for striking a superior officer. His sentence was commuted to 10 years' imprisonment and 20 years' banishment. Amnestied four years later, he went to live in Lyons, where he obtained a good post, married and brought up a family.

One day, however, he was arrested for having ignored that part of his sentence relating to his banishment. He was sent back to prison. His wife and children left him.

After serving his new sentence he came to Paris, where he was again arrested and sent to prison for several months. The governor of the prison, noticing the man's ability, made him a clerk in the jail.

Every July he is discharged with the 200 francs he has earned in prison and every November, when the weather becomes cold, he gives himself up and returns to his post as prison clerk.

HERE IS A DESCRIPTION OF THE "CHANTECLERETTE"

Paris.—You can't get ahead of the Paris Academy of Choreography. It gets up a new dance every day or so. The last sensation, but one, was the aeroplane dance. The latest is the Chanteclerette." Here are the directions:

- 1.—A cock and hen walk slowly around the room, slightly nodding. At intervals short and quick steps should be introduced, with the beating of wings (the arms). The idea of the step is a solemn promenade.
  - 2.—Rooster struts around hen, with short, quick steps, beating his wings. This is an imitation of a rooster waking a hen at sunrise.
  - 3.—Rooster and hen dance together with short steps, feet scraping the floor. This is an imitation of the hen, who, upon waking copies the walk of the rooster.
  - 4.—Hen scrapes the floor with claws. Rooster runs after her. She scrapes, he pursues and—
  - 5.—Final pursuit and capture, with very long steps and much beating of wings.
- N. B.—In this dance the arms should be held behind the back imitating the fowl's tail or akimbo, the hands being against the chest, to copy the beating of the wings.
- It is said that the "Chanteclerette" is already the rage at private dances all over the country.

PRETTY PRINCESS IS A PRIZE OF BATTLE

Berlin.—Major Enver Bey, one of the most notable leaders of the young Turk revolution, which overthrew Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey and now the military attache of the Turkish embassy here, will become a husband under most peculiar circumstances. His bride is to be an imperial princess, a niece of the present sultan, Mohammed V., and of his deposed brother.

The princess has been bestowed upon Enver Bey in accordance with the ancient Turkish royal custom, as a reward for his services and the gallant part he played in the overthrow of the old regime in Constantinople. Enver Bey has never seen his princess sweetheart, who is only 15 years old.

Enver Bey, of course, gratefully accepted this signal mark of his sovereign's favor, but requested that the marriage be postponed for two years. In the meantime he desires to widen the scope of his international knowledge by residence in France and England.

The princess, who has never set foot outside of Constantinople, will employ the time she is waiting for her marriage in perfecting herself in the English and French languages and the other accomplishments necessary to fit her to be the wife of a Turkish soldier with the most brilliant prospects.

Enver Bey is now only 26 years old.

JEANNE RUSSEL WILL STAR IN "COUSIN KATE"

The most interesting of all the comedies to be seen on the road this season, is probably Hubert Henry Davies' "Cousin Kate," the play in which Jeanne Russell is starring, and which will be seen at the Oregon theatre, starting Sunday, May 1.

In "Cousin Kate," Miss Russell has chosen a play worthy of her metal. It has been a success on the road for several seasons, and had tremendous runs in London and New York. As a piece of dramatic writing it is faultless in construction, in unity in arrangement, in sequence of events, in action, contrast of character and in its finale. The admixture of healthy up-to-date fun with the serious veins are in the exact proportions pleasing to theatre goers who seek amusement of the more serious sort. It is one of the few English society comedies that has been able to please the American playgoers, but "Cousin Kate" pleases them in a way that is enthusiastic and lasting, and bids fair to remain until Halley's comet comes next time.

Teddy Busy With Mail.

Paris, April 25.—The press of correspondence prevented Col. Roosevelt from visiting the Moudon Military aerostatic park today. Instead he went to Luxembourg and viewed the paintings. Later Roosevelt and Ambassador Jusserand had lunch with Premier Briand.

SEATTLE CO-EDS "CUT OUT"

High School Girls Preferred by University Lovelorn Swains.

Seattle, Wash.—Icy, stony stares will hereafter be the greetings of pretty Seattle high school girls who attend dances at the University of Washington. These frigid glances will come from the fair co-eds who have declared war upon the school girls.

"It's a shame," one fair co-ed of the Tolo club is reported to have exclaimed. "Here we are, the cream of the varsity, and to think that these little high schools have the audacity to attend our dances and monopolize everything that looks like a man. Isn't it awful?"

"We have decided to cut and snub any high school girl who attends any 'varsity' function in the future," was the declaration.

"We're going to freeze them out. They are nice young things and all that, but they have no right to come out here and have a crowd hovering about them to our mortification. We shall ignore them entirely in the future."

BUILD FINE DEPOT FOR OAKLAND PEOPLE

Oakland, Ore.—The old warehouses north of the station which for years have been an eyesore and menace to the safety of other buildings, are being torn down in order to make room for the new Southern Pacific station which will be erected soon. Hereafter all frame warehouses will be built on the west side of the railroad tracks as the property owners on Front street have petitioned the city council to include all land east of the railroad within the fire limits.

The new Odd Fellows' hall is rapidly nearing completion. Carpenters are busy finishing the interior and the decorators will commence work next week. The building will be ready for occupancy by May 1. This is one of the best buildings in the town, being a two-story brick and cement structure 38x120 feet. The second floor will be devoted to lodge halls and the ground floor will be fitted up for an opera house.

PERENNIAL PRISONER BACK EVERY WINTER

Paris.—It reads like a prison romance, the story of a singular case of M. Boniface, which appears in the L'Estre today. Though a prisoner, Boniface is to all intents and purposes a state functionary. He gives orders to the wardens as though he was the governor, and he takes a summer vacation, returning to the jail in the autumn.

Boniface obtained his unique position in this way. He began his criminal career at Oran, where in 1890 he was sentenced to death as a soldier

DOG CATCHER MEETS WITH GREAT SUCCESS

DOGS DISAPPEAR BEFORE HIS MAGIC INFLUENCE

Much Revenue Flows Into City Coffers as Result of Harry Hart's Efforts—22 Canines Sent to Dog Heaven—18 Owners of Concealed Dogs to Be Arrested Tomorrow.

Such is the record of the dog catching business in Pendleton up to today. Another item will be added tomorrow when 18 persons whose names have been secured by the dog catcher, Harry Hart, will be arrested and brought into court on a charge of keeping a dog in the city without paying a license. The fine for this offense is from $5 to $50 or from three to 25 days in jail.

The persons who are to be arrested are those who are keeping their dogs in houses, cellars or barns, so that the catcher has been unable to get them. Other names will probably be secured today so that by the time the chief of police is ready to serve the warrants, that there will be more than 20 arrests to be made.

According to Hart he is meeting with the same experiences here that he has met with in every city he has visited, with the possible exception that there are probably more dogs here that are to be sent to the country tomorrow than in any other place in which he has worked. As a rule the excuses which he hears are the same ones which are dinged into his ears by the hundreds wherever he has been.

ACCUSE CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE OF RAISING PRICES

CHICAGO, APRIL 25.—An investigation which has been kept secret for 2 weeks has been in progress here in regard to the inner workings and methods of the Chicago Board of Trade, which is blamed by many persons for the high cost of living.

A rumor that federal investigation was in progress got out among the traders but it was impossible to get confirmation. Finally traders were advised that Attorney General Wickersham had ordered an investigation and District Attorney Sims had charge of it. President White of the Board said he thought the reports must be a mistake, but the board would welcome publicity.

WOULD FIND WHETHER SUGAR TRUST DICTATES TO COMPANIES

San Francisco, Cal., April 25.—From witnesses who have been called before a special session of the federal grand jury here it is believed the investigation of the sugar refining companies being conducted under the direction of special prosecutor Knapp, has taken a wider scope than at first believed. When the jury meets again late today it is understood that among the witnesses will be a number of officers of the big concerns and it is now believed the probe is intended to discover whether the sugar refineries here have any legal connection with the trust. It is believed the government will inquire particularly whether there is an understanding by which shipments of western sugar are never sent east of the Mississippi unless the trust gives its permission.

Body Is Identified.

Naples, April 25.—The American consulate yesterday established the identity of Miss Estella Reid, whose body was found on the beach near here Saturday. She was a native of New York City, according to the statement of the consulate and a sister of Mrs. Bertha Reid Wells of that city. A post mortem examination showed death was due to drowning.
