Rain Spoils Speed Contests.
The automobile speed contests which were to have been held by local "Barney Oldfields" at the Frazier track on Tutuilla yesterday morning, were not held for the reason that the rain had left the track muddy. It is probable that the contests will be held next Sunday.

Pendleton Girl Honored.
Miss Leell Evans, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. N. Evans of this city, who is attending the state normal at Ellensburg, Wash., has been elected president of the Y. M. C. A. in the normal school for the coming year. She is also delegate to the annual Y. W. C. A. conference to be held at Long Beach in July.

Schools Will Have Vacation.
Tomorrow will be the last day of school this week for the public schools of Pendleton and Umatilla, as well as for those of Baker, Union and Walla Walla counties, and in many other districts of the inland empire. The reason for this is that all the teachers of these counties will be in Pendleton to attend the annual convention of the Inland Empire Teachers' association.

Will Talk to Girls.
Mrs. Charles Reign Scoville, wife of Evangelist Scoville, who dedicated the Christian church yesterday and who is conducting a series of evangelistic services in the city this week, will talk to the girls of Pendleton at the new church, tomorrow afternoon. Swartzlander, agent for the Umatilla Indian reservation, announces that the government has just purchased a road grader for the use of the white renters and Indians for the improvement of the roads on the reservation. While the grader will not be permitted to leave the reservation, Major Swartzlander expresses the hope that the reservation farmers will make free use of the machine in improving the roads in different parts of the reservation. It is supposed to be one of the best manufactured and will arrive this week.

To Lead Majestic Orchestra.
A. H. Johnson, well known leader of Johnson's orchestra, left this morning for Walla Walla where he is to take the leadership of the orchestra at the Majestic theater, the best vaudeville house in the Garden City. The position is a very good one, as it involves a lucrative salary, and friends of Mr. Johnson, though regretting his temporary departure from Pendleton are glad to know of his advancement. Johnson's orchestra of which he has been the head for several years is one of the best musical organizations Pendleton has ever had.

DEATH OF KING'S DOUBLE RECALLS QUEER YARNS

London.—The recent death of Richard Hunter, Laird of Thurston, and widely known as King Edward's double, recalls many interesting and humorous incidents that occurred to him owing to his strong resemblance to the king.
A good linguist and of considerable wealth, Mr. Hunter traveled much abroad, and it was mainly while on the continent that these embarrassing mistakes were made.
On one occasion he was staying at the Hotel Regina, Paris, and his apartments were put under special guard, evidently with the intention of warding off inquisitive visitors. Another time on entering a noted Paris

EASTER NOVELTIES

Will be found in the usual resourceful supply and variety and at prices that don't cut much figure with any kind of a purse

At Koeppen's Annex

"The Gift Room"

restaurant, he was amazed when the band struck up the national anthem, and the occupants of the tables respectfully arose and bowed as he passed in.

At different continental resorts he frequently found himself surrounded by admiring crowds, and the difficulty in explaining the mistake was very largely added to by the unwillingness of the fashionable people to believe that he was really not the king. Mr. Hunter took considerable interest in agricultural shows and as his majesty is also keenly interested in prize cattle, it was often whispered around the show that the king was present incognito, while in reality it was only Mr. Hunter.
The situation was often very embarrassing indeed to an unassuming country gentleman.

EUROPEAN CEREMONY AT WASHINGTON VARSITY

Seattle, Wash.—Following a custom practiced extensively in Europe, though not so fully in America, Professor Oliver H. Richardson, former assistant professor of European history at Yale University, was formally inaugurated in that chair at the University of Washington Sunday night in the college auditorium.
With every member of the state university faculty in their formal academic costumes on the rostrum, Professor Richardson delivered an address in which he attempted to interpret the trend of European historical events. Following this came the inauguration, presided over by President Thomas Franklin Kane of the university.
The different colored hoods on the gowns denoting the degrees and colleges of the wearers added to the impressiveness of the occasion. That the educators assembled had received preparation, both in this country and on the continent, was evidenced by the black and white and red of the German universities mingling with the colors of the American colleges.
Professor Richardson was graduated from Yale in 1889. Since then he has been engaged in educational work at Colorado and Bogart colleges in the United States and at Heidelberg university in Germany.

WATCHDOGS ON PAYROLL

Savage Canines Serve Navy as Shore and Dock Guards.
London.—Official watchdogs are now on the payroll of the British navy. These canine guards are stationed at the various shore establishments and dockyards, where they are told off to range government property during the dark hours and prevent any unauthorized person from trespassing.
The dogs are of a special mixed breed, combining the points of collie, Alredale and retriever, and are bred by Major Richardson, who devotes his life to breeding and training dogs for police, detective and ambulance work. Keen scent, alertness and savagery are the prominent characteristics of the navy dogs.

THE MILKY WAY.

"The legislators who oppose laws compelling the pasteurization of milk," said Nathan Strauss, "bring forward arguments about as weak as that of the Maine milkman."
"A lady summering in Maine said to her milkman severely:
"See here, this milk of yours is half water and half chalk. What do you mean by advertising it as pure?"
"Madam," said the milk manufacturer with withering dignity, "to the pure all things are pure."—Everybody's Magazine.

BULLDOG WHIPS BULL.

Desperate Battle Ends in Victory for Canine.
Cheyenne, Wyo.—One of the most singular and desperate battles ever fought in this vicinity was that at the Hawking ranch, five miles north of this city, between a bull and a bulldog. After an hour's struggle the bulldog tore open the bull's neck, the bull fell from weakness caused by loss of blood and the dog throttled it.
A. E. Hawking, owner of both animals, attempted to interfere while the fight was at its height and was attacked by both combatants and driven indoors.
The fight began when the bulldog snapped at the bull's heels. The bull turned and charged the dog, which, instead of retreating, sprang at its big adversary and fastened its teeth in the bull's throat. The bull shook the dog off and attempted to trample it, but the smaller fighter, his blood thoroughly up, sprang again for the throat and secured a grip which was not broken until skin and muscle came away in the dog's jaws.

He declares that the girl was merely a servant in the house and denies that he ever asked her to marry him.
