WOMAN CUT TO PIECES WITH SICKLE BY FIEND

Paris.—A farmhouse murder, perpetrated with shocking savagery, is reported from a small village 20 miles from Dunkirk, where a farmer's wife was cut to pieces with a sickle.

The farmer went to church with his son, leaving his wife alone in the farmhouse. At 11:30 o'clock the son returned alone and found the door shut. He entered at the back and was horrified to see his mother dead on the floor of one of the rooms. She had been cut to pieces with a sickle.
A farm laborer had been seen crossing the fields in a great hurry soon after the crime, and the gendarmes arrested him immediately. He had been employed on the farm of the murdered woman some time ago, and the suspicions against him seem to have been confirmed by the fact that the footprints left in the farmyard corresponded to his wooden shoes.
Robbery was evidently the object of the crime, as important sums of money were taken out of lockers which had been broken open, but a considerable sum in gold coins kept in a wardrobe, escaped notice.

"Better Goods for Less Money"

Rustchuk shop several days ago, when she lifted her veil and Jordan Stefanoff, a bank clerk, fell in love with her.

Stefanoff managed to secure an interview with Saadet and she agreed to elope with her lover.

Mohamed Hanum was enraged at his daughter's flight, and appealed to the Turkish representatives at Rustchuk on the ground that Saadet was not of age. The Bulgarian government ordered the arrest of Saadet and lodged her in the local jail.

This indignity enraged the Turkish populace no less than Stefanoff and his friends, and a mob attempted to storm the prison on two occasions. Detachments of police opposed them and during the street fighting which followed 21 persons were killed and many others wounded. Saadet was rescued and taken to her lover's home.

A regiment of Bulgarian infantry was sent to regain possession of Saadet. An infuriated mob rallied around Stefanoff's house and repulsed the troops. The entire garrison of Rustchuk was called out and serious fighting took place.

Saadet is said to have been smuggled out of her lover's residence and sent abroad.

Twenty thousand mourners marched behind the coffins of the victims of the street rioting when their funeral took place last week.

It is believed that Saadet's marriage with Stefanoff will take place in the near future.

AEROPLANE FAILS AT THE CRITICAL MOMENT

Conneville, Pa.—Asa Wilson of this city, a student at the West Virginia university at Morgantown, is in the hospital there with two broken legs as the result of an attempted escape from the roof of a burning building in an aeroplane.

Wilson had been experimenting in aeronautics and kept a monoplane of his own make on the flat roof of the building in which he roomed. He claimed to have made several successful flights in private.

At 2 o'clock in the morning fire was discovered in the building. Wilson slept on an upper floor and could not be aroused until the fire gained much headway. Then, clad in his pajamas, he hurried to the roof and hauled out the monoplane. Dragging it to the edge of the roof he climbed into the seat and with a wave of his arm and a warning to those below, flopped off. Wilson and his machine crashed down among a half dozen volunteer firemen, knocking them right and left.

When they dug him out of the wreckage he was unconscious, and both legs were fractured. In the hospital Wilson said his monoplane was a success, but he was forced to start too quickly and his motor was not properly adjusted.

RECENT DISCOVERIES PROLONG HUMAN LIFE

Paris.—Has the elixir of life at last been found? Yes, replied Dr. Doyen, at a lecture which he delivered the other day. It is not the secret of perpetual youth, it is, at least, according to him, a lengthy prolongation of life which will be secured by the new method which he proposes to apply.

Colloids Do the Work.
The first step was to find a cure for all maladies. This, he says, consists in the blood and the increasing of the resistances of the human organism.

The secret is disclosed by the discovery of colloids, gelatinous substances that produce and revivify the protective globules. By a proper absorption of these colloids, the human system will be spared all the usual maladies of the respiratory organs, the digestive tubes and the blood and skin.

The result will be a considerable prolongation of life, and if we add to this the important pressure in the arteries, the hopes of the ancient alchemists in the universal abolition of disease will almost be realized.

MEN RACE FOR HOMESTEAD.

Mounted Agents Riding 100 Miles for $4000 Land Prize.

Spokane, Wash.—A race from Oroville to Waterville, Wash. for a land location prize worth about $4000, between agents mounted on horses, started April 5.

Frank Giffen, riding for Phillip Lenz and "Shorty" Potter, riding for W. B. Saxon, are spurring their steeds toward the government land office at Waterville, 100 miles away, Potter having several hours the start, with a promise of $25 a day if he wins.

When the filing is made it will be in the nature of a contest, as the tract already is occupied by James Sawdon, against whose filing there will be lodged charges of irregularities.

Make the most of your opportunities. They are too precious to be wasted.
