Touch Hats to President.

University of Oregon, Eugene.—At a meeting of the student body of the University of Oregon, Oliver Hueston, president of the senior class and Oregon's star sprinter, introduced a resolution, requiring all male students to touch their caps when meeting the president or members of the faculty. S. P. to Have Competition.

Portland.—Traffic arrangements are being completed between the Hill railroads, the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Spokane, Portland & Seattle, and the Oregon Electric railway whereby a traffic interchange will be established that will give the Willamette valley a competing line with the Southern Pacific on transcontinental freight. This arrangement is bound to prove an advantage to the people of the whole valley for competition in transportation, as in everything else, is helpful.

Klamath Property Brings $75,000.

Klamath Falls, Ore.—Buena Vista addition, comprising several hundred lots, upper Klamath lake waterfront and the Klamath Falls street railway has been bought by W. I. Clark and associates. Mrs. Clark is identified with the California Fruit Packers' association and it is generally believed that the corporation with which he is connected will take over the property. The consideration was $75,000. The property was formerly owned by the Klamath Canal company. It is understood that the new owners will at once begin an improvement campaign.

Citizens Ticket Wins.

Vale, Ore.—Probably the most hotly contested city election ever held in Vale was the one Wednesday which resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Clark or citizens' ticket. Two hundred and thirty-one votes were polled, nearly twice as many as at any previous municipal election. The successful candidates are as follows, all being on the citizens' ticket: Mayor, Elwood Clark; councilmen for two year term, Arthur Glenn and H. P. Osborn; councilman for one year term, Ernie Hays; on both tickets, no opposition; recorder, Z. C. Wilson; on both tickets and no opposition; treasurer, J. R. Weaver; marshal, John Dolan.

Forest Supervisors to Meet.

Portland.—Forest supervisors of Oregon, Washington and Alaska will meet in Portland March 21-25. The program includes many subjects of great importance in the administration of forest affairs and the gathering will have much to do in shaping policies to be followed in future. L. F. Knell, assistant forester, will attend the conference as the representative of the Washington office, it being impossible for Forester H. S. Graves, who succeeded Gifford Pinchot as the head of the bureau, to come. The supervisors will discuss methods to be followed in meeting common problems and successful experiments in meeting difficulties will

Lung Trouble

Coughs, Colds, Consumption and All Diseases of the Throat and Lungs Can Be Prevented and Cured.

Mr. Walter Clark was restored to health and strength after being unable to work for two months. Read what he says: "After having been afflicted with a serious case of lung trouble and used many remedies without result—in fact, I was unable to do any work whatever for two months—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended and I commenced taking the same. I desire to state that I am entirely cured, having been pronounced so by my physician. I consider this the greatest medicine of the present age. This testimonial is conscientiously given and without any solicitation whatsoever."—Walter Clark, Bluefield, W. Va.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliaryness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Coughs That Hang On.

Coughs that start in the fall and hang on until spring are sure trouble breeders unless checked and cured. Bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption are the direct result. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the cough, stops the hard breathing and heals and soothes the inflamed air passages. Refuse substitutes. Koeppe Bros.

Spokane, Wash.—Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Idaho will be represented on the stump next August in a whirlwind campaign in the interest of Congressman Miles Poindexter of Spokane, candidate for the United States senate. Dolliver and Albert M. Cummins of Iowa, Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, and William E. Borah of Idaho.

Ho, Headquarters for eastern Washington will be opened in Spokane early in April, soon after which Rufus Wilson, a former newspaper man of Malden, will begin an active campaign west of the Cascade mountains, where Mr. Poindexter will also pass most of his time. Other candidates for the berth are John L. Wilson and Judge Burke of Seattle, Robert McCormick of Tacoma, and Leigh Richmond Freeman of North Yakima.

A Timely Protection.

Everyone knows the after effects of La Grippe are often more dangerous than the disease. So often it leads to pneumonia, which a weakened heart action makes fatal. La Grippe coughs that strain and weaken the system yield quickly to the healing and strengthening qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar. Koeppe Bros.

Insurgents Active Again. Amoy, China.—There has been a recurrence of the anti-dynastic agitation at Ping-Ho-Hsien, in Southern Fokien, and 1100 government troops occupy the district. SHEEPMEN WANT RANGE IN FOREST

WALLOWA WOOLGROWERS ENTER STRONG PROTEST

Flockowners Don't Want Boundaries of National Forest Changed—Say They Were Injured When Lines Were Changed.

Wallowa, Ore.—Wallowa sheepmen are bitterly opposed to the proposed reduction of the boundaries of the Wallowa national forest. In a meeting of the Wallowa Woolgrowers' association ringing resolutions were adopted which support the policy of the forest service, and show that if there has been discrimination it has been against the stockmen of Wallowa county. The sheepmen of Union and Baker counties have complained of the shortage of pasture and got an allowance of territory off the Wallowa allotment. The resolutions show:

"That at a meeting of the stockmen who used the Wallowa reserve held in Wallowa, November 15, 1905, a committee of sheepmen was selected by the users of the reserve consisting of eight members, four of whom were from the Wallowa side of the forest and four from the Baker and Union side. This committee was selected for the purpose of dividing and allotting the range in the forest and recommending such division and allotment to the forest officials.

Range Divided by Stockmen. "That it was represented to this committee that for the year 1906, Baker and Union county growers had 215,000 head of sheep on the range and that Wallowa county growers had 150,000 head on the range. Upon this showing for 1905 the joint committee recommended for 1906 that Baker and Union county growers be allotted range for 150,000 and Wallowa county growers be allowed range for 125,000 head of sheep.

"That in 1905 Baker and Union county combined had only 134,233 head of sheep assessed, and in 1906, 130,971 head, and Baker and Union county growers applied for range on Wallowa reserve for 1906 for only 88,575 head; whereas Wallowa county had 175,142 head of sheep on the assessment roll for 1906. The Wallowa growers petitioned for range for 101,119 sheep.

Wallowa Lost Range. "This would have naturally called for a recommendation that Baker and Union county growers be given allotment for 100,000 head, and Wallowa county growers have range for 132,960, or Wallowa county would be entitled to have range for 32,000 head more sheep than the growers of Baker and Union counties combined. Since 1905 the number of sheep in Wallowa county has been decreased by being deprived of range by change of division line by at least 23,900 head, while the number in Baker and Union counties had increased by 7,148 as shown by assessment rolls of those counties.

Sheep Pinched Out. "It is clear that Wallowa county growers have been wrongfully injured and have just cause for complaint, while Baker and Union county growers have secured unearned rights far beyond what was rightfully due them. Before the grazing season of 1907 began Supervisor O'Brien, at the request of the users of the south side of the reserve moved the original line north, in some instances as far as ten miles, taking away from Wallowa county growers, grass sufficient to support 11 or 12 bands of sheep through the grazing season.

"In view of the fact that there are approximately 15,000 head of sheep in the Wallowa county, deprived by change of the division line, of prior rights on the Wallowa national reserve we request that the original division line between the north and the south sides of the reserve be re-established. "That it would be to the best interest of the majority of the stockmen of Wallowa county that the present boundaries of the Wallowa national forest be maintained, and that to turn back the part of the Wallowa national forest reserve which the department is now contemplating turning back into the general domain would be detrimental to the general interest of the majority of those directly concerned."

PSYCHOLOGISTS PLACE MONKEYS WITH INSANE

Washington.—Eleven monkeys have been sent to the government hospital for the insane, though the little "forest men" are sound mentally and physically. Fresh from George Washington University, where their association was with professors and students of psychology, by whom their faculties for perception and sensation were pronounced to be more keen than those of the average man, the Simians are now to be subjected to close scientific scrutiny in order that the servants may learn what effect may follow confinement among insane persons.

Dr. S. I. Franz, psychologist of the hospital staff, will have the monkeys under observation. When he shall have finished with them they will be killed and their brains preserved in alcohol for further study.

Concerning "Sunkist" Wrappers.

The East Oregonian is in receipt of a letter from the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, 34 Clark street, Chicago, stating that they have a number of letters from this state enclosing Sunkist orange and lemon wrappers asking them to send one or more Sunkist orange spoons. Quite a goodly number of these contained no postage address. A good many have not signed their names to the letters and quite a number are so indistinct that we are unable to make out the name and address.

They have probably two thousand such letters on file at the present time. They wish to fill every order promptly and are more than anxious to please every user of Sunkist oranges and lemons.

If those of our readers who have not heard from them in reply to their order for orange spoons will kindly write the company they will fill their order among those unable to be deciphered.

Even if one cast pearls before a good sized hog they would have to be fine, large ones to buy him.

AVIATORS TO BE MASTERS OF WAR

MAJOR KENNEDY LECTURES ON FUTURE POSSIBILITIES

Says Airships Would Have Been Help in Boer War—With Them England Could Have Ended Struggle in a Year He Declares.

London.—At the Royal Societies' club this week, Major J. N. C. Kennedy, R. E., lecturing on the subject of "Aviation from the Military Standpoint" gives instances of how, during the Boer war, the airship would have been a powerful asset in the attack of the British army.

With the facilities afforded by the airship for the purposes of location, communication, and successful bombing, a war like the one in South America would be ended within a year. He showed by means of lantern slides how the airship might be used in future engagements.

There was just a possibility, he added, that aviation might effect a desirable result from a humanitarian standpoint. With two opposing forces maneuvering in the field there could, in the future, be no secrecy as to their disposition of strength—the commanders would know exactly to which side would fall the victory.

In the circumstances, would the general who found himself at a disadvantage be justified in risking an action or would the authorities at the war office, who, of course, would also know the situation, allow the general to engage? When the conclusion was so apparent, would any useful object be attained by fighting the position?

"These considerations suggest that we were nearing the time when war would be no more," he said. "But if there is to be war, it is clear that the force equipped with an aerial fleet would soon wipe out an enemy not so provided. The fact is that aviation has revolutionized modern warfare."

Colonel Capper, chief of the aeronautical section of the army, remarked that no man could say what the future of airships might be, but they would certainly be used in wars of the future, and this country could still make up for it if public opinion were educated.

Admiral Fremantle referred to the importance of this country not being left behind in the struggle to obtain command of the air. Germany, France, Italy and other countries, he said, were making great headway in the matter, and improvements were being effected almost daily. The Wright brothers were the first in America to make the aeroplane effective, and a military airship had now been started.

In this country the secretary of state for war had stated what the government proposed to do in this direction, and there was no doubt that advances would be made. It might be, as in the case of submarines, that though other nations had the start of the English they would overtake them and he had no doubt that the engineering talent and invention of this country was equal to that of any other country in the world.
