

TREASURER M'CLUNG IS BADLY STUNG

UNKNOWN AND UNKNOWING HE IS SORELY HUMILIATED

New Keeper of the Colo, Because of His Lack of Familiarity With Washington and Its People, Fails to Impress His Friends With His Importance.

Washington.—First and foremost in the requirements of your holder of public office in Washington is—he must be known by all. Second and next to foremost—he must know his Washington, and its rigid official etiquette.

Without these requirements he is incapable, for the "folks back home" demand both, and will not be satisfied without them. And from the president to the clerk in the minutest of minor bureaus, every office holder has a certain deep respect for the "folks back home."

Over in the Treasury of the United States is a dapper, college looking sort of chap, with a pleasant smile. He is no unimportant personage, either for a week ago he signed a receipt for some billions of dollars—all that the United States possessed at that time—which were turned over to him for safe keeping. His name is Lee McClung, and he is one of that gallant troop of Yale men who bravely followed one William Howard Taft to Washington. Better than that, he is Treasurer of the United States.

One bright, cheery, winter morning recently, McClung started for the White House with two dapper Yale men, to present them to Big Bill with the compliments of the New Haven institution.

The presentation was accomplished with much eclat, and "Bill" was in a joyful mood. The Yale men were much impressed with the importance of the United States Treasurer McClung.

But alas—the ubiquitous newspaperman spoiled everything—that is, he started to spoil everything, and the Treasurer himself finished the job. For the newspaperman had never seen one Lee McClung before, and rather suspected that he might be a "malefactor of great wealth." He therefore approached the party as they were leaving the executive office and in a most diplomatic manner demanded to know their business.

Whereupon McClung gracefully told of his mission and introduced his friends. "But what is your name," queried the newspaperman, and he immediately became the cynosure of three pairs of eyes. The eyes of one McClung flashed dismay, and impatience while his companions gazed from the newspaperman to McClung with profound astonishment. McClung hesitated, hemmed and hawed a moment or two, and finally burst forth:

"I am the treasurer of the United States!"

The interview terminated abruptly. But the troubles of the treasurer were by no means over. He strode forth from the executive offices followed by his companions, and turned to the right, thinking that he was going toward the north, or great entrance of the white house. But in his hurry he had turned to the right too soon, and he was stopped at the entrance to the white house kitchen by a bustling policeman, who yelled:

"Here! Where are you going? Get out of here." For white house policemen live in a sort of expectant dream of anarchists and tramps. And the policeman, like the newspaperman knew not the treasurer.

McClung grasped his two Yale friends by the arm, and ignominiously followed the white house milk wagon out of the narrow driveway, and down the long path to Pennsylvania Avenue.

WIFE'S DEMAND ICE CREAM AND PASTRY

Vienna.—An amusing confession by a fraudulent "spiritualist" was made during a local trial for theft. The prisoner was a servant named Katharine Holzinger, who told how she led on the credulity of her wealthy mistress, a lady of great piety, by persuading her that she was able to communicate with the spirits of the departed.

The woman's method was to perform tricks with cardboard letters of the alphabet. She would arrange these in words and sentences, and her mistress firmly believed in these messages and obeyed the orders given. Even when letters were found by her spread out in sentences in odd corners of the house, demanding large supplies of meat, pastry, vegetables and even ice cream, the lady did not hesitate to respond.

An alleged request for money for a mission for her deceased father confessor was gladly acceded to, and later linen, dress stuffs and jewelry—all of which quickly disappeared—were supplied in response to the insatiable ghosts. It was not until Katharine disappeared and pawn tickets for the various gifts to the dead were found that the lady realized the hoax.

Franchise Tax Cases White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 23.—A special term of the supreme court was convened here today to hear franchise tax cases.

It would be interesting to know whether or not M. Paulhan, who rose 4,600 feet above Los Angeles in his alship, found the real estate agents as active at that altitude as lower down.—Galveston News.

Colonist O. R. & N. Colonist Rates

To OREGON and the Great Northwest

The management of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co. (Oregon Lines) takes great pleasure in announcing that the low rates from eastern cities, which have done so much in past seasons to stimulate travel to and settlement in Oregon, will prevail again this spring DAILY from March 1 to April 15, inclusive.

People of Oregon

The railroads have done their part; now it's up to you. The colonist rate is the greatest of all homebuilders. Do all you can to let eastern people know about it, and encourage them to come here, where land is cheap and homebuilding easy and attractive.

FARES CAN BE PREPAID at home if desired. Any agent of the O. R. & N. Co. is authorized to receive the required deposit and telegraph ticket to any point in the east.

REMEMBER THE RATES—From Chicago $33, from St. Louis $32, from Omaha and Kansas City $25. This reduction is proportionate from all other cities.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, January 6, 1910. PUBLIC NOTICE.

1. Pursuant to the provisions of section 4 of the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902, (32 Stat., 388), notice is hereby given as follows:

2. Water will be furnished from the Umatilla Project, Oregon, under the provisions of the Reclamation Act, in the irrigation season of 1910, for the irrigable areas shown on farm unit plats of Townships 4 and 5 north, Range 28 East, Willamette Meridian, approved by the Secretary of the Interior December 17, 1909, and on file in the local Land Office at La Grande, Oregon.

3. Homestead entries accompanied by applications for water rights, and the first installment of the charges for building, operation and maintenance may be made on and after February 10, 1910, beginning at 9 o'clock A. M., under the provisions of said act for the farm units shown on said plat. Water-right applications may also be made for lands in private ownership and the time when payments will be due therefor is herein-after stated.

4. Warning and notice are hereby expressly given that no person will be permitted to gain or exercise any right whatever under any settlement or occupation begun, or under any filing or entry made or attempted to be made in pursuance of the provisions of the Reclamation Act or otherwise, prior to February 10, 1910, on any land shown on said plats and heretofore subject to withdrawal under the first form, and all such settlement or occupation, filing or entry is hereby forbidden.

5. The limit of area per entry, representing the acreage, which in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior may be reasonably required for the support of a family on the lands entered subject to the provisions of the Reclamation Act, is fixed at the amount shown upon the plats for the several farm units.

6. The limit of area for which water right application may be made for lands in private ownership shall be 160 acres of irrigable land for each land owner.

7. The charges which shall be made per acre of irrigable land in the said entries and for lands heretofore entered or in private ownership, which can be irrigated by the waters from the said irrigation project, are in two parts as follows:

(a) The building of the irrigation system, 350 per acre of irrigable land entered or in private ownership, which shall be paid in ten annual installments, each payment not less than $5.00 or some multiple thereof per acre, except that in the case of lands heretofore entered the first installment of the building charge shall be $18.00 per acre of irrigable land, whether water is used thereon or not. Full payment may be made at any time of any balance of the building charge remaining due, after certification by the Commissioner of the General Land Office that full and satisfactory compliance has been shown with all the requirements of the law as to residence, cultivation and reclamation.

(b) For operation and maintenance for the irrigation season of 1910, and annually thereafter until further notice, $1.30 per acre of irrigable land, whether water is used thereon or not. As soon as the data are available, the operation and maintenance charge will be fixed in proportion to the amount of water used, with a minimum charge per acre of irrigable land whether water is used thereon or not.

8. All entries made hereafter for lands not heretofore entered, or for lands covered by prior entries which have been cancelled by relinquishment or otherwise, shall be accompanied by applications for water rights in due form and by the first installment of the charges for building, operation and maintenance, not less than $13.30 per acre for irrigable land. The second installment of the building charge, not less than $5.00 per acre, and the appropriate charge for operation and maintenance, shall become due on December 1 of the following year. Subsequent installments of the building charge shall become due on December 1 of each year thereafter until fully paid.

9. For lands in private ownership and for lands heretofore entered, the first installment of the charges for building, operation and maintenance, not less than $7.30 per acre of irrigable land, shall become due on December 1, 1910. The second installment shall be due on December 1, 1911. Subsequent installments shall become due on December 1 of each year thereafter.

10. The public notices issued November 12, 1908, for the Umatilla project contain provisions to the effect that no water will be furnished in any year unless the portions for operation and maintenance of all installments then due shall have been paid. Accordingly no water will be furnished for the irrigation season of 1911 for any lands, unless the portion for operation and maintenance of the installment due on or before December 1, 1910, has been paid, and in like manner no water will be furnished in any subsequent irrigation season unless payment has been made of the portions of the installments for operation and maintenance then due and unpaid.

11. The regulation is hereby established that no water will be furnished in any year until all operation and maintenance charges then due shall have been paid.

12. The regulation is hereby established that no water will be furnished in any year unless the portion of the annual installment for operation and maintenance then due shall have been paid on or before April 1. Such provisions are hereby amended to read as follows:

"The regulation is hereby established that no water will be furnished in any year until all operation and maintenance charges then due shall have been paid."

13. Failure to pay any two installments of the charges when due whether on entries made subject to the Reclamation Act, or on water-right applications for other lands, shall render such entries and the corresponding water-right applications, or the water-right applications for other lands, subject to cancellation with the forfeiture of all rights under the Reclamation Act, as well as of any moneys already paid.

14. All charges must be paid at the local Land Office, at La Grande, Oregon.

15. The charges may, for the convenience of applicants be paid to the special fiscal agent of the United States Reclamation Service assigned to the Umatilla Project, for transmission to the register and receiver of the local land office on or before the date specified for payment at the local land office, but in case this privilege is availed of, the necessary charges for transportation of the cash, as determined by the special fiscal agent, must accompany the payment of the water-right charges.

R. A. BALLINGER, Secretary of the Interior.
