

Formal Opening ...OF... Vogue Millinery

The first genuine sunshine of Spring has awakened the flowers afield, and verily they seem to have overflowed into the millinery shops. And who can resist their witchery?

One is ever glad of the flower season, and welcomes the cheeriness of their lifelike charm, with truly human hearts.

We are showing—yes, and selling, too—every day that the sun shines, countless numbers of the graceful Spring shapes with their burden of garden glories.

A PARTICULARLY NEW HAT of compelling charm is the CHANTICLEER. It is obvious that this Hat of rare conception takes its name from the colorful barn-yard bird that perches jauntily upon the flaring upturned brim.

Our carefully selected line of Millinery is radiant with Spring newness, and colors and shapes in effect indescribable. Won't you come and see them?

Here are to be seen the newest things first—and the newest of the new. The most exquisite care is used in making our patterns to suit the purchasers taste. They are entirely free from a shop look that ready-made patterns bear.

This is quickly determined upon minute examination. We invite your opinion.

ECHO TAKES SCALP OF HERMISTON TEAM

IRRIGATIONISTS LOSE BASE-BALL GAME BY 4 TO 2 SCORE

Contest Held in Hermiston—Echo Juveniles Lose to Older Opponents in Stanfield—Special Revival Services Being Held—Other Items.

(Special Correspondence.)
Echo, Mar. 20.—The baseball game today between Hermiston and Echo which was played at Hermiston, was interesting and well attended by baseball fans. The pleasant weather combined with the hope of success for the Echo team tempted a large number down from here. The score was 4 to 2 in favor of Echo.

The Echo boys did some splendid playing, especially T. W. Harris, pitcher; Chas. Hoskins, catcher; and Earl Morrison, s. s. Next Sunday the return game with Hermiston will be played at this place.

The baseball spirit seems to have permeated all classes, which was proven by the appearance of six or seven little boys ranging in age from 10 to 13 years, regaled with mitts, bats and ball at the depot on Saturday morning waiting for the train to carry them to Stanfield. In the evening one of the lads personally called on the reporter to give an ac-

WILLAMETTE GLEE CLUB IS BOOKED AT OREGON

To those who enjoy a good musical program seasoned with just enough spice to make it palatable, the coming of the Willamette University glee club at the opera house the evening of March 20 will be a pleasing surprise. As a musical organization, the W. U. glee club enjoys a distinction attained by few other schools of the northwest. The membership as it stands today is practically the same as that of last year, and under the efficient direction of Frederick S. Mendelhall, dean of the college of music, the club for its two years of practice has reached a point where it can interpret numbers with nice degree of shade and coloring. Just to sing notes is so simple and easy but to sing with feeling and understanding is music artistic.

But the club's repertoire, by no means consists entirely of music. It also has its laugh-producing stunts liberally interspersed throughout the program to add life and zest. Without these stunts no club can give a universally pleasing program, but with them it can insure a well rounded, well balanced evening's entertainment.

The club proper will appear in several numbers representing not only the latest popular music, but also the standard classics of the old masters. There will also appear in two numbers, the glee club male quartet, composed of Messrs. McIntire, Booth, Anderson and Oakes. This quartet enjoys a prestige probably shared by no other like organization of any school in the state. It is the popular quartet of its home city, having appeared before that public as many as five times in one week.

For its reader and dramatic interpreter the club presents Mr. Perry Reigelman of the college of oratory. Mr. Reigelman is "right there with the goods" and is capable of bringing his audiences his way.

But without doubt the biggest event of the evening is the musical comedy sketch entitled "The Rajah of India." The following account quoted from the Daily Oregon Statesman gives some idea of the tremendous hit which marked its reception when first produced at home.

"... But the treat, par excellence of the evening was the musical comedy sketch, which took the house by storm. It was certainly appreciated and brought laugh after laugh. The piece was as rich in fun and frolic as was advertised, even more so. There was not a dull moment in the entire twenty minutes. One cannot say too much for the comedians who took the parts in this splendid bit of farce. The makeups were good and, in the case of Ballah and Nockey, funny in themselves. Alfred Schramm caused a perfect storm of applause when he entered in his costume of Ballah, the sister of the Rajah, while Perry Reigelman, as Nockey, handed out some laugh provoking gags. W. M. Beatty, as the fierce and ungovernable Rajah of India, made quite a favorable impression. Mr. Pfeiff, as Hadad, the adventurer, and Mr. Wann, the Mexican nobleman, did excellent work. The parts were almost too even to distinguish any particular star, but every one in the sketch did such creditable work that the piece as a whole was a roaring success."

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold" he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weigh 175 pounds." For coughs, colds, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough and lung trouble, it is supreme. 50c. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Tallman & Co.
