FLOOD WATERS RAGE THROUGHOUT NORTHWEST (Continued from Page One.)

The Northwest corporations power plant has been put out of commission. Most of the snow in the hills in that section was taken off yesterday by warm rains which continued throughout the day.

TORRENT RAGES THROUGH BURIED IDAHO TOWNS

Coeur d'Alene, March 2.—The melting of ice and snow on the precipitous sides of Canyon creek has created a torrent and water today reached the summit of the debris of the avalanche at Mace and Burke, and the waters are eating their way through the snow and carrying it in to the valley. The weather is ideal for slides. People of several mining towns are already seeking places of greater safety. The streets of Burke Mace and Wallace are raging torrents this afternoon.

WORST FLOODS IN HISTORY OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Lewiston, March 2.—Reports from various points in the inland empire show that this country is in the grasp of the worst flood in its history. Railroad and wagon bridges are carried away, telegraph and telephone service suspended and there is little hope of resumption of railroad service for three days. Towns are inundated and families driven from their homes, the existence of whole communities in the mountain districts threatened, several lives have been lost and the damage already reaches the half million mark. Nez Perce, Peck and Mohler suffered most. Mohler is reported swept out of existence. Peck is threatened and Sites is submerged. It is reported on farmers' telephone lines that several buildings have collapsed at Colfax and a number of persons killed.

Waters Recede at Pullman.

Pullman, March 2.—The Palouse river is receding and the work of repairing the damage is begun. The total loss will reach $50,000. No lives have been lost. All traffic is still tied up.

To Free Toy-Toy.

A movement is now on foot to secure the release from the federal prison on McNell's Island of Toy-Toy, the Indian who was found guilty of assisting Columbia George to murder an Indian woman on the reservation several years ago. Attorney W. Roakes of Seattle is here and has been working in conjunction with Attorney G. W. Counts in securing affidavits and signatures to petitions for the release of the imprisoned Indian.

Farmers near Marshall, Mo., complain that wolves have been very troublesome during the last winter. They killed 28 pigs recently for one farmer and others have suffered losses of lambs, pigs and poultry.

SLAPS PREACHER'S FACE IN HOT DISCUSSION

Eugene, Ore.—J. N. Cole, a resident of the suburb of Fairmont, Monday afternoon slapped the face of Rev. D. H. Trimble, pastor of the Humphrey Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, was promptly arrested, arraigned before Police Judge Bryson, and fined $20.

Many wordy clashes have occurred as the result of the evangelizing being done here by Rev. French E. Oliver in a series of meetings, but this is the first active violence reported.

The affair took place on Willamette street, the city's busiest thoroughfare, and the altercation attracted considerable attention before the resounding smack crystallized matters. Rev. Oliver has been making radical statements from his pulpit, among them that he "would rather see a saloon opened in Eugene than a Unitarian church," that students and faculty of the University of Oregon who are outside the pale of orthodoxy are "rotten as hell," that the local school board is a "bunch of jackasses" for not allowing religious exercises in the schools.

It is said the discussion between Rev. Trimble and Mr. Cole arose because of one of the statements of the traveling evangelist. Rev. Trimble was not much hurt by the slapping, but felt no little chagrin. Mr. Cole promptly paid the fine assessed against him and went on his way.
