SEEKS PRISON CELL AGAIN.

Release After 35 Years Motors Make Him Tremble.

Berlin.—A man has been released from the Berlin prison after thirty-five years' penal servitude for manslaughter, committed during a burglary when he was twenty. The sentence was for life, but the prisoner's conduct was so good that the kaiser commuted it, and assistance will be given to enable the man to begin a new life. When shown the streets of his native city he trembled and had to be led like a child. Electric trains, automobiles and even bicycles were new to him. At first he implored to be taken back to his cell, so overpowering was the life of the great city which was a village when he left it.

TOLSTOI'S VIEWS ON SUICIDE ARE REVEALED

Berlin.—The Countess Sophie Tolstol is publishing in the Moscow papers various hitherto unprinted articles and letters of her husband, Count Leo Tolstol, on social subjects. Among them is an article strongly condemning suicide.

The countess says that the article is topical owing to the terrible epidemic of self-destruction raging among Russian school children. Count Tolstol holds that a discussion of "the right to commit suicide" is useless, but that the rational and moral aspects of the question are clear. I translate one passage, which shows very clearly Tolstol's philosophy of life:

Life is indestructible; it is outside time and space. Death, therefore, only changes its form and ends its manifestations in this world. Having ended it in this world, I cannot judge whether its manifestations in another world will be more agreeable; and, in the second place, I deprive myself of the possibility of learning and acquiring for myself all that may be acquired in this world.

"Suicide is further irrational because, if I end my life because it seems to me unpleasant, I thereby show that I have a perverted view of the significance of that life. The perversion is in the assumption that life is meant for my enjoyment, whereas its purposes are the attainment of personal perfection, and help in the process which is being worked out by the whole life of the world. Suicide, therefore, is immoral. Men are given their lives and the possibility of dying natural deaths only on condition that they serve the life of the whole world; whereas the suicide exploits life as long as it is agreeable, and refuses to serve the life of the world as soon as it becomes unpleasant, ignoring the likely fact that his service began only at that moment when his life became burdensome. Every work is in fact unpleasant."

In Optina Monastery there lay on the floor for thirty years a paralytic monk who retained the use only of his right arm. Doctors said that he suffered intensely; but not only did he not complain, but crossed himself, looked at the ikon, smiled, thanked heaven, and expressed his joy at the spark of life which glowed within him. . . . Probably this monk did more good than thousands of healthy men who work in various institutions, imagining that they serve the world.

STUYVESANT FISH JR. WILL MARRY MISS DICK

New York.—Formal announcement has been made here of the engagement of Stuyvesant Fish to Miss Mildred Dick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evans R. Dick of Philadelphia and New York.

Mr. Fish, who is following in his father's footsteps as a railroad man, was graduated from Yale in 1906 and began immediately the study of his chosen calling, "from the ground up." Much amusement was aroused at the time from the fact that he went into the shops of his father's worst competitor, E. H. Harriman. Stuyvesant Jr. went into the traffic department of the Illinois Central and from there transferred to the Rock Island.

Two years ago, having finished his course in railroading, he decided to study banking and entered the offices of Aloman & Co. Last May he bought a seat for himself on the New York Stock Exchange, where he still remains.

ONE-FUNNELED SHIP PROVES TO BE A "HOODOO"

Boston.—When the terrified emigrants aboard the liner Cairnrona were told that they could continue their voyage to Portland Me., on the same ship after the damage by fire was repaired, they refused, one and all. They regarded the ship as a "hoodoo," for the reason that she had only one funnel. Their superstition it seems is widely held by the people of the Near East.

Apres of this, it is related that the peoples of the Persian Gulf believed in the might of England until a German warship came along with three funnels to the British one. Then they believed in Germany.

But England retained her prestige by sending the four-funneled cruisers Powerful and Terrible to those waters. Since then Britain has been the paramount power in the gulf, both in her own and in the natives' estimation.

FOR DEEPER WATERWAY.

White Star Atlantic Plan to Cost Southampton $500,000.

The cost of such deepening has been estimated at close to $500,000. The board has not shown a readiness

The automobile which made and holds the transcontinental record

Franklin Model H

Four years ago this six-cylinder Franklin set the ocean-to-ocean record, and its time has never been equaled or approached. In fifteen days, two hours and twelve minutes it covered the distance from San Francisco to New York.

That achievement stands, and has stood, a constant challenge to all.

That was the year in which Model H first appeared. Other manufacturers were building four-cylinder engines, and they scoffed at the idea of a six. Eventually they followed with their sixes, but Model H has remained supreme.

Model H vindicates the six-cylinder theory of construction. In comparison with the fours it shows added power thirty per cent greater than its added weight. This is an achievement which no other manufacturer has been able to duplicate.

Light and smooth running, Model H makes faster touring time on American roads than does any other motor car. It is easy on all its mechanical parts and on its tires. Thus it combines touring comfort with long life of the motor car, the highest aim in automobile construction. With its high power it has steady torque. Its flexibility is unsurpassed. With large tires, large wheels, full-elliptic springs and a wood chassis frame it eliminates vibration. Above all, you can in comfort go farther in a day's run in a Franklin H than in any other six known.

LIANE DE BOUGEY'S HAT WINS TITLE FOR HER

Paris.—The engagement of Liane de Pougey and Prince George Ghika allies the Parisian stage beauty with numerous noble families of Roumania, France and England, as well as with wealthy Singer family of the United States. Prince George belongs to the well-known Roumanian family of Ghika, one member of which is Minister Plenipotentiary for his country to France, and another is claimant to the throne of Albania. This is Prince Albert Constantine Ghika, who married Miss Dowling of Kildare, Ireland. Prince Albert is now heading a revolutionary movement against the Turks in Albania.

Yet another member of this widespread family into which the actress is about to marry is Prince Jean Ghika, whose wife is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Singer of New York and Paris. As the former Winnetta Singer is Princess de Polignac, the famous Liane de Pougey will find herself connected with half the nobility of France.

Liane's betrothal followed Prince George's heroic fight with the townspeople of St. Germain, who jeered at the mature beauty's tiny fanciful hat.

Mme. de Pougey, who is the divorced wife of a French naval officer, has been for twenty years one of the most conspicuous figures in Parisian life. She has written plays and sensational novels and lived them.

A few years ago she was so hard up that her very bed was auctioned off for three francs; now she has a handsome town house in the Rue de Neva and a villa at Mentone.

A few years ago she had an encounter at Carlsbad with Mrs. Ogden Goelet, which ended in Liane indignantly leaving her hotel. Then the beauty vouchsafed the explanation: "The New York woman was jealous of my jewels."

WAGER-TRAMPS' IN BERLIN.

Two Americans on Last Lap of Trip Which Means $4000.

Berlin.—The "Berliner Tageblatt" has just come across Bert Aubrey of Montreal and Will Edwards of Chicago, who left Chicago fourteen months ago for a walk through Europe. They took on their journey neither purse nor scrip, and are making their way by selling postcards.

They have tramped through Paris and Brussels, following the Rhine valley, crossed the Alps into Italy, and have reached Berlin on their return journey. They will finish their tramp at Antwerp, where they must arrive by June 5th to gain a wager of $4,000.
