NO REASON FOR IT.

When Pendleton Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes or any kidney ailment when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Pendleton citizen says:

Mrs. D. Coffman, 221 Stonewall Jackson street, Pendleton, Ore., says: "About a year ago I was having severe pains through my back and finally came to the conclusion that they arose from disordered kidneys, as a cold was sure to settle in these organs and greatly aggravate my suffering. I had known of the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills for a long time and at last deciding to try them, I procured a box at the Pendleton Drug Co. They helped me from the first and after I had taken the contents of the box not a pain or ache remained and my kidneys were restored to their normal condition. I know of others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with excellent results and I feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Gem Pan Spice Cakes.

Cream one and a quarter cups sugar, half cup butter. Beat one teaspoon soda into one cup sour milk. Mix and add one teaspoon clove, half teaspoon allspice, half teaspoon cinnamon, half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon lemon flavoring, one cup raisins, three cups flour. Boil raisins while mixing cake. Rinse in cold water. Bake these cakes in iron gem pans if you have them. You may use part raisins, part Sultanas and a few currents or nuts if you like. Measure flour generously.

Soft Ginger Cakes.

As an emergency dish or to complete a meal these little cakes are superior and the batter can be kept a fortnight and baked in gem pans at the shortest notice. One cup of lard and butter, one cup of molasses (Orleans), one cup of sugar, one tablespoon of soda, one cup of boiling water, one heaping teaspoon of salt, two eggs, five scant cups of flour two tablespoons of cinnamon and two of ginger.

Imperial Cake.

Two cups sugar, one cup butter, one cup milk, three and a half cups flour, four eggs, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cream of tartar. Cream butter and sugar, add yolks of eggs then milk, then stiffly beaten whites. Sift soda and cream of tartar with flour and add last with one half cup sliced citron and one cup of chopped almonds. If you wish a cake that combines quality and economy, give this a trial.

What Is a Home?

What is home for? Peace. What do many of us make it? A place for relating trials. A place for displaying tempers. A place for being disagreeable. A place for dispute. A place for haste. A place for fault finding. A place for fretting and worrying. A place for tears. A place for snarls. A place for growling. A place for swearing. A place for sulking. A place for meanness, such as none but a home companion would forgive; for ugliness such as none would inflict upon a stranger.

Place opposite this: Home, a place for rest, for cheer, for warmth, for comfort, for forbearance; a place for peace, repose; a place where the soul may extend toward a nobler, better life. Home!

The word itself comes from the Sanskrit "dhamma," meaning abode. Place of rest, security. Sometimes blessings come to us disguised as misfortunes.

Patience is a gift of experience. Sarcasm is a sword without a handle. He who wields it must have a care that he himself is not cut.

Useful Tid Bits.

If there is no mucklage about, use a piece of cold boiled potato.

The Servant Girl Disappearing.

From McClure's Magazine. During the last 30 years, the demand for servants has doubled, while the supply has increased only by half—in the last decade only by five per cent. In 1870 there was one to every 12; even in the recent crisis, when the cities were filled with unemployed, the demand still outran the supply. And yet, during the 30 years past, the number of self-supporting women—that is, the actual labor market—has more than trebled. Forty years ago a woman thrown upon her own resources would tend to select housework for a living; in fact, one woman in two did so select. Thirty years ago only every third woman entered domestic service. Ten years ago only one in four rapped at the kitchen door. The other three applied—where?

Every one knows; at the shop, the factory, the store.

Onions and Apples.

Put one tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan, and when melted put in three sliced onions and three sliced apples; let fry slowly until browned, season with salt and pepper and serve on toast.

Onions in Potato Cradles.

Left-over potatoes of uniform size may be cut in half lengthwise, the center scooped out, leaving a shell. This should be browned in butter, then filled with fried onions. Hot buttered peas may substitute for onions.

Apples With Bread and Milk.

A delicious luncheon dish is made by slicing perfectly ripe, mellow sweet apples into a bowl of rich milk and bread. The more common way is to bake the apples, unpeeled, in a slow oven till tender, then slicing into the bread and milk; but many on trial prefer the uncooked fruit.

Caramel Cake.

Cream a half-cup of butter with one and one half cups of powdered sugar. When this mixture is light, add three-quarters of a cup of milk, and when this is well beaten in, fold in the stiffened whites of three eggs alternately, with enough prepared flour to make a good batter. Bake in layers.

Stewed Peas.

Melt 2 ounces of butter in a pan, then put in a small sliced onion, a bunch of parsley, and half a head of lettuce, with salt and pepper to taste; when the onion is faintly colored, add one and a half pints of peas, a small teaspoonful of sugar and half a pint of water, and let them stew gently till the peas are tender (half an hour for young peas); then remove the lettuce, parsley and onions, thicken the liquid with the yolk or an egg beaten up with a little cream or milk.

Georgia Hash.

Put 2 cupfuls of beef or mutton, either ray or cooked, 1 cup of to-males, 1 cup of chopped celery or celery tops and 7 pint of boiling water over the fire and simmer slowly till very tender. Then make a brown roux of one tablespoonful each of butter and flour, and when well browned add the mixture of meat and vegetables. Season to taste. As this dish is usually made of left-overs already seasoned once, no definite quantities can be given. Serve hot, with boiled rice in a separate dish. This must be seasoned highly and should cook down till quite thick.

COMMON WOOD RAT CARRIES BUBONIC PLAGUE

Washington.—Officials of the public health and marine hospital service are alarmed at the latest discovery of their agents in California, that the wood rat is a carrier of bubonic plague germs.

It was known that the common rat and the Beechey ground squirrel were both subject to infection and could transmit the dread disease to human beings, and this latest discovery fills the scientists with a new apprehension lest the plague become endemic in the United States.

Already thousands of ground squirrels and rats have been slaughtered in Alameda and Contra Costa counties, California, to prevent spread of infection. It was in connection with this campaign of eradication that the discovery was made that the wood rat was equally culpable.

This makes a new link in the plague chain and alarms the scientists for two reasons. First, the wood rat may act as an intermediary in the transmission of disease to other animals; and, then, because they do not ordinarily come in contact with squirrels, it may be that some other animal, not now suspected, with which they are more completely associated, is also infected.

So far only one case of a plague bearing wood rat, which is a native and a different article from the true rat which is imported, has not been discovered.

GIRL WITH TWO VOICES AMAZES GAY PARISIANS

Paris.—Society is discussing today the tremendous sensation caused at the reception given by Ambassador Bacon at the embassy by Dorothy Toye, a young girl from Winnipeg, Manitoba, who sang in two voices, one a three-octave soprano and the other a tenor voice of great power and sweetness.

Miss Toye came to Paris recently to consult Professor Frank Dossert, director of the National Conservatory of Music, regarding the advisability of entering upon an operatic career. When he heard her soprano voice he said she was unquestionably fitted for grand opera.

A moment later he was astonished to hear her sing a song from "Pagliacci" in Caruso's voice, rendering his exact phrasing. Musicians say they have never heard of any such phenomenon in musical history.

Miss Toye actually sings duets with herself. After she sang for Ambassador Bacon he said: "It was the most remarkable performance I ever heard in my life."

It is needless to say that all Paris is talking of her personally. Miss Toye is a slightly built girl, singularly bright and one of eight sisters, all of whom are musicians. Physicians, as well as musicians, are greatly interested in her. She has been invited to go to London to sing before the Medical congress.

ESTATE AGENTS THRIVE ON NEW PARLIAMENT

London.—The reassembling of parliament is proving a splendid thing for the London estate agents, and for trade generally. Nearly half the new parliament is made up of new members who come to London from out of the way provincial fastnesses, and book a flat or a house for the session or even longer.

Many of the defeated members, relying on the great over-powering Liberal majority to keep the government in power until the complete expiration of the seven years of control, had taken houses and chambers on a seven-years' lease, and, after four years, find themselves with an unexpired lease of three years upon their hands. Chafing under the ignominy of defeat, they have had no wish to remain in London, and they have instructed estate agents to get rid of the lease to the most likely tenant.

This interchange of chambers has made trade brisk. Decorators and furniture movers are also busy, while tradesmen's agents are making the electric bells and knockers work overtime. Begging letter writers are also extremely diligent bombarding the new member with fulsome epistles of adulation which recall some incident that never happened, and crave a small loan on the strength of a fast friendship that never existed.

Then the subscription fiend is not allowing the dust to settle in his neighborhood. He is busy soliciting patronage in the shape of annual subscriptions for football clubs, amateur dramatic clubs, and missions of all descriptions, much to the concern of the new member who finds his check book growing palpably thinner under the stress.

It is computed that a seat in parliament costs its winner at least $5000, but the ambitious statesman only learns this after he is elected.

Bullet Brings Mind Back.

Oklahoma City.—As a result of a bullet wound in the head received when he attacked the guard who was taking him to the insane asylum, Albert H. Beal, an insurance agent of this city, is a patient in a local hospital, his sanity apparently restored. The bullet cut a deep furrow along the side of his head. When revived, Beal was unable to remember the events of the hours preceding, and since the shooting has exhibited no symptoms of insanity.
