NEAR BEER SELLERS WILL FIGHT LAW

TWO MORE PAY $50 A PIECE TO THE COUNTY

Others Object to Fines and Through Attorneys Will Put up Fight--Will Attempt to Prove Local Option Law Null and Void.

Though another $100 was collected this morning from indicted sellers of near beer, it nevertheless became apparent that about 20 of the accused men have no intention of pleading guilty and will make a fight against paying even a $50 fine. Indeed it is reported that Attorney J. H. Raley and J. P. Winter will not only make a fight for the men they represent but will make an attempt to show that the local option law in so far as it applies to Umatilla county should be held to be null and void. The grounds upon which they will attack the law have not yet been announced.

Messrs. Nordean and Duncan, both of Weston, were the two men who were fined. They each pleaded guilty to the charge contained in the indictment, that of violation of the local option law and like the others who plead guilty were each fined $50. Four of the 34 indicted have not pleaded. The indictments against the clients represented by Winter & Raley were demurred to on the alleged grounds that the facts alleged were not sufficient to constitute a crime and for the further reason that the accusing clause is defective. These are only technical points, however, and were simply brought up to secure the delay necessary to perfect the plans of the attorneys for the attack upon the law.

MANY HERE FOR BIG S. S. MEET

SESSION OPENED THIS FORENOON; 75 PRESENT

Rev. C. A. Phipps Is "Star" Speaker—Delegates Present from All Sections of Umatilla County—Program for This Evening.

With over 75 delegates now in attendance and others to arrive this evening the fifteenth annual convention of the Umatilla County Sunday School association is on at the Methodist church today. The meetings are proving interesting and they are attended by many local people who are not regular delegates.

The sessions are being presided over by N. A. Davis of Milton, president of the association. The forenoon session started at 10 o'clock today with a devotional service led by Rev. Nathan Evans of Pendleton. The principal address of the morning was by Rev. C. A. Phipps, state organizer for Oregon. He spoke this morning upon the subject, "What Benefit Can We Derive from this Convention?" Mr. Phipps is the "star" speaker of the convention. He was also upon the program this afternoon and he will speak again tonight.

Rev. J. V. Milligan of Portland, and the synodical Sunday school missionary for the Presbyterian church, is another prominent speaker at the convention. All the local pastors are also in attendance and besides them the following ministers from other points in Umatilla county: Rev. Levi Johnson, Milton; Rev. E. W. Warrington, Pilot Rock; Rev. C. H. Hilton, Milton; Rev. R. G. Callison and Rev. A. McKenzie Meldrum of Athena.

Rev. J. M. Cornelson, missionary upon the Umatilla reservation, is an attendant at the convention and he has with him the following delegation: Albert Minthorn, superintendent of the Tutulla school; August Alexander, secretary of that school; Lizzie Minthorn, Mary Minthorn and Minnie Minthorn. A feature of the program this afternoon was a selection, "Showers of Blessing" which was given in Nez Perce by a quintet of little Indian pupils from the class of Mrs. Cornelson.

Today the regular program of the convention has been followed in every detail and the program will also be followed this evening. The praise service will be led by Rev. W. H. Bleakney, and the addresses will be by Rev. Meldrum and Rev. Phipps. Music will be furnished by the quartet consisting of Messrs. Landers, Welles, Owen and Akers.

Forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions will be held tomorrow, the adjournment being taken following the evening session.

BEVERIDGE ON THE TARIFF.

a tariff commission which I wrote into the bill that passed the senate; but all save one of the democratic senators were the enemies of any tariff commission then, and are its enemies now.

"There are examples. I was against them then—I am against them now. Compromise on purely economic details is often wise; but compromise with sheer injustice is always wrong. "The making of a tariff, so long as moderation and justice are followed, is an economic question, but the moment excess and injustice are practiced the making of a tariff becomes also a moral question.

"The fight last year was a national fight, and who bore the battle? I want the people of Indiana to know that all the real fighting that was done for justice in tariff schedules was done by the republicans and not by the democrats. The democrats voted against the bill. I voted against excess and for protection. I voted against the interests and for the people. I voted and fought for the genuine republicanism of Lincoln, the founder of our faith; the moral, the father of our tariff; of Garfield, the interpreter of our principles; of McKinley, the apostle of protection; of Roosevelt, the soldier of righteousness.

"Assuming that honest differences of opinion exist—and they do; giving to them upright men who voted for the law as a whole, with credit for the sincerity that I claim for myself, what is the way out of the difficulty? Surely not to turn the government over to that grotesque band of politicians in public life and who want to get into public life, misnamed the democratic party.

"Where, then, lies the plain remedy? In a tariff commission."

Tariff Bill a Mockery. Senator Beveridge, speaking of what he designated "the so-called tariff bill," said:

"When I introduced the tariff commission bill three years ago I said it had no friends in congress. Today a large majority of republicans are for it and even one democrat has seen the result. But at the beginning of the last session it had only a few friends in congress. Therefore I felt that it was impossible to get a full fledged tariff commission enacted into law; and so I acted on the theory of getting the best I could. Mine was a fatal faith. For what was the result? I drew the provision authorizing the president to appoint persons with full power to make tariff investigations under his direction. Senator Aldrich would not agree to all of it. He struck out or changed vital language. Yet what remained of my provision gave to these persons broad powers to gather necessary facts to aid congress in tariff legislation. In this form it passed the senate.

"But the conference commission struck out absolutely every word giving these persons any powers to investigate and collect the facts, leaving to the president nothing but the authority to employ persons to assist them in the administration of maximum and minimum sections of the law.

"We asked for a reality of the law, they gave us a mockery. We asked for power, they gave us palsy. We asked for bread; they gave us a stone. Such a makeshift will not answer the needs of American businessmen, producers and consumers."

PREPARE FOR PROTECTION OF CANAL WHEN COMPLETED

Washington, April 5.—Coincident with the work on the Panama Canal, the war department is rapidly working to completion plans for its defense in time for the opening of the big ditch in 1915. An ordinance is being made and huge emplacements are being constructed for adequate protection of the canal. The amount of work entailed make it doubtful whether all of the great guns will be in place when the ditch is opened to commerce. The cost of the fortification and their care will fall upon the Panama canal itself.

The normal school question is fairly before the voters by the initiative bill for Monmouth framed by her alumni. This separates it wholly from politics, and gives the voters a fair chance to express their choice. Schools are a necessity—we must educate the boys and girls—and we must have teachers, the normal school is the place to train and prepare these. Vote "Yes" for Monmouth. J. E. V. BUTLER, Sec.
