NEWSY NOTES OF ECHO

SUNDAY RAINS SPOIL ANGLER'S DAY OF SPORT

Sheepshearers Move to Another Camp—Twenty Carloads of Sheep Shipped to Chicago—Much Doing in Social Lines at Echo—Personal Notes.

(Special Correspondence.)
Echo, Ore., April 10.—Sunshine interspersed with showers is the program here, much to the joy of the farmers and incidentally to every one. Local anglers were somewhat chagrined this morning to find the waters of the Umatilla swollen and muddy at this point, presumably caused by heavy rains in the mountains. Isaac Walton's disciples try to make Sunday a profitable day during the fishing season.
The sheepshearers who have been here the past week, twenty-two in all, left here on Friday for the "White House," a land mark four miles west of here, where Jake Watenburger has his shearing plant established. This is Mr. Watenburger's third year here with his plant. Thousands of sheep go through the pens each year. Mr. Jos. Cunha's sheep are the first to be sheared this year.
Jas. A. McCarty received a shipment of stock cattle Friday from Shaniko. There were two carloads, all Herford.
Last week there were twenty carloads of sheep billed from this place to Chicago. They were bought by Mr. Oxman of Durkee from the Donahue Bros., and M. S. Corrigan. Mr. Oxman will unload the sheep at Huntington for grazing through the summer, and they will not reach their final destination until some time this fall when they will be reloaded at Huntington and taken to the stockyards at Chicago.
Echo is very much alive, socially, both individually and collectively. The members of the Echo Girls' Athletic association play tennis, take long walks and rides. The ladies of Needlecraft hold their weekly meetings each week and entertain their husbands at pleasant evening socials. The last one of those was given on Thursday evening at the Masonic hall. The majority of those present were dressed as children, ladies in short skirts and gentlemen in knickerbockers. They played margles and other childish games. The hall was tastefully decorated, white and orange being the prevailing color. An excellent repast was served and everyone went home feeling quite youthful.

Everywhere boys of all sizes are playing ball. Our baseball team went to Umatilla today and played with the nine there with the result of a score tallying 8 to 0 in favor of Echo. The business men attend council, firemen's meeting and business men's association.
The Sunday schools are busy. The latest with them was a social on Friday night at the Watenburger residence for the old members and a party at the Smith residence on Saturday afternoon for the little ones.
The motor car which made its initiatory trip through here on Saturday occupied by a goodly number of Pendleton business men was met at the depot by a goodly number of Echo's people.
Mrs. Jack Young is in Walla Walla visiting with relatives.
O. D. Teel made a business trip to Hermiston Saturday.
Mr. Jay Pulmuider and family spent yesterday in Hermiston, returning in the evening by automobile.
Mrs. Win. Kullford returned this evening to her home at Pendleton after a few days' visit with Mrs. Jerome Gullford.
Ed Hammer of Ione is here.
Miss Lottie Boreland spent Saturday and today visiting here with her father.

HOW PRESIDENT GRANT MADE BOY AN OFFICER

Washington.—How General Grant made a plucky boy a second lieutenant in the army was told to the house by Representative Keifer (Rep., O.) during the discussion of the military retirement proposition hatched to the army bill by the senate.
The boy, now Col. John L. Clem, senior Colonel in the Quartermaster's Department, fought at the battle of Chickamauga when he was 12 years old, and served throughout the war. At the close of the conflict, he wrote to General Grant and asked for an appointment to West Point. The great commander gave it to him, but he failed miserably when he was examined. He was short in stature, was deficient in mathematics, and "fell down" in practically every branch of knowledge. On the way back home the disconsolate youngster stopped at Washington to thank the president and tell him of his ill-luck.
"I'm glad you failed," remarked President Grant, sternly. "Now you take this to the Secretary of War."
As he spoke, Grant handed the young Clem an envelope containing a card upon which he had scribbled a few words. This card was an order to the Secretary to give Clem a second lieutenant's commission.
