REVIVAL MEETINGS START.

Evangelist Ledford Preaches First Sermon at Baptist Church.
Last evening Evangelist J. S. Ledford preached his initial sermon at the Baptist church to a good house. This was the first meeting of the series that will be held each evening through the week at 7:30. The evangelist took for his theme, "Being Filled With the Spirit of Jehovah," his text was Ephesians 5:18. The close attention given him spoke the deep interest of the people in his message. He spoke clearly and was careful to base his whole theme on the word of God.
Some of the things he said in his sermon: "The text gives us a command 'Be filled with the Spirit.' It is a command to every Christian as positive as the command 'Thou shalt not steal.'
"We do not need machinery in the church so much as we need power."
"The spirit of the living God in the hearts of the church is better than reform."
"God in the heart is joy in the life."
"Justification and regeneration come first; then we may claim the promise, God fills us with His Spirit."
"God's gift of his spirit is to the converted man."

Come to the Meeting.
I would give a special invitation to the public to hear Rev. J. S. Ledford, who is preaching at the Baptist church this week. He is an interesting speaker and has a direct and fresh way of presenting the truth. He is a singer well worth hearing and has been very influential in his song. His time with us is limited and you are asked to come early in the week. Meeting each evening at 7:30.
R. E. STOREY, Pastor.

Only one lonely drunk appeared in police court this morning. He was Fred Gebhart and he chose the three day part of the "5 or three days" which fell from the lips of Judge Fitz Gerald.

General Manager of N. P. Here.
George T. Slade, third vice president and general manager of the N. P. was here yesterday on a tour of inspection. He was here with a special train and was accompanied by J. L. De Korce, superintendent; J. G. Cutler, assistant superintendent; S. B. Calderhead, general agent for the Pendleton-Pasco branch; and a number of other minor officials.

Pupils in Recital.
The younger pupils of Miss Lora Perry appeared in a piano recital Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ben Hill on East Alta street. A program of ten numbers was rendered in a manner that was a high tribute to the abilities of Miss Perry as an instructor. After the recital, the young students were entertained with games and refreshments.

Mentzer Family is Safe.
W. H. Mentzer, the man who was reported to be snowbound with his family on the headwaters of McKay creek in a small cabin and without provisions, appeared in Pendleton, Saturday. He says that they had plenty of provisions at all times and that while it was impossible for him to get to Kamela after his mail that he had little or no difficulty in coming out down the creek to this city for his supplies.

Judge Lowell Was Honored.
At the meeting of the local G. A. R. post Saturday afternoon the veterans honored Judge S. A. Lowell by presenting him with a beautiful gold headed cane. The presentation was made by Commander John Wells and Judge Lowell responded with a brief talk in which he showed his sincere appreciation of the courtesy extended him. The cane was given Judge Lowell by the veterans to show the esteem in which they hold him and incidentally in return for many favors the local post has received from the judge.

Officials Talk to Taxpayers.
At the request of a number of taxpayers in the east end of the county, County Judge Gilliland, Assessor Strain and Treasurer Bradley went to Fossil Saturday and addressed a large gathering of citizens. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the assessment and taxation conditions of the county. There was a large crowd present and each of the officials made a short talk. There were also a large number of questions asked, but all in a friendly way and apparently all questions were answered to the satisfaction of those present.

Man of Many Mysteries.
Laurant, the man of many mysteries will appear at the Methodist church Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Pendleton public schools. This is the fourth number of the course which has so far proved to be the most successful ever brought to Pendleton by the local schools. All the former numbers have been exceptionally good, but in the opinion of many people this will be the most interesting of the series. The most weird and curious tricks of all nations will be presented and explained in a manner which has delighted thousands of people all over the country.

HENRIK IBSEN HOUSE IS NORWEGIAN PLAN

Copenhagen.—The plan to make the house in which Henrik Ibsen lived at Grimstad, Norway from 1844 to 1859, when the great Norwegian writer wrote his first tragedy, Cathina, a national shrine at which the thousands of followers of the great Scandinavian genius in all parts of the world may worship, is being pushed rapidly and will certainly be successful.
Ibsen was born at Skien, but the house in which he first saw the light has been destroyed and the Grimstad apothecary's house where the poet, as a boy, learned to make liniments, tinctures and pills, is all that remains to recall his youth.

A national movement was started in Norway to purchase it and to fill it with memorials and biographical objects—to make an Ibsen house in fact, which shall be to Norwegians all that the Goethe house in Frankfurt is to Germans.
The committee, on which is prominent the sole surviving early friend of Ibsen, the venerable Mr. Christian Due, is bringing the fact of its formation before the admirers of the great poet all over the world. The Norwegian committee will be grateful for any small sums proving American approval of what they acknowledge must in the main be a Norwegian enterprise. And the subscriptions of any friend of Norway may be sent to Dr. Carl Christiansen, and will be thankfully acknowledged.

BOYS MAKE BONFIRE OF YOUNG PRISONER

New York, Feb. 26.—The One Hundred and Third street "Teddy's" and the One Hundred and Fourth street "Gorillas" are at war, and because the Gorillas circulated broad youthful criticisms upon the Teddys, those desperate braves swept down on the One Hundred and Fourth street stronghold, captured Joseph Yeager, 8 years of age of 207 East One Hundred and Fourth street, stuffed his pockets with excelsior, tied him to a lamp-post and set him on fire. Then the Teddys ran, and but for the timely intervention of two passersby little Joe Yeager, the Gorilla, would have burned to death on his own street, slain by the Teddy raiders.
The story of the Apache warfare was brought out at the children's court, where John Shabara, Arnold Rebaccio and Joseph Rose, not one of them over 12 years of age, were asked to explain to Justice Deuel why they tried to burn 8-year-old Joe Yeager at the stake.
At first the youthful gangsters whined and sniffed and said they were "only a-playin'," but later one of them confessed that the human bonfire act was planned in the hope of teaching the One Hundred and Fourth street boys to respect the Teddys.

These two bands have been at war for weeks, carrying out their small businesses of revenge much as do their elder brothers further downtown. The Teddys planned a raid on the Gorillas, and swept down on One Hundred and Fourth street in force. The only "man" captured was the infantile Yeager. Rebaccio tied the boy's hands to the post while Rose stuffed Yeager's pockets with excelsior and dropped lighted matches on top of the inflammable material. Then the youthful rousers ran and left Yeager to be rescued by passersby.

The little Apaches begged for "another chance," and Justice Deuel, after a lecture which will probably linger in their minds for many months, set them free.
Perhaps their parents will hunt up trunk straps and train them. But they left the court room grinning.

"UNCLE JOE" IN ROLE OF MATRIMONIAL AGENT

Washington.—People all over the country write to Uncle Joe Cannon about everything.
Some of them criticize him and some of them praise him, but all of them always want something for somebody—usually themselves. But the prize package in the way of a request dropped in on "Uncle Joe" in the form of a perfectly respectable looking letter the other day. Here it is:
"Our beaux cannot marry we girls because all foods and clothing is too high. What good is us girls if we do not have husbands? Why don't you make congress provide husbands for us? You will do the country more good by seeing that all the young people were married. If all the young people were married we would not need any congress or president. This would then be a paradise. We must have husbands. Get some for us."
For reasons of delicacy the lady's name is omitted, but the letter is postmarked Cleveland, Ohio.

UNCLE SAM MAY GO IN FOR FINE ART
Washington, D. C.—Uncle Sam is to become a dilettante, an art connoisseur. Senator Chauncey Depew of New York is opening the way while Senator Newlands is following close behind with his bill to establish a bureau of fine arts. The library commission of the house of representatives is now considering the measure Senator Depew introduced in the senate, to purchase 13 historical paintings of scenes in American history, for $250,000 to be hung in the national museum when it is opened in a fortnight. The paintings are from the collection of Edward Moran and represent 13 chapters in American naval history. It is pointed out that great educational values are attached to the pictures and that the American people will be educated in the history of our navy if the pictures are put on public view.
