been making nightly pilgrimages through the heavens and thereby causing much comment and speculation will appear again tonight, and those who have not been favored with a sight of this appendaged star can have the opportunity by gazing westward between the hours of 6 and 7.

Curricula Board to Meet.
Dr. C. J. Smith is to leave Monday for western Oregon to attend a very important meeting of the state board of higher curricula. The board is to assemble in Eugene first and after a visit at the state university will proceed to Corvallis and visit the O. A. C. The members will then go to Portland where the formal session of the board will be held. This board has the adjudication of disputes between the agricultural college and the university over the question of duplication of courses in those schools.

Curtain Goes up at 9.
At the suggestion of several of the business men of the city, the curtain for the "Sunny South Minstrel" will be postponed until 9 o'clock in order to allow the employees of the various stores to attend. Many of the stores, recognizing the worthiness of the purpose of the entertainment have signified their intention of closing their establishments at 8:30. The program at the poultry show will also be finished early and the orchestra will proceed to the opera house where it will assist materially in making the show a success. The advance sale of seats indicates that there will be a crowded house to witness the efforts of the local thespians.

To Honor Miss Willard.
The W. C. T. U. of Pendleton, will observe the anniversary of the death of Frances E. Willard by memorial services on February 17, 1910. "The whole world loves Miss Frances E. Willard," says the Union Signal, organ of the W. C. T. U.
"Scores of school buildings and many other public institutions in our country bear Miss Willard's name; in thousands of school rooms may be seen her pictured face; in many a church where her life work is gratefully revered, radiant sunshine reveals the beauty of a Frances E. Willard memorial window."
"Hundreds of little people have been given her beloved name, and in countless homes this name is a synonym for all that is highest and truest and loveliest in life."

CELESTIAL IMMIGRANTS ARE WILY CUSTOMERS
Washington.—The bureau of immigration here heartily subscribes to Bret Harje's characterization of the heathen Chinese. Nearly every day officials are confronted with another dark trick of the wily Celestials to evade the strict exclusion laws of the United States.
For instance, there is the case of Toy Tun, recently arrested on the charge of surreptitiously entering the country and released because the immigration bureau refused to prefer charges.
Tun gave himself up, claiming to have sneaked into the United States from Mexico three or four years ago. He made the case against himself so easy that the immigration authorities smelt a rat.
They have now decided that Tun is trying to bamboozle the government into paying his way back to China. His scheme was artfully concocted. In the first place, he made the time in which he had been in the United States three or four years, to escape deportation back to Mexico which would have been ordered if the immigration officials discovered that his entrance into the United States occurred less than three years ago.

Thus he stood liable for deportation back to China, under the exclusion act.
The bureau officials decided that Tun was trying to work them, and have refused to act in his case. They think he sneaked across the Mexican border during the last few months, but haven't any way of proving it, although they know lots of other Chinese are doing the same thing. It is a physical impossibility to cover the whole border with agents, and a continuous stream of Celestials pours in.

NEVER KNEW SENATOR HAD A BACKBONE

Washington.—Newspaper men at the national capital are a harden lot of unregenerates. So thinks Senator Heyburn of Idaho, who, since his speech of last session in the Senate advocating abolishment of the press gallery and denouncing the correspondents for their frivolous handling of momentous events, hasn't been receiving very much attention in the public prints. So, also thinks Senator Perkins, of California, now that the latest example of their irreverence has been brought to his attention.
A few weeks ago the California senator slipped on an icy pavement and bruised his spine. The news speedily reached the headquarters of the California newspaper correspondents. One of them became wildly excited.
"Oh, it's only a trival injury," one of his colleagues expostulated.
"Trival injury, hell," the perturbed one snorted, "my paper will want to get out an extra. Just think how he's hurt! Why, his backbone's injured. Do you hear that? And out our way, they never know he has a backbone!"
Senator Perkins is laying for the jolter.

LONDON WILL SEND SCOTT TO ANTARCTIC

London.—The British fund for sending Captain Scott to the Antarctic in July has now reached dimensions to make the scheme a practical possibility. The British government has made a grant of 42,000 pounds toward the cost of the expedition.
The subscriptions already received amount to between 11,000 and 12,000 pounds, so that the expedition is now in a position to insure its starting in July next.
Captain Scott's whole time is taken up with the necessary preparations. Mr. C. H. Meares has left London for Siberia for the necessary dogs and ponies.

NOT FAST COLORS.

"Aunt," said little Constance, "don't you want some of my candy?"
"Thank you, dear," was the reply. "Sugared almonds are favorites of mine."
"The pink or the white ones?" asked the little tot.
"The white ones, please."
There was silence until the last piece had disappeared.
"They were all pink at first, Aunt," remarked Constance.—From Success Magazine.

The Perfect Man.

There is a man who never drinks.
Nor smokes, nor chews, nor sweats;
Who never gambles, never winks,
And shuns all sinful snares—
He's paralyzed.
There is a man who never does
Anything that is not right;
His wife can tell just where he is
At morning, noon and night—
He's dead.
—From Unknown Author.
A sweetly spoken refusal of a request is more satisfactory than a begrudged acquiescence.

Rev. W. C. Merritt's theme at the Baptist church tomorrow morning is "The Word: Its Promise and Its Power."
