WALLA WALLA HOGS HAVE THE CHOLERA

EPIDEMIC IS DISCOVERED: MANY ANIMALS AFFECTED

Assistant State Veterinarian Woods Is Probing Into Cause of Malady—Farmers Are Negligent.

Hog cholera is rampant in this section and Assistant State Veterinarian W. J. Woods is now battling with the disease, says the Walla Walla Union. Three hog ranches near Walla Walla are affected. Thirty-five hogs have died on one ranch and 20 on another and 15 on a third within the past few weeks. The fight is now being made to confine the infected community to its present bounds. It is not thought many of the hogs on the three ranches, about five hundred in all, can be saved. In most instances the disease was allowed to spread before Dr. Woods was summoned.

When found in his office last night Dr. Woods was rather reticent in discussing the case and refused absolutely to give the names of the farmers suffering the loss, claiming that there was no danger, as none of the hogs were being marketed and it would only injure the farmer. Dr. Woods says the malady is in a mild form and if the farmers co-operate with him they can stamp it out before it has the entire valley in its grip. Two additional cases of hog cholera have been reported to Dr. Woods and he will investigate both this morning. When asked the cause of cholera, Dr. Woods said: "We thought we knew the cause up to a few months ago until one of the profession came forth with new ideas and as a result veterinarians all over the country are puzzled." Continuing, Dr. Woods said: "The great trouble with the average rancher is that he is willing to take chances where we have not. When he notices anything wrong with any of the animals he should summon aid; for one who makes animal diseases a profession can see a hundred dangers where the average rancher does not see one. He is not supposed to. Cholera in hogs makes its first appearance by a drowsiness of the animal. The animal sometimes becomes lame. It is while these symptoms continue that a veterinary should be called. The farmer should not experiment for the disease develops rapidly and the first thing the rancher knows his entire pen is infected. Each animal should be isolated from the others if not killed at once, while the pens should be thoroughly disinfected. This wet weather makes it a hard battle with the disease for whenever an afflicted animal walks, the ground becomes alive with germs and they will remain near the surface until summer. I intend making another trip through the quarantined district this week."

No false pretense has marked the career of Ely's Cream Balm. Being entirely harmless, it is not responsible like the catarrh snuffs and powders, for minds shattered by cocaine. The great virtue of Ely's Cream Balm is that it speedily and completely overcomes nasal catarrh and hay fever. Back of this statement is the testimony of thousands and a reputation of many years' success. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

TESTIMONIALS FOR HANFORD IN HIS "AMERICAN LORD"

It is a good comedy. Mr. Hanford plays the part of John Brewster as he always has everything, as an artist giving his best, which is the best. Miss Drowfnah plays the classic part of the Irish widow with happy gaiety. The audience was enthusiastic, happy and appreciative.—Othman Stevens, Los Angeles Examiner.

"The American Lord" is a first-class comedy, chock full of humor.—Charlotte (N. C.) News.

"The American Lord" is one of the cleverest modern comedies we have seen for some time.—Augusta Herald.

The word "delightful" fully describes "The American Lord." The entire play is clean, clear-cut and filled with general humor both in lines and situations.—Chattanooga News.

"The American Lord" is a delightful comedy, well designed, splendidly developed, and the lines are witty and weighty.—Beaumont Enterprise.

"The American Lord" is a fascinating comedy, clean and clever, not too deep, not too light and not at all trashy—it fills the bill.—Galveston News.

"The American Lord," as presented by Charles B. Hanford, is one of the best Broadhurst comedies.—Houston Daily Post.

FIREMEN GIVE VALENTINE DANCE MONDAY NIGHT

Many Couples Attend—Dog Catcher Is a Busy Man—Other Items of Interest to Echoites.

(Special Correspondence.)
Echo, Ore., Feb. 15.—The valentine dance given by the Echo firemen last night at the city hall was a very pleasant affair. Nearly one hundred couples were present. Music was furnished by the Echo orchestra in J. E. Taylor's absence the orchestra was led by Mrs. Theodore Barker. Dancing continued until 2 a. m.

Today is a busy day for the dog catcher in Echo. Twenty-five dollars for new dog licenses has been received today with more to follow.

Mrs. C. Tefft left today for Mt. Vernon, Wash., to visit with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Kimsey.

Mrs. J. E. Taylor returned from a short visit to Pendleton this morning. E. Ripper left Monday for Portland on a short business trip.

Miss Andry Watenburger who has been compelled to be out of school the past week with appendicitis, left this evening for Pendleton where she will take osteopathy treatment.

R. R. Lewis of Hermiston, was a visitor here yesterday, returning to his farm this morning.

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS" AT THE OREGON THEATRE

What promises to be one of the most important engagements of the present season at the Oregon Theatre, is booked for February 28.

The occasion will be the presentation by Cohan and Harris' comedians of Winchell Smith's and Byron Ongley's dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's famous story "Brewster's Millions" of which upwards of half a million copies have already been sold. The story of Montgomery Brewster's wild and daring dissipation of a million dollars in twelve months in order to obtain possession of a legacy of $7,000,000, is already familiar to all readers of light fiction. The humorous adventures and escapades of young Brewster in quest of his goal have been deftly woven into delightful comedy by Messrs. Smith and Ongley, and as presented by Cohan and Harris' clever comedians form an entertainment almost of duplication. Originally produced by Frederic Thompson, that master of stage productions, it ran for an entire year in New York and subsequently for an extended period in both London and Chicago, in each city recording an almost unheard of success. Its presentation here will be marked by the same care and elaborateness of presentation as during its long runs in the cities above named. The third act discloses what is probably the highest achievement in stage mechanism hitherto recorded. It discloses the deck of a ship in a storm at sea with such marvelous fidelity that the onlooker can imagine himself as experiencing all the sensations of the participants without any too wide stretch of his imagination. While this episode in the play is melodramatic in the extreme the balance of "Brewster's Millions" is delicious, sparkling comedy and this element is largely responsible for the excellence of its entertaining qualities.

GRAFT BONE OF SHEEP IN THE LEG OF A CHILD

Spokane, Wash.—An unusual surgical operation was performed at the city hospital Friday at Sand Point, Idaho, when Dr. C. P. Stackhouse, removed about three inches of the femur, the bone between the knee and hip, of the 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley of Clarks Fork, and substituted a section of bone from the leg of a young sheep.

The animal was killed after the operation was commenced and the bone taken out as soon as death occurred and placed in the child's leg. The bone was then packed in whipped blood taken from the sheep, so that all the nourishment possible could be given for the building up of the transplanted bone.

The operation became necessary on account of the femur of the child being diseased as a result of walking at too early an age.

Each day she is placed on the operating table and the splint removed from the limb and the wound packed in fresh beef blood. The little one goes to the table willingly.

JIMMY BRITT TO STAR IN CONAN DOYLE SKETCH

Paris—Jimmy Britt, the California lightweight, looking very fit, landed in France from South Africa this week. He said:

"There is nothing doing there. They have some good men, but in the few places where prize fighting is permitted, a purse of $1000 looks bigger to them than a cathedral. So far as I can see nothing will take me into the ring again.

"What brought me back in a hurry was a desire to see Conan Doyle. He has virtually consented to write me a one-act play, the hero of course, to be a prize fighter. I shall use it as a sketch in the music halls."

Britt was an amateur actor before he took up prize fighting, and the Conan Doyle sketch will give him an opportunity both to box and act.

ROYAL BETROTHAL RUMORED

Report Would Wed Prussian Prince and Princess of Connaught.

Copenhagen.—The report that Princess Patricia of Connaught and Prince Adalbert of Prussia are betrothed persists. While it cannot be confirmed, it is generally credited while both the royal young people were at the Swedish court recently the betrothal was arranged.

It would probably be a match after the Kaiser's own heart, for he has always had a strong esteem for the duke and duchess of Connaught and the latter is a daughter of the fatherland and the house of Hohenzollern. She has brought up her children too, with that sedulous motherly care which Kaiser Wilhelm so approves, and a daughter of hers would be just the bride he would prefer for his son undoubtedly. Moreover, Princess Patricia's parents are sturdy Protestants, and would far more readily consent

TURKISH ARMY AND NAVY WILL BE REORGANIZED

Constantinople.—Shekfat Pasha, the new minister of war, intends to reorganize thoroughly the Turkish army. The navy also is to be put on a sound fighting basis. German ideas will prevail in the army and English in the navy. The old days of graft, when ammunition and supplies were regarded as personal perquisites of commanding officers and the very engines of warships were sold by their officers, is to be ended. Shekfat Pasha, in an interview, said: "Surprise is expressed that the Turkish army has adopted German methods and has employed German officers. How could it be otherwise when General von Molke came to Turkey fully 80 years ago and himself built the nucleus of the present Turkish army, which you may see from this antedated the reorganization of the present-day army of France?"

"And then, it seems to me that in our navy English regulations are in effect which were introduced long ago by English officers. In fact, the commander in chief of our fleet is an Englishman and he plans shortly to bring other officers from his native land."
